

CHURCH NEWS

Jonesport, Maine

Well here I am at last with news from Jonesport! First of all, I feel that I owe you Highway Readers an apology, so will say, "I'm sorry that I have not written before".

It will soon be three years since we came to Pastor the Jonesport Church, and I would like to report that these wonderful people have been good to us. We have learned to love them more as we have worshipped, prayed, wept, sang and testified together. I feel that as we continue to fight the battle for righteousness and holiness in our land, these warriors of God are with us in every way.

Just a little over a year ago we launched out by faith to enlarge our Sanctuary. We have seen the Mighty Hand of God work in that time. He has honored our faith, and supplied our need in a marvelous way. The cost of enlarging and renovating our Church building was over six thousand dollars, and at the present time there remains less than two hundred dollars to pay. The people have supported us well financially besides.

Would like also to report of the Revival Meeting with Evangelist Ralph Mickel and wife in February. Our Church was helped much, a number of souls were saved and sanctified. We enjoyed the fine ministry of Bro. and Sister Mickel, and would recommend them to any of our Pastors and Churches.

April 9th-12th we had Quarterly Meetings at our Church here. It got off with a good start when Bro. Jack MacKenzie preached on "Old-Time Religion". Shouts and praises could be heard in the Sanctuary. Bro. Bill Morgan preached on Missions. A very challenging message. Lic. Clayton Alley preached a heart-searching message on, "Having a Right Spirit." The Love Feast was a time never to be forgotten. It was led by John Brown of Seal Cove. The Glory of God came down, there was singing, shouting, weeping, testifying, and praising God. Bro. Delong preached a great message in the morning service on, "Holiness". Bro. Joe Moses preached in the afternoon, "Our Dwelling Place." A very encouraging message. Br. Cann preached the closing message to a crowded house, in the evening. A number of seekers were at the altar. A great Quarterly. Praise the Lord!

We are looking forward to having our Superintendent, Rev. Dunlop, for a visit with us in May. Also a week-end of meetings with Sheila Graham.

The Church has given us a unanimous call for another year. I am praying that we will see an old-fashioned, Holy Ghost Revival in our land. Amen. (And I want to be in it)! Well, my Brothers and Sisters, I feel like saying, "Hallelujah to the Lamb that sitteth upon the Throne." He blesses my soul.

Yours for Old-Time Religion,
Jim and Marion Blinn

THE REFORMED BAPTIST HOME MISSION REVOLVING INVESTMENT FUND

In order that the outreach of the gospel, with the right emphasis on holiness of heart and life, may ever advance in the Reformed Baptist Denomination, proper attention must be given to the Home Mission Work which is fundamental to our denominational progress. To insure that this work will not be hindered, available funds need to be on hand to take advantage of opportunities which are presented in the form of: new areas to be entered, buildings, and property to be purchased at opportune prices and at opportune times. We, therefore, solicit donations to this FUND under the following agreement:

- (A) THE HOME MISSION BOARD agrees — (1) To invest all monies donated, to this FUND, with the understanding that the DONOR will have a, perpetual, growing investment, in the cause of Christ. (2) That each project will be investigated by the superintendent, the president, and the treasurer, and no investment will be made without approval of the board. (3) That all loans, with interest, will be repaid into this FUND so that every dollar invested will be continually advancing the cause of holiness. (4) All investments from this FUND will be made, at rate of interest, 1% less than bank loans. (5) That special prayer will be offered for guidance in these obligations so each investment will be in GOD'S WORK and not man's.

- (B) THE DONOR to the REFORMED BAPTIST HOME MISSION REVOLVING INVESTMENT FUND agrees to give $ for the continual advancement of the cause of Christ. (1) That he will not ask for his money to be refunded due to any cause which might arise, but rather, he will pray with the board that his gift will be used for the glory of God and the salvation of souls. (2) That the treasurer will not be asked to keep individual donations separate but each gift will become part of the total sum to be invested in HOME MISSIONS.
