

MINISTERS AND CHURCHES

He that goeth forth and weepeth bearing precious seed shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him.—Psa. 126-6.

Rev. H. M. Kimball, of Black's Harbour, N. B., writes: :

We are having revival meetings with Brother DeLong as evangelist. The special meetings began last Sunday, but the revival began New Year's Day with 8 at the altar. Had a great day Sunday and again last night. It looks as if God is giving us a real revival Praise the Lord.

The editor of the King's Highway was very kindly remembered by the Church at Moncton at Christmas by a present of a gift of money and a very nicely worded address, and also other gifts from individuals which we appreciate very much. A letter from the Sterritt Sisters recently says that they are greatly enjoying the work of the Lord at Grey's Mills which they find encouraging, and are praising the Lord for His goodness. See their letter in this issue.

Rev. E. R. and Mrs. Watson, of Meductic, N. B., wish to thank their friends who remembered them with nice cards at Christmas.

A letter from Rev. B. C. Cochrane, of Seal Cove, N. B., says: We expect to have special meetings in both our churches here soon.

Rev. H. E. Mullen, of Fort Fairfield, is assisting Rev. G. A. Symonds in special meetings at Woods Harbor.

Rev. W. E. Smith, of Somerville, Mass., is assisting Rev. H. S. Mullen in meetings at Saint John.

SAFETY IN KEEPING GOD'S LAW

Wherever God's Law is supreme, life and property are safe. Wherever the Bible is despised or discarded, neither life nor property are secure.

When infidel friends were discussing their theories around the dining table one day, Voltaire, the noted French infidel, said,—

"Hush, gentlemen, till the servants are all gone. If they believed as we do, none of our lives would be safe."—Selected.

PERSONALS

Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Mullen had the pleasure of calling on Mrs. J. H. Coy at her daughter's home in Lindsay, on Saturday, Jan. 7th. She has been in poorer health than usual for the last few weeks, but was sitting up and was able to join in prayer and to converse quite freely. She had recently passed her 84th birthday anniversary and had appreciated many cards from old friends.

Her faith is strong in the Lord, and her spirit tender and sympathetic as usual.

Mrs. C. B. Houghton, of Newport, Maine, writes that she has taken the Highway ever since its first publication, and looks forward to its coming as eagerly as ever, and would not like to be without its helpful messages. She is thanking our Heavenly Father for His sustaining grace in the midst of trials and infirmities of age.

Sister Jennie Grant, of Greenbush, N. B., is another of our subscribers who finds great help in reading the King's Highway which she has taken for many years. She writes that she is finding Jesus very precious to her in these days when her natural strength is failing because of infirmities of age.

Sister Flora Dickinson, of Meductic, N. B., is around again after being confined to her bed for several months. She is giving the Lord the credit for raising her up in answer to prayer. Brother W. C. Wright, of Southampton, who has been confined to his home through illness for some time recently, is better and able to be around again.

Another good sister who writes appreciatively of the Highway is Mrs. Emma Downey, of Newburg, N. B., who is spending the winter with her niece, Mrs. G. Deware, at Waterville, N. B. She asks us to pray that the dear Lord will still give her her sight so that she may be able to read her Bible and the King's Highway. She has recently lost her sister, Mrs. Hovey, of Hartland, and feels quite lonely. Let us remember her in prayer. We also had a nice letter from Miss Martha Thurston, of Sandford, N. S. She is spending the winter in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, with her brother's family while her brother, Mr. A. H. Thurston, is away for a year in work at the University of Wisconsin. Sister Thurston is one of those generous souls who not only keeps her own subscription paid in advance but also pays to send the King's Highway to a friend. She writes that she enjoys the Highway very much.

Zenas Grass, of Moncton, son of Mrs. Cora Grass, has gone to Chicago to take a course in engineering.

Beulah Nixon writes that Jesus is very precious to her, and that she is trusting all in His hands and finds He is able to keep her from falling.

MARRIED

Green-Zwicker

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Seal Cove R. B. parsonage, Dec. 14th, when Blair Green, of Grand Harbour, and Dorothy Zwicker, of Seal Cove, were united in marriage by Rev. Bennett Cochrane. The bridal couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph MacDowell. Mr. and Mrs. Green will reside at Grand Harbour, where the groom is engaged in the fishing business.

We extend our sincere wishes for happiness and prosperity.

CORRESPONDENCE

Beals, Maine

Dear Friends of the Highway:

A few words of acknowledgment to God our Heavenly Father, and the many friends He has given us.

First we want to express our deep gratitude to Him for the many blessings of the past year, more especially for His gracious touch of healing on a sick body. After weeks of suffering we feel quite restored. Praise His Name.

Then we want to thank those who remembered us so kindly during the Christmas season. We received many expressions of kind remembrance from friends far and near, so many that we take this way of expressing thanks.

The Church here presented us with a generous purse of money. The young men of my class also gave me a very nice gift, and some friends of the town who have no connections with the Church, gave us personal gifts.

We feel that God has blessed our labors here and pray that no matter what the year may have in store for us that it may be filled with opportunities for blessed usefulness in His service.

Yours in Him,

F. A. AND MRS. WATSON

OBITUARY

Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord.—Revelation 14-13.

Mrs. Almira Wallace

The death of Mrs. Almira Wallace, widow of the late Enoch Wallace, took place at the home of her son, Hall Wallace, at Lower Hainesville.

The funeral service was held at the home, and interment was made in the Central Hainesville cemetery.

May the Lord comfort those bereaved.

THE BOND OF DUTY

Duty is an old-fashioned word. In successive generations it held mankind to a definite line of conduct and was thought to be good in general for the race.

Duty has held families together when inclination would have broken them. Duty has made heroes in the successive ages of the world. Duty is a product of all relationships of life.

As in every other act of the will, a free choice is given to each individual. He may voluntarily do his duty, or he may voluntarily slink away from it. Once having made the choice, however, only the cowardly soul retreats before the demands of duty.

The great Christian object lesson of duty is found in the choice of the Son of God, who came to earth voluntarily to die for the sins of mankind. His career and His public utterances show He had full knowledge of His duty. Even the last night in the Garden of Gethsemane with its "Thy will be done" is ample proof of this great fact.

Duty and love are the bonds which hold the Christian Church together—love to Christ, and duty to lift up Christ, that thereby all men may be saved.—Selected.

He most lives who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best; and he whose heart beats the quickest lives the longest.—James Martineau.
