

MINISTERS AND CHURCHES

He that goeth forth and weepeth bearing precious seed shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him.—Psa. 126-6.

Four of our ordained preachers attended the Holiness Young People's Convention at Ottawa, and Lic. Bertram Hicks, who is attending Lorn Park College, was present also. Rev. A. D. Cann, of Westchester, N. S., was called home before the convention was over, because of the sudden death of his aunt, Miss Grace Cann. Rev. H. S. Dow preached to a very appreciative congregation in the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Ottawa on Sunday morning. Rev. B. C. Cochrane preached at the same church in the evening; and Rev. G. A. Rogers preached at the Holiness Movement Church in the evening.

The convention meetings were very helpful indeed. The special speaker, Rev. John A. Huffman, was an excellent preacher. His messages all rang true to holiness. He was evangelistic, made appeals in all the services for immediate decisions, and at nearly all the services there were seekers at the altar for holiness, or to be reclaimed, etc. A fuller report of this meeting will be given on the Young People's page.

Rev. B. C. Cochrane had a good day at the Moncton church last Sunday, Sept. 7th. In spite of the ban on young people attending church in Moncton, a good congregation was present and several seekers were at the altar Sunday night, and found help. Rev. Dow preached at Amherst both morning and evening last Sunday. We had a very good attendance at both services and also at the Sunday school. Sister Sanders and Miriam are supplying the church there with pastoral care until they can procure a permanent pastor. Judson Sanders is still visiting on Grand Manan.

A letter from Miss Helen Sterritt says that her sister, Alice has been very ill and is still confined to her bed, although she is improving quite rapidly and expects to be out again soon.

The Westchester Church and pastor expect to continue in special evangelistic meetings following the quarterly meeting Sunday, Sept. 14th. Rev. H. S. Dow will assist them.

NOTICE

We would again call the attention of our subscribers to our financial needs. The renewals are coming very slowly, and we have no other source of income to draw on to meet our financial obligations. Our printers must be paid every month. How can we pay them if you do not pay us? Please ask yourself this question. Put yourself in our place. Then as you would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them for this is the Law and the Prophets. Jesus and this will finance the King's Highway. Thank you,

MARRIED

Arthurs-Clarke

The home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Clarke, 515 Main St., Saint John, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the evening of August 14th, when their eldest daughter, Alice Lillian, was united in marriage to Burton Roland Arthurs. Rev. H. C. Archer, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of invited guests. They will reside at Saint John, where the groom is in business with his father.

Porter-Lewis

A beautiful wedding was solemnized in the United Baptist Church at New Tusket, N. S., at 11 a. m. August 27th, when Miss Nellie Maud Lewis became the bride of Harold Hamilton Porter.

Mrs. Porter is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Lewis, and Mr. Porter is the son of the late Howard Porter and Mrs. Porter, of Springdale, N. S. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. W. Briggs assisted by Lic. Robert Smith.

After the ceremony the bridal party motored to Digby, where dinner was served at the Digby Hotel, after which Mr. and Mrs. Porter left on a trip through the Province. They will reside at Springdale, N. S.

We join with their many friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous wedded life.

OBITUARY

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."—

Mrs. Alonzo Alley

The church at Beals, Me., has been called to mourn the loss of one of its faithful members in the passing of Sister Fanny Alley on Aug. 6th at the age of 68 years. Early in life Sister Alley sought and found the blessing of a clean heart and enjoyed the experience as long as she lived, as long as her health permitted she was faithful in her attendance at the house of the Lord and a blessing to every faithful pastor. Her place will be hard to fill.

Funeral service was held in the church, conducted by Rev. F. A. Watson, assisted by Rev. H. S. Wilson of Jonesport, Me. A choir sang favorite hymns.

She leaves to mourn her loss two sons, Elmer, of Prospect Harbour, Me.; Harley, of Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Alton Urquhart, of Manset, Me.; Mrs. Estin L. Beal, of Beals, Me.; several grandchildren and great-grandchildren, also an adopted daughter, Ruth (Mrs. S. Alley), who tenderly cared for her mother during her last illness.

To these sorrowing ones we extend our sympathy.

Mrs. Melvin Wallace

The church at Beals has again been called to mourn the loss of one of its old and faithful members in the home-going of Sister Octava Wallace on August 13th at the age of 78 years. Sister Wallace had been in poor health for some time and the end was not unexpected. While young in years she sought and found the blessing of a clean heart, and to the end she enjoyed it. At her invitation Bro. Daniel Hyland came here and held meetings in the school house. Out of these meetings came the Reformed Baptist Church. Her life was a blessing to the church and every faithful pastor since that time.

Funeral services were held on the mission at Alley Bay conducted by her pastor, Rev. F. A. Watson, assisted by a choir. Her favorite hymn, "The Last Mile of the Way" was sung by Bro. Watson.

To the sorrowing husband we extend our deepest sympathy.

Mrs. Agnes Lemon

The death occurred on August 26th in Victoria Public Hospital of Mrs. Agnes Lemon, of Marysville. Funeral service was held at the home of her son, Boyce Lemon, on Thursday.

Mrs. Lemon is survived by two sons, Lionel Lemon, of Lawrence Station, and Boyce Lemon, of Marysville, and four daughters: Mrs. Richard Hill, Burleigh, Ont.; Mrs. Almond Gredd, Atherly, Ont.; Mrs. Dow Estabrooks, Regina, Sask., and Mrs. Lincoln Good, Millville.

MINISTER OF CHRIST FOR THE TIMES

XIV.

"In much patience."—2 Cor. vi, 4

The minister for the times is a patient man. There are evil-doers;—he frets not because of them. There are deep sufferings peculiar to the minister;—he endures them without murmuring, and is patient in tribulation. The servant first acts, and then is rewarded;—he is patient that, after he has done the will of God, he may receive the promise. A great cloud of witnesses hang over him, as he strives for heaven;—he runs the race with patience. The Lord is coming;—he is patient with the long patience of the husbandman, knowing that the day is nigh. He patiently studies the Holy Scriptures; for no otherwise can he expect to bring thence new things and old. He patiently waits for a fuller manifestation of things which are now wholly or partially mysterious, not doubting that all will be plain in due time. He patiently instructs the people; knowing that line upon line, and precept upon precept, are needful to their edification and salvation. He patiently visits his flock, remembering the apostolic example of going from house to house, as well as of teaching in the temple. He bears up under diversified complaints—against all calumny and persecution—against the loss of all things; being assured that Jesus smiles upon him, and that all shall be well in the end. Storms fall upon him, and beat hard against him; a horror of thick darkness overshadows him; his familiar friend lifts up his heel against him; he bows and suffers, and waits, not doubting that these heavings and dashings are lifting him upward to where the wicked cease from troubling, and where the weary be at rest. Meanwhile, is any earthly suffering too long, or too heavy to be borne, for the welfare of those for whom Christ died?

Two thousand years ago one Man died for the sins of all mankind . . . today all mankind is dying for the sins of one man.

Christ was the first true democrat that ever breathed; as the old dramatist, Dekkai, said: "He was the first true gentleman."—I. R. Lowell
