Lic. and Mrs. Raymond Parks take up pastoral duties at Halifax, May 6th. Their address will be 117 Agricola St., Halifax, N. S. If you have friends or relatives in that city, send Brother Parks their address and he will call on them.

The Editor had the privilege of speaking in the prayer service at Black's Harbour April 18th. We found the work there encouraging under the ministry of Rev. H. S. Wilson.

Rev. B. C. Cochrane will conduct morning devotions over radio station CKCW, Moncton, May 8th-11th.

Ralph Ingersoll, of Saint John, N. B., has been preaching at Head of Millstream on Sundays for the past six weeks.

CORRECTION

In the last issue of The Highway, we made a mistake relative to the Riverview Dormitory at Beulah. Rev. H. E. Mullen is caretaker of that Dormitory for this year instead of Rev. B. D. Price. Brother Mullen's address is Beal's, Maine. Lic. Hubert McGeorge, Lorne Park College, Port Credit, Ontario, is in charge of Cedardale Dorm.

PERSONALS

The Editor has received fine letters from Ruth Harding and Lic. Joseph Moses, both of whom are attending Eastern Nazarene College. Sister Harding writes that she is enjoying her studies and looking forward to attending Beulah this summer.

Brother Moses expresses his appreciation of the people of Head of Millstream with whom he laboured some months.

We were glad to receive these letters and trust the Lord will bless these and all our young people who are preparing themselves for Christian service.

WEDDINGS

On Saturday evening, April 14th, at the home of the bride's parents, Hassett's, N. S., Rev. P. W. Briggs united in marriage Miss Dorothy Jean Mullen and Pte. Austin Edison Mullen, of Havelock, N. S.

BY FAITH

Recalling his surprise when the last clause of Galatians 3:14 was brought specially home to him, Dr. F. B. Meyer wrote: "Through faith!" I said to myself, 'But that is the way in which we receive salvation, and if that be all, it is possible to claim my share in the fullness of the Holy Spirit as I claimed my share in the salvation wrought out by Jesus.'

"It seemed as though a voice spoke in my soul, 'As you claimed forgiveness from the hands of the dying Christ, so claim the fullness of blessing from those of the living Christ.' With all humility I took that position and preferred my claim, and—it seemed as though grace were given to appropriate the promise."—Selected.

THE THINGS THAT REMAIN

Humboldt, the great traveler, describes in one of his books his first experience of an earthquake. He was in South America at the village of Cumana. Suddenly a shock came, and everything beneath him and around him seemed dissolved. The overmastering impression, he says, was that everything was going: the things that he had always looked upon as substantial were no longer real. The solid ground was rocking and sinking beneath his feet; the crocodiles ran howling from the rivers into the woods in terror and dismay; the very dogs lay panting by his side, unable to bark or scarcely to breathe; the houses, instead of being a refuge for their inmates, were falling in ruins upon the inhabitants, and their screams of dying agony were mingled with the roar of dissolving nature. He looked to the forests, and the trees were falling; he looked to the mountains, and they were flying from their bases and tossing like the billows of the sea. Then he looked up, and lo, the sky and heavens alone seemed stable and unchanging, and he thought, "every earthly thing is dissolving, and heaven alone remains unmoved."

The hour is coming when everything which you have counted substantial shall dissolve and disappear, and only the things that are above shall be unshaken and remain. Oh, have you found your portion there? Have you chosen the city that hath foundations and the kingdom which cannot be moved?—A. B. Simpson, in The Alliance Weekly.

OBITUARY

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

Mr. Ladwick Simmons die dvery suddenly of a heart attack at his home in Jonesport, April 9th. His health had not been very good, but he had been working as usual. The deceased was 60 years old.
