We can make our lives sublime;
And departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time."

Still achieving, still pursuing
Learn to labor and to wait."

OBITUARY

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."—
Rev. 13-14.

Our hearts are deeply saddened by the passing of little Herbert Sanders MacDonald, who went to be with Jesus at 4:30 a.m. on Saturday, May 5, after a few days illness of croup. He was able to be around at times, bright and happy, and enjoyed playing with the other children even on the last day of his little life, but he grew gradually worse during the night until his little heart failed from the strain.

We do deeply sympathize with the bereaved ones in this, their second sad loss during the year, but Jesus is wonderfully comforting their aching hearts and sustaining them and we praise Him "who healeth the broken in heart and bindeth up their wounds."

The funeral service was conducted in Zulu and was held Saturday evening at 6 o'clock in the presence of a large company of loving, sympathetic Zulu friends and a number of European neighbors who came to express their kind sympathy at this sad time.

Mr. MacDonald sent the car to Altona for the Sterritt sisters who arrived at 5:30 p.m., in time for the service.

The dear little form was beautiful to look upon in death and we know the little life is free forever from mortal pain and suffering but we miss him greatly from the little circle.

Johane Kunene read the scripture lesson from John 15:1-5, and spoke beautifully. Others also took part and the Dutch neighbors also contributed in song and a message of sympathy which was interpreted by George Sanders, who also spoke effectively. The words of the bereaved parents touched every heart, especially as the mother told of God's sustaining grace and the presence of the Saviour in these sad days. The presence of the Lord was sweetly felt as the little body was laid to rest beside the baby sister in the grove near the church during the singing of hymns and the prayers and loving sympathy of all present.

Herbert was a sweet, winsome little child of nearly four years and the favourite child among the natives, for his radiant smile and happy conversation were pleasing to all. He often preached in his baby way to the heathen as they came and went to the mission station and today they say, "Oh! this child of the 'umfundisi' was already a preacher."

May his brief life among them be the means of touching many hearts and lead them to the Saviour, we pray.

We know you will lovingly remember the sorrowing hearts in this distant land in your prayers.

The Moncton Times Printing Co., where The King's Highway is printed, has recently sustained a great loss in the death of its editor-in-chief, Mr. J. Sutton Boyd. Mr. Boyd had held that responsible position on The Times, one of New Brunswick's greatest news journals, for about 50 years and had been associated with the paper more than 60 years. In the short time that we have been working on The Highway we became quite well acquainted with Mr. Boyd, being quite often in his office and talking quite freely with him, especially on the subject of religion, and we found him to be an open-hearted, and very kindly dispositioned man. And when we tried to press home to his heart the need of a personal knowledge of Christ, we found him very tender in spirit, and as we left his office he thanked us kindly for our interest in his spiritual welfare. He will be much missed by the office staff and a great many other friends. Those who knew him best said he was the soul of kindness.—Editor.
