NEWS FROM MARY CAMPBELL

Dear Highway Friends:

No doubt you have received a great surprise ere this namely, that I, Mary Campbell, am engaged to be married to Paul Sanders, wedding to take place June 4th. I too am surprised at myself. Can this be me? How could one make so many strange statements against marriage and then right about turn? Surely, many of you, my friends, know what you were talking about, when you said, "You'll talk differently when the right man comes along."

Paul Sanders and I corresponded intermittently for about 10 months, both of us praying as we wrote. Some would be interested at the way God did answer our prayers. Neither of us had any idea how the other was praying and we were very careful how we wrote. He was praying for a suitable companion who must have such and such qualities. I was praying for special guidance as I answered each letter and that if we were supposed to be mated, a deep love might spring up the one for the other. It did.

We are being married at the Baptist Church at Vryheid and are having the Reception at Rev. E. A. Kierstead's. Since Mrs. Kierstead is not too well we are inviting very few guests.

When I ordered the invitations I made a mistake and ordered far too many. My intention was to send announcements to you folk overseas but since I blundered, won't you please consider these in the light of announcements. And may the invitations include all the friends in the different churches!

Won't you please remember us in prayer? We each pray continually that His will may be worked out in our lives. Yes, we surely did pray thus before we became engaged! Now we do pray earnestly that we may be greatly used by Him, to win many precious never-dying souls.

God richly bless you one and all!

Yours for souls,
Mary Campbell

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Dr. G. B. Williamson

That God's beneficent thought is toward all mankind is made known in divine revelation. His word to Abraham was, "In thee shall all families of the earth be blessed" (Gen. 12:3). By the inspired prophet Isaiah He said, "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth" (chapter 45:22). Joel speaking for the Lord said, "I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh" (chapter 2:28). There is no exclusiveness in John 3:16: "For God so loved the world." The risen Saviour said, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16:15).

Therefore, God's purpose and Christ's provision are for all the race. This is a self-evident fact. But by a strange, illogical quirk of the mind we conclude that the obligation to evangelize the world is the responsibility of a small minority—those who have a special

REQUEST AND REPORT FROM FOREIGN MISSION BOARD

Your Foreign Mission Board would like to be brought up to date on the names of all churches and all individuals of our churches who are supporting native workers and who those native workers are whom they are supporting and the amount of support. Any information along this line will be welcomed.

The following resolutions from recent F. B. M. Meeting:

RESOLVED we approve of Rev. E. A. M. Kierstead's conditions in sending out Sister Grace Sanders for nursing work in South Africa as follows:

That by becoming a Public Health Nurse and working under the Reformed Baptist Mission her salary be subsidized two-thirds by the Department of Health for Native Work in South Africa, and that she be sent out on this basis and be located at Louwsburg or Hartland or wherever would be suitable.

For the above purpose we ask for funds to be sent to our Treasurer, Rev. F. A. Watson, Carleton St., Saint John, N.B.—to be used for Rev. Grace Sanders' return to South Africa.

RESOLVED we accept Brother Paul Sanders on full time service on our South African Mission Field.

The marriage of Rev. Paul Sanders and Miss Mary Campbell will take place June 2nd.

call from God. Universal salvation implies universal obligation. All who have believed with their hearts must confess with their mouths. Laymen, too, share in this debt. Any division of the burden to make Christ known to all men is a weakening of our force.

Failure to accept this fact of universal obligation has tragic consequences.

First, the world has come to think of soul winning as a profession to which a select few have given their time and attention. This provides every sinner with a shield of defense. When approached by a servant of the Church, he assumes that he is a prospect to whom "a bill of goods" is to be sold, more for the profit of the salesman than for the salvation of his own soul.

Second, the Church of today, which should

A LETTER FROM MISS MINAH NKOSI

The following is a letter from Miss Minah Nkosi, who is teaching the academic subjects in the Bible School this year:

Louwsburg, via Vryheid
Natal, South Africa

Dear Highway Friends:

I greet you all in the name of our Lord Jesus.

It is a great joy to me to write you this letter, and tell you a little bit about my work in South Africa.

I am now teaching in a Bible School with Rev. W. Morgan. We have a splendid time together for we look to God in prayer every time. Sometimes when we find ourselves in difficulties, we easily get help from God.

Christian friends, I am so glad that I learned to trust Jesus when still young. Now I know I'm kept under His wings. My parents taught me of Jesus and His love and I went about deceiving them to be a Christian and yet deep down in my heart I knew the truth. I was not saved at all. Today I have to give thanks to the missionaries who cared for me from my childhood to girlhood. I have to give special thanks to Mrs. Kierstead, for I am sure if I hadn't stayed with her I wouldn't have been saved. I got saved during special meetings. This is the verse which strikes my heart, Prov. 28:13; it still bears a message.

It is my desire that while teaching in this school to keep the light of the Lord shining. Again I am glad because I am teaching people who understand about salvation.

Love to all Christian friends, be aflame with zeal for the spread of the gospel, just as was that first century Church, is apathetic, dormant, and largely ineffective. The revival we desire must begin with the acceptance of personal responsibility for the salvation of the lost of earth. Then the Spirit-filled Christian will be radiant in life, spontaneous in testimony, powerful in intercessory prayer, and fruitful in service.

Third, much of the world is still in darkness. Millions have never heard of Christ and His power to save. Thousands live in easy access of the church, without concern, because no one has cared enough to tell them of the love of God and win them by Christian friendliness.

Awake, O Church of Christ! Soul winning is everybody's business!—Herald of Holiness.
