

TWO BRAVE BOYS

Ben Wilder came running home one day in great joy, and called his brother Rob.

"Rob, I have found out how we can earn the money to buy our bicycle!"

"Good!" said Rob. "How can we?"

"There's a man up at Frosts's Store who says he'll pay us ten cents for every quart of berries we'll pick, and you know the pastures and swamps are full of berries."

"Hurrah!" and Rob threw his old hat in answer. "We'll do it!"

"Yes, come up to Frost's with me, and we'll ask where to take them."

"All right," answered Rob.

Away the two went and were soon talking with the man from the city. The plans were made, and the boys turned away to begin their picking. But Ben stopped for a final question, "What'll you do with all of those berries?"

"Make wine of them; wines and other liquors. I belong to a wholesale liquor firm," answered the man.

"Yes, sir, we just wanted to know." The boys looked at each other soberly. "Rob," said Ben, "we can't do it. We don't want to help make drunkards."

So they told the man they could not sell their berries for that purpose. He was angry and called them bad names, but the boys stood firm. They never regretted taking their stand for the right.—Selected.

A LETTER OF THANKS

Dear Highway Friends:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone for the beautiful cards and kind letters of encouragement which I have received since my accident. It made my heart rejoice to know of the sympathy and kindness you felt for my wife and myself in these trying times.

Oh! How unworthy I feel for all the blessings I have received from my Heavenly Father's hand. He has given me a kind wife and loved ones to care for me, spiritual blessings unnumbered, and the love of Christ that constrains and keeps me on the straight and narrow way. With Jesus by my side, I know I will make a sure and safe journey to the end.

Oh, the joy and peace this salvation brings and the hope of a home where there will be no more heartaches, sorrow or suffering!

I feel encouraged to press on and if I have been, and still can be, a blessing to others, I give God all the praise and glory, and humbly and reverently bow at His feet.

Now I would like to say a few words of encouragement to every preacher and church member of the progress made in the capable leadership of our former superintendent.

I am pleased to note the number of churches being purchased, built or enlarged to accommodate overflow congregations.

We have a missionary effort that is forging ahead with new recruits sent out to the field

QUARTERLY MEETING REPORT

The Quarterly Meeting of District No. 4 convened with the church at Sandford. The opening message was given by Rev. L. K. Mullen. His theme was "Fire"—a challenging message.

On Friday evening the message was given by Rev. Douglas Webb who spoke from the text, "Come out from among them and be ye separate."

The business meeting was held on Saturday afternoon. Among matters discussed was the new catechism. A motion was made that we extend to the committee who arranged it, our appreciation for their good work. The message Saturday evening was given by Rev. Wilfred Green. His theme was, "Companionship with fools."

Sunday was a good day from the very beginning. Lic. Stewart Steeves led the love feast. God's Spirit was there to bless His people. Rev. Charles Sanders, returned missionary from Africa, gave a good message using the words, "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus." Lic. Oland Kent was with us on Sunday. His message Sunday afternoon was from the words, "Where there is no vision, the people perish."

Our superintendent, Rev. Norman Trafton, delivered the closing message of the Quarterly. He preached a heart-searching message from the text, "Remember Lot's wife."

A large number of people attended the Quarterly. The church was filled to capacity all day Sunday. God's people received much spiritual help.

VIGILANCE

The Spirit-filled life is to be a life of ceaseless vigilance. The more you are under the mastery of the Spirit the more watchful as a Christian you must be. And if you are a Spirit-filled Christian then there comes into your life a sworn, undying hostility to Satan and sin; and through the grace of God the conflict may minister to your blessing and help.

—Charles Inwood.

and our faithful ones home on furlough. When I think of the many miles our brother has walked and rode on a bicycle in mud, rain or heat of the sun I feel like asking the Lord to bless him abundantly.

I feel the College has made wonderful and remarkable progress. Who knows how many souls will be saved through the ministry of the young people who now are students. Our fine president and faithful staff deserve all the co-operation, spiritually and financially, we possibly can give them.

We have a fine pastor and wife here who have just moved into the new parsonage. They sing, preach, and live the truth of the Word. I pray God's blessing will be upon them down through the years.

Perhaps I have written too much, but I hope these few remarks that have come from the depths of my heart may help and bless someone in the way.

My daily prayer is found in Eph. 4:32.

May God bless every child of His all over this world.

In Christian love,

Aaron Churchill

OBITUARY

On Thursday, March 17, Mrs. Harry McDowell passed away at her home in Grand Harbour, N. B. Sister McDowell was a highly respected citizen and will be missed by many. It was a joy to call in her home, as her faith in the Lord was an inspiration to those who came in contact with her.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, four daughters, Jean, Ella, Lillian and Alice; and five sons Vernon, Joseph, Shannon, Elliot and Maynard.

The funeral was in charge of her pastor, Rev. Mr. McMahon, assisted by the writer.
