

WOODS HARBOUR, N. S.

Greetings in His wonderful name! Again we feel to report the wonderful things which the Lord has done for us in this part of His field. As we draw near to the close of another church year, we feel to Praise God for the victories won.

Since last writing, Christmas has come and gone. We received a very generous amount of money along with many fine gifts. In January the church folk met at the parsonage giving us another fine purse of money and filling our cupboards to capacity. We thank God for such kind and considerate church folk.

From January 30 to Feb. 10 we had revival services with Lic. Samuel Guphill and Paul Mullen. We believe our revival started even before our team arrived. In the two weeks previous to our meetings four men were marvelously saved. During our services eleven more found victory. Out of the 15 converts, nine were men. Praise God for the men! Having something in common with the folk of the community, Bros. Guphill proved to be a tremendous blessing in both his personal work and ministry. We also enjoyed Bro. Paul, who added much blessing, in both music and song.

Having received an unanimous call, we feel it's the Lord's will for us to continue our work here. We ask the prayers of our Highway friends that God will continue to Bless our labors as we work for Him.

Yours in His service,
Stewart and Phyllis Steeves

Seal Cove, N. B.

"Everyone, including boys and girls, helped to build this church," stated Deacon Robert Green, as the whole Sunday School watched the flickering flames lick up the final note representing a $17,000 building project. Everyone joined lustily in singing the doxology.

In 1950, under the leadership of Rev. Ronald Sabine, the Seal Cove Church launched an extension program which has resulted in rebuilding one of the finest churches to be found anywhere for a community of its size. In Sunday School two offerings are taken, the "regular," and the "building fund." Now that the church debt is paid, it is the decision of the school to continue the building fund, half of which is given to foreign missions and the other improvements as needed. Our Bible School reflects the capable leadership of Superintendent Weldon Ingalls and his faithful staff of officers and teachers.

During the past church year we have been blessed with the helpful ministry of Dr. and Mrs. C. I. Armstrong, Rev. R. H. Nicholson, Deavern Mullen and others. In all these special efforts as well as in our regular services God has given us new converts and in general deepened the spiritual life of the church.

One week night in our recent services, Brother Nicholson spoke briefly in the interest of our Home Mission work. His heart-felt interest in this field is reflected in all his ministry. Every night the people came from all quarters to hear this down-to-earth-full-gospel preacher, and Spirit-filled singer. Our vision has been increased and feel no price is too great to win souls. We are thankful to the Lord in permitting us the privilege of associating with so many loyal Christian people. For new converts and all other blessings we give God thanks.

Sandford, N. S.

Dear Highway Friends,

We would like to give a brief report regarding our work here in Sandford, and more particularly, our recent revival campaign.

As a church, we have sustained some losses through death and the influence of the enemy. Our attendance has been down during the severe winter weather and there still is much illness in the community.

However, most of the junior young people who were converted at Youth Camp last summer are doing very well. The faithful Christians seem to be getting more burdened for the lost and there are many signs of a genuine Holy Ghost revival.

From Feb. 3rd to 24th we were privileged to have with us Lic. and Mrs. Oland Kent. Their ministry in word and song was well received by the community and given under the anointing of God. The attendance was the best in recent years, the church being almost full even during the week-night services.

Friday of each week was Youth-Night and with many of the Bethany students in attendance, the church was filled.

We had two Family-Nights and prizes were awarded to the largest family present. All the babies co-operated very well!

Because of the good interest and blessing of God, the meetings were carried on a week longer than scheduled.

Of the nine seekers at the altar of prayer, three were sanctified, three were backsliders, and three had never been Christians before. We are expecting to see more conversions soon as a result of the meetings.

Bro. Kent, a converted Roman Catholic, preaches the saving grace and sanctifying power of the blood with clarity, earnestness, and a kindly spirit.

We are praying for Revival in every church and department of our denomination.

Rev. and Mrs. Karl Gorman
