William P. McMullen

William Pennington McMullen passed away on Saturday, March 20th, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. H. B. Dickinson, Hartland, after a long period of failing health. The deceased was in his 89th year, and was a descendant of one of Hartland's first settlers. He was a son of the late Stephen and Ruth McMullen and a grand-son of the late Rev. Charles McMullen, of the former Free Christian Baptist Church. He resided all his life in Hartland where he engaged in farming. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. F. A. Aiton and Mrs. H. B. Dickinson, of Hartland, and Mrs. Wm. Bookmiller, of Royal Oak, Mich. One son, Claude, of Hartland, also survives. His wife predeceased him in July, 1941. The funeral was held on Monday, March 22nd, from the residence, and was conducted by Rev. Harry Taylor, of the United Baptist Church. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery, Hartland.

Mrs. Thomas Whitten

We have again sustained a great loss in the passing of Mrs. Thomas Whitten, who died in the hospital at Presque Isle, Me., on Saturday morning, May the 8th, nearly 84 years of age. Our sister had been living at Washburn during the past winter and spring, and was taken ill a short time ago with what the doctor called gall stones and obstruction in the bowels. She was taken to the hospital for treatment, but did not respond to it, so continued to grow worse. In response to a telephone call from her daughter, Mrs. Robert Cleaves, we went to Presque Isle on Sunday, May 2nd, and saw Sister Whitten. She was very ill and suffering greatly, but happy in the Lord and praising him for salvation which was a great comfort to us, and her loved ones. The funeral service was held on Monday, the 10th, with a brief service for the family in the funeral home at Presque Isle, then a service for the public at the Methodist Church at Washburn, Me. At the request of our sister, Rev. H. S. Dow was the chief speaker, from a text selected by herself found in Mat. 24:42-44. Other preachers present who also had part were: Rev. N. E. Felch, pastor of the church; Rev. Cook and Rev. S. A. Mullen, of the U. B. church. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, and a large congregation was present. Interment was made in the cemetery at Washburn. Brother Whitten predeceased our sister a few years ago. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Robert Foot, at Washburn, and Mrs. Robert Cleaves, of Easton, Me; also one sister, Mrs. Doyle, of Portland, Me, and several nephews and nieces and grand-children, with very many friends which she had made by her kindly, unselfish life and service of love. Sister Whitten was truly a great woman, who has finished her work on earth and has gone to be with Jesus. To her bereaved relatives we extend sincere Christian sympathy.

THE YOUNG PARSON'S FIRST FIELD

A wise and experienced minister recently gave to a young man his considered judgment that the young parson "should spend at least five years in his first field." Most older men will concur. They look back to the days of their first experience, days supremely happy and, yet days of restlessness. They had expected to accomplish great things; but they had run into complacency and indifference, coldness and worldliness, on the part even of the elders of the church; they had been criticized by the old guard; and things had moved—oh, so slowly.

About the second year, or the third, they had made up their mind that they belonged somewhere else, or someone else belonged in their place. Then, somehow, on their knees in the study or by the bedside, they had been told, unmistakably told, by the Spirit to hang on. And they had stayed—and at length the blessing had come. It is worth waiting for. Some of us were impatient, and almost missed it.—David DeForest Burrell.
