

CORRESPONDENCE

Port Maitland, N. S.

Dear Highway Readers

A report is due from this field. The people continue to do such fine things that we get behind in our acknowledgments.

First, we wish to report a good meeting held in our Port Maitland church, during the early part of February. Rev. Walter Tink was the evangelist, and we cannot speak too highly of his ministry. Brother Tink is endowed with qualities and gifts that make him outstanding as a Christian workman. The meeting was all too short, but our brother put his very best into it, and God honored his labors. A number of seekers were at the altar, and the church received much blessing.

We have missed having special meetings at Sandford. It seemed impossible to secure an evangelist. However, we have a meeting planned for the future, and are looking to the Lord for blessings manifold in the meantime. Anything can happen when we are looking to the Lord. He can give us a Pentecostal outpouring that will exceed our greatest expectations. I know our Sandford people are not adverse to any blessing God may send.

Another evidence of our people's eagerness to make things pleasant for their pastor and family was demonstrated of late in the purchase of material for a new ceiling in the dining room of the parsonage by Mrs. Norman Churchill, of Sandford, also a new Findlay Range donated by the Sandford and Port Maitland churches. Besides these two items, a new inlaid linoleum for the kitchen, and various other improvements that add greatly to the looks of the parsonage.

The services have been sustained at Brazil with the exception of one Sunday. We still enjoy preaching to the people there, and find them more than generous in their support.

We are not exempt from the sad effects of this war. Many of our best people are in the Services, and some of our homes have suffered the loss of sons and relatives. These things are very hard to endure, but we know the Lord is giving of His strength to all.

Yours in Christian love,

Dear Highway Friends:

Just a few words at this time by way of report, of revival services, held with Rev. M. R. Manning Feb. 20th-March 6th.

As our sister only had three Sundays to give us, we as a church realized there was much to be accomplished in a short time, so special times of prayer were pledged by our people, two weeks before the meetings began, and I can truly say a real burden fell on us as a church, and, after a terrible battle with the enemy of souls, God answered prayer, giving us a goodly number of precious souls, men, women and young people, who wept their way through to God, and who seem to be enjoying the victory at this present time.

Our attendance and interest is the best we've ever enjoyed in this place. We truly rejoice and thank God for this.

Sister Manning's messages both in song and preaching, were filled with the Holy Spirit, and special unction from God. She didn't spare herself in any respect, and her messages stirred the whole community. Our regret was that she couldn't stay longer with us, but we pray God's blessing on her, as she goes West to labor in that part of His vineyard.

Pray for us, that God may prepare us for our new field of labor.

Yours for souls,

G. A. DeLONG

Dear Editor and Highway Friends:

I praise God today for the "King's Highway," and its helpfulness; also for the enjoyment of Christian fellowship with God's dear children. I have come to know many of them by attending "Beulah Camp," quarterly meetings, etc. I know the Highway draws us ever closer together by its visits to our homes. I especially enjoy our missionary correspondence.

I want to give my testimony that Jesus grows nearer and dearer to me each day. He is very precious to me. I thank Him for the saving and keeping power. It never fails! The Comforter abides within my heart. Praise God!

Yours in Christian love,

MRS. ESTEN L. BEAL

THE GREATEST MIRACLE IN HUMAN HISTORY

"Five bleeding wounds He bears, received on Calvary;

They pour effectual prayers, they strongly plead for me;

'Forgive him, O Forgive,' they cry,
'Nor let that ransomed sinner die.'

"The Father hears Him pray, His dear anointed One;

He cannot turn away the presence of His son;
His spirit answers to the blood,
And tells me I am born of God.

"My God is reconciled; His pardoning voice I hear;

He owns me for His child; I can no longer fear;

With confidence I now draw nigh,
And, 'Father, Abba, Father,' cry."

Christ appears in the presence of God today as the living, unchangeable Saviour. "Because He continueth ever and has an unchangeable priesthood, He is able to save to the uttermost all that come unto God by Him." He is able, thank God. There is no other person who can save, if He cannot do it. But He can. "Able to save." "His name shall be called Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sins." Able to save them to the uttermost! "The word uttermost is composed of two Greek words, meaning all and complete. He is able to save all men, all nations, and that to completion; and He is able to keep evermore what He thus saves; able to keep them through time, under all circumstances, in all places, and to all eternity. That should make a person shout.

The resurrection of Christ today assures us of immortality. "I shall meet you in the morning," was the farewell of the early Christians. How beautiful when falling asleep in Jesus to be able to say to Christians and loved ones, "I will meet you in the morning."

Some years ago in the State of Michigan a child of great promise died. The little one, all beautiful, robed for the grave, was laid in the casket, and in its little hand was placed a bouquet of flowers—the central flower of which was an unopened bud of the rose of Sharon. On the morning for burial the casket lid was removed for the sorrowing weepers to take their farewell look at the peaceful dead; when, lo! that bud had become a rose in full bloom while grasped in the dead child's hand. The beautiful flower said, "Weep not for the spirit that is gone. It has already become a full-bloomed rose in glory."

Hear this living Saviour: "I am He that liveth and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, amen; and have the keys of hades and of death." "Because I live ye shall live also." This is the true victory!

It is reported "that at the close of the battle of Waterloo, upon the issue of which hung the destinies of Europe, the English people were anxiously awaiting news of the result. Their only means of rapid communication was by means of a system of signal lights across the English Channel! The fog became so dense that only a part of the message was made out. It read, "Wellington defeated." Gloom settled upon the English. But imagine their joy when the fog lifted and they received the whole message, "Wellington defeated the enemy." When Christ was crucified His disciples were so enshrouded by the fogs of doubt that they saw but one meaning to the sad event: "Christ defeated . . ." All hope was gone, Christ was dead; but Easter morning brought the glorious fact of the risen Lord, and the message read, "Christ defeated the devil." How glorious! By dying, Christ conquered death; by rising, Christ conquered the grave; by ascending, Christ made possible our ascension, even to heaven. Hallelujah! "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? . . . Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF OUR FOREIGN MISSION BOARD

Port Maitland, N. S.

Dear Highway Friends:

The Missionary issue of March 15th was a splendid paper. I know it is most gratifying to all our people to have an editor who is ready to make use of the paper to lend emphasis to our proposed Easter Offering. Brother Cochrane stated so nicely our Missionary needs and opportunities in his editorial. Truly it is providential that the "extras" have arisen in a time when we are so able to meet them.

So many of our Churches have been responding wonderfully during this church year. This proves that our people have this work at heart and are glad to give as God provides. It seems to me that a new spirit of aggressiveness is taking hold of our people in every department of the work. May it become a real epidemic, and may the devil be unable to prevent its spreading all over the country. I might say, we are planning, down on this field, to bring in a bigger Easter offering than any church in the Denomination. We invite competition, and if you outdo us you will have to use both hands.

Well, may the dear Lord give us a wonderful day of blessing. Let us saturate the day with prayer. We need to feel anew the uplift of Resurrection Power. Giving will not prevent it for the promise is: "They that give bountifully shall reap also bountifully."
