

CHARLIE WRITES A BOOK

"Mother," said Charlie, "Will Harnish says his mother writes books."

"Does she?" said his mother. Then she went on sewing and forgot Charlie, who was trying to stand on his head.

"Mother," said Charlie, presently, "is it very hard to write a book?"

"I don't know, I am sure," said Mother.

"I am going to write a book," said Charlie.

Just then the doorbell rang and Charlie's mother went to see who called. When she came back, her boy was sitting at her desk, busily writing.

"Now, Mother," he said, "I'm done with my book."

"No," said his mother, thinking a little while, "you are not done. God has given you a book to write. I hope it is a big, long one, full of beautiful stories."

"What is the name of my book?" he asked, coming closer to her.

"Its name is Charlie's Life. You can write only one page a day, and you must be very careful not to make any black marks in it by doing ugly things. When you pout and cry, you smear the page. When you help Mother, and keep a bright face, and don't quarrel with Reddy, you make a nice, fair page, with pretty pictures on it."

"And when will I be done writing that book?" asked Charlie.

"When God says that your book is long enough," answered Mother, "He will send an angel to shut its covers and put a clasp on it until the great day when all life books will be opened."—Unknown.

GOD IS GREAT

A learned atheist once met a plain countryman going to church. He inquired of him,

"Where are you going?"

"I am going to church, sir," was the reply.

"What to do, there?"

"To worship God."

"Pray, is your God a great or a little God?"

"He is both, sir."

"How can He be both?"

"He is so great, sir, that the heaven of heavens cannot contain Him, and so small, that He can dwell in my poor heart."

The atheist declared that this simple answer of the countryman had a profound effect upon his mind.

FAITHFULNESS

The least action of life can be as surely done from the loftiest motive as the highest and noblest. Faithfulness measures acts as God measures them. True conscientiousness deals with our duties as God deals with them. Duty is duty, conscience is conscience, right is right, wrong is wrong, whatever sized type they be printed in.

MINISTERS AND CHURCHES

Other pastors who have accepted recalls to the churches they are now serving are: Rev. B. C. Cochrane, Fredericton, N. B.; Rev. H. O. McGeorge, Old Town, Maine; Rev. Neil Rice, Doaktown, N. B.; Rev. G. R. Symonds, Marysville, N. B.

Rev. F. A. Dunlop and our church at Black's Harbour, N. B., are engaged in special meetings with Rev. Karl Gorman, of Sandford, N. S. as evangelist.

Rev. H. E. Mullen underwent a major operation at the Lahey Clinic, Boston, Mass., on Tuesday, April 3rd. Mrs. Mullen writes that a tumor about the size of a tennis ball was removed from between the lung and the ribs, located at a nerve centre. "We feel it is an answer to prayer that the lung, or part of it, was not removed in the operation, and the doctors thought this might be necessary". Brother Mullen is recovering satisfactorily but will not be able to return to Grand Manan until the last of April. He would appreciate a card or letter from any of his friends, I am sure. Address: Rev. H. E. Mullen, 361, Highland Ave., Somerville, Mass.

The Church and community of North Head, N. B., were much saddened when Percy Upton, one of our deacons, suddenly passed away March the 12th, at the age of 48 years. Brother Upton was at the service the night before his death and testified of his faith and hope saying that he was leaning just a little harder on his blessed Lord these days than ever before. May our God support and comfort these dear ones who mourn the loss of this dear one.

We all feel this loss, but our loss is his gain, for he has gone home to be with Him whom he loved and served.
