MEET THE STUDENTS

Our students come in an assorted lot varying in creed, nationality, intelligence, personality, behaviour, and appearance. Well, to tell the truth, each one is an individual. However, we can tell you something about them without becoming too personal. If you desire more information about individual cases, write the deans.

I suppose that our school is as much inter-denominational as some schools which claim to be so. Seven Protestant denominations are represented by our student body. Having twenty-nine young people enrolled, our own denomination is the most largely represented. Our sister denomination, the Nazarene, has seven students in attendance. Represented by one each are the United Church of Canada, the Free Baptist Church, the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada, the People's Church of Truro, and the Friends.

To most of our students Nova Scotia is a strange land. From across the Bay come twenty-two New Brunswickers; four each from Black's Harbour and Moncton; three each from Millville and Salem; two from Seal Cove; one each from Doaktown, Woodward's Cove, Victoria Corner, Wood Island, Lower Brighton, and Fredericton. From across the Strait of Northumberland, come three Islanders, representing Alberton and O'Leary. From across the Border come three Yankees: One from Jonesport, Maine; one from Presque Isle, Maine; one from Newport, Rhode Island. The natives, if we may call them such, number thirteen. They are divided as follows: four from Truro; two each from Yarmouth and Havelock; one each from Port Maitland, Sandford, Londonderry, Halifax, and Pleasant Lake.

"WHOSOEVER SAVETH HIS LIFE SHALL LOSE IT"

Sadhu Sundar Singh, the great Christian leader of India, was one day with a companion fighting his way through a raging blizzard in a mountain pass. As they struggled along they stumbled over the fallen body of another traveller. The Sadhu stopped to give aid, but his companion cursed him for a fool and went on ahead by himself. As Sundar Singh staggered on under the heavy load he found that the extra exertion restored his numbed circulation and warmed not only himself but the burden he bore on his back. Ere they finally reached the safety of the distant inn, however, they passed the frozen body of the man who had gone on to have his own life, only thereby to lose it.—Selected.

GOD IS ABLE

William Booth testifies: "Only God can take out of your heart the bad temper, pride, malice, revenge, love of the world, and all other evil things that have taken possession of it; and fill it with holy love and peace.

To God you must look, to God you must go. This is the work of the Holy Spirit: He is the Purifying Fire; He is the cleansing flame."

"He Has You On His Heart"

By Rev. George B. Kulp

On the wall hangs a motto, and I see it again and again during the day: "Casting all your care upon Him; for he careth for you." But of late there comes to me a sweeter rendering: "For He has you on His heart." Do you know that oftentimes we are surprised how wondrously the grace and presence of God keeps us? There are circumstances that are adverse; folks oftentimes disappoint us, but we are kept. Grace that saves is abundant and satisfying; but grace that keeps when the pressure is one hundred pounds to the square inch, is almost beyond our conception; and yet we know by experience that it is sufficient. The peace, the calm that comes to the soul when hell is raging, is not of ourselves, it is of Him. "There is a place where spirits blend"—His Spirit and ours; there is an infinite calm the world knows nothing of, and it comes to the soul that is accustomed to the presence chamber of God. Satan may delay the answer, but faith in God says: "It is all right; He never has failed me, He never will, and never can fail me"; in due time will come the assurance: "Fear not . . . for from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to understand . . . thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words (because of them). The enemy withstood me, 'but now I am come to make thee understand.'" (Dan. 10:12-14).

Harmony with God brings a knowledge of His will. Jesus said so, and it is in His will that we should have peace. "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God." "Faith is the victory." You want an explanation of Bethlehem, Gethsemane, Calvary? It is here, God had us on His heart. He does not love us because Jesus died for us. The Son was the gift of His love. He loves and cares for us today. Since Calvary we never can go to Him in any storm, and say, "Master, carest Thou not that we perish?" We know He cares. If God "spared not his own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?"

O hearts so dear to God, doubt not thy Lord! He who walked on seas midst storms in days of yore, and stilled the winds and waves, is the same today. He who sent the horses and chariots of fire till the mountain was full, that one man and his servant might be kept, is the same. "The God that lived in Elisha's time, is just the same today." God's cruse of oil and God's barrel of meal never fail, as long as there is a heart that will trust Him. If God could take care of a nation of slaves to such an extent that their shoes wore for thirty-nine years, and their garments failed not, you may depend upon it, He can and will take care of you. Stay thy mind on God. "Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace." Learn all you can of God from His Word, from His dealings with His saints in the days past. Study the life of Christ, His ministry and sacrifice, to get the thought of God in His most precious Gift, and then try, by the grace of God, to be the person He would have you to be.

An old negro saint denied himself, worked hard, and saved money, that he might buy a farm, own a home, and after much trial and sacrifice his ambition was gratified. He had a good farm and a nice house. He painted his home white, and said, "I am trying to be de

If the Church is to make on world thought an impact for Christ it must meet the opportunity with books, good books, Christian books, interpreting clearly and winsomely the Christian way and its underlying faith; and it must put such books within the reach of everyone. No other method of winning the heart of the world is quite so crucial as the provision of Christian literature.—Ruth Ure in "The Highway of Print."

kind of man dat goes with dat kind of a house." We are partakers of the Divine nature; we have the Spirit of Christ; we are the sons of God. So says the Word; so we say by our profession. Let us be the kind of folks that goes along with that profession, in times of trial. "Fret not thyself because of evil doers"; leave them with God. He bears you on His heart. Look at Him until you are transfigured as you gaze, and peace is yours forever.
