

be ye saved, all the ends of the earth." He did not even pronounce the words rightly, but that did not matter.

There was, I thought a gleam of hope for me in the text. He began thus: "My dear friends, this is a very simple text indeed. It says, 'Look,' Now that does not take a deal of effort. It ain't lifting your foot or your finger, it is just 'look.' Well, a man need not go to college to learn to look. You may be the biggest fool and yet you can look. A man need not be worth a thousand a year to look. Anyone can look; a child can look. But this is what the text says. Then it says, 'Look unto Me.'" "Ay," he said, in broad Essex, "many of ye are looking to yourselves. No use looking there. You'll never find comfort in yourselves. Some look to God, the Father. No, look to Him by-and-by. Jesus Christ says, 'Look unto Me.' Some of you say, 'I must wait the Spirit's working.' You have no business with that just now. Look to Christ, it runs: 'Look unto Me.'"

Then the good man followed up his text in this way: "Look unto Me; I am sweating great drops of blood. Look unto Me; I am hanging on the cross. Look! I am dead and buried. Look unto Me; I rise again. Look unto Me; I ascend, I am sitting at the Father's right hand. O! look to Me! look to Me!"

When he had got about that length and managed to spin out ten minutes or so he was at the end of his tether. Then he looked at me under the gallery, and I dare say, with so few present, he knew me to be a stranger. He then said, "Young man, you look very miserable." Well I did, but I had not been accustomed to have remarks made on my personal appearance from the pulpit before. However, it was a good blow struck. He continued: "And you will always be miserable—miserable in life, and miserable in death—if you do not obey my text. But if you obey now, this moment you will be saved."

Then he shouted as only a Primitive Methodist can, "Young man, look to Jesus Christ" I did "look."

There and then the cloud was gone, the darkness had rolled away, and that moment I saw the sun: I could have risen that moment and sung with the most enthusiastic of them of the precious blood of Christ, and the simple faith which looks alone to Him. Oh, that somebody had told me that before.—Selected.

Rev. J. A. Moses of Winter Harbour, Maine, spoke from Proverbs 1:23 in the afternoon.

The closing service of the Quarterly was at 7 with Bro. H. R. Ingersoll speaking from Matt. 8:11, 12.

Good crowds were present from the opening service. A wonderful spirit prevailed throughout. Twenty-three bowed at the altar during the Quarterly. Fine entertainment was extended by pastor and people. It was the best attended Quarterly in years. Praise God for another outpouring.

REV. RONALD T. SABINE,
Secretary.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Bert Jewett

Again our hearts are saddened by the sudden passing on March 15th, of our beloved Sister in Christ, Mrs. Bert Jewett, of Lr. Hainsville. Our Sister had a bad fall, which resulted in her death about a week later. The various pastors who served on this field will regret to hear of her death. She was a very faithful member of the Reformed Baptist church and generally loved by all in the community. Her interest in everybody and her help in time of sickness endeared her to every one.

She leaves to mourn her husband, three sons and two daughters. Her pastor, Rev. J. A. Owens conducted her funeral service on Monday the 19th and used as a text, "She hath done what she could." Music was furnished by Paul Mullen, Mrs. Owens and Alice. Interment was made in the Lr. Hainsville cemetery.

May God bless and sustain the ones left to mourn the loss of a Godly wife and mother.

—J. A. OWENS.

Mrs. Rankine Chute, aged 63 years, passed away very suddenly at Kingston, N. S., March 5th, where she and her husband had been spending the winter with their daughter. Her going was a great shock to her family as well as to her many friends around Millville, who will remember her as a fine Christian woman.

Funeral services were held Friday the 9th, from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lester Hull, to the Church in Millville, and was conducted by Rev. J. A. Owens, assisted by Rev. Albert Brooks and Evangelist Lowell Yeattes. Music was furnished by the Reformed Baptist church choir.

Our sister is survived by her husband, also five sons and seven daughters. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment was made in Hawkins Corner cemetery.

May God comfort and sustain the bereaved family.

—J. A. OWENS.
