

CORRESPONDENCE

Hartland, N. B.

Dear Highway Friends:

I would like to report regarding our work at Victoria Corner. Brother Owens was with us a short time and brought splendid messages that were not without good results. Two men of our congregation have gotten back to the Lord and plan to attend Beulah Camp. We are glad that the Sterritt Sisters have felt led of the Lord to live in Hartland. Their ministry in word and song is much appreciated in all our congregations.

We are looking forward to meeting God's people again at Camp-Meeting. In the meantime let us pray for gracious victory.

Yours for souls,

A. D. and MRS. CANN

Marysville, N. B.

To The Highway Family:

I feel that some word from this part of the vineyard is in order at this time.

God has been blessing us indeed and truly this has been a year of victory. Not all that we would desire has been accomplished indeed, but we feel that what is come to us from God's hand is well worth our heart-felt praise.

We had Brother Parks with us for three Sundays during the month of April. His ministry was blessed of God to the salvation of souls, the sanctification of believers and the reclamation of backsliders.

Our souls were blessed under the ministry of this fine young preacher.

The young people's denominational rally was also an inspiration and blessing to the Church.

The outlook for our work is indeed promising. Our hope for the future is in the hands of God, and this fine group of young people who have a vision for greater things ahead.

Our church at Marysville still has the missionary outlook as is evidenced by this fine missionary offering of four hundred dollars on Easter Sunday.

We have never ministered to a people more thoughtful of the welfare of their pastor or more co-operative in the work of the Lord.

Soon we will be meeting again at Beulah (DV) and enjoying the larger denominational fellowship. May God's blessing rest upon the Camp as in former years.

Yours in His glad service,

REV. and MRS. F. A. WATSON

SEEDS OF FRIENDSHIP

Scatter seeds of friendship—Thoughts and words and deeds—Though the soil looks stony—Scatter wide your seeds . . . Every kindly action—every word sincere—every good intention meant to help and cheer—is a seed of friendship—And somewhere someday—It will bud and blossom in its own sweet way . . . Life is like a garden and we sow the seeds—Shall we live to gather perfect flowers—or weeds?

Time must bring its changes—as the years roll by—Flowers of Love must perish—Friendships fade and die . . . But if you have scattered, all along the track—seeds of true affections—You will never lack. Always there'll be someone who will understand—Someone who is ready—with a helping hand . . . Do not dread the future, full of doubts and fears—sow the seeds of friendship—for the coming years—Patience Strong.

OBITUARY

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."—Revelations 14-13.

Mrs. Sarah R. Doyle

Mrs. Sarah Doyle was born on Feb. 4th, 1871, in England, and died in Allston, Mass., on May 23rd, 1945. In later years she came to Westchester, N. S., where she was united in marriage to Mr. John Doyle. After his death she came to Cambridge, Mass., where she resided for many years. She united with the First Evangelical Church in Cambridge, of which she was a consistent member to the day of her death. She loved all the means of grace afforded by the church. In prayer and class meeting she gave testimony to the saving and sanctifying power of Christ, and her presence in the preaching service was an inspiration to the preacher. She was a woman of happy disposition, very unselfish, always thinking more of others than of herself. She was most generous in her support of the Gospel and every good cause.

A few years ago she suffered a stroke of paralysis which confined her to her bed and seriously affected her speech. It was the writer's privilege, who had been her pastor for a number of years, to visit her in her affliction. When I read the Scriptures, sang and prayed with her, she could raise one hand and with joyous countenance and inarticulate speech give expression to her trust in Jesus. She died in a convalescent home. Her pastor, Rev. Wilson, officiated at the funeral. I was sorry to have been away at the time but I send this little tribute of appreciation of a good woman. Her end was peaceful. The interment was made in Providence, Rhode Island.

W. EDMUND SMITH

Mrs. Lowell Brown

Mrs. Lowell Brown, aged 61 years, passed away suddenly at her home in North Head, N. B., recently. She had been in poor health for a number of years, yet her death came as a great shock to her loved ones. The large funeral spoke of the esteem in which the deceased was held. The service was conducted by Rev. Hartley Johnson, U. B., assisted by Rev. J. A. Owens, and the R. B. Church Mixed Quartett, who sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "We'll Understand It Better Bye and Bye." Besides her sorrowing husband she leaves four sons (two of which are in the armed forces), and also four daughters, and a host of relatives and friends. Interment was made at North Head. We pray God's blessing on the bereaved ones.

Orbin Tidd

The death of Orbin Tidd occurred on May 7th at the East Saint John County Hospital, where he had been a patient for seven years. ## MEMORIAL SERVICE

A memorial service for the late William White, who gave his life in the defence of his country, was held in the Reformed Baptist Church at Marysville, Sunday, May 13th, at 2.30 p. m. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. A. Watson, assisted by Rev. P. J. Trafton, of Fredericton, also Rev. W. S. Loring and A. G. Crowe, of Marysville.

A detachment of soldiers from District No. 7 attended the service. The choir sang selections suitable to the occasion and the pastor spoke of the life and death of this fine young man, also of the underlying reasons for strife and war.

A few weeks before his untimely death the deceased had written home the glad news that he had found the Lord in saving grace. This fact has cheered the hearts of his sorrowing friends and loved ones.

He was the eldest son of Deacon and Mrs. Wm. White, of Marysville, and leaves seven sisters and eight brothers to mourn their loss.

We extend our deepest sympathy to those who have been bereaved.

If Christians do not make the world better, the world will surely make the Church worse.—J. H. Gilbert.
