

A word of explanation to pastors and churches concerning regarding our foreign mission needs:

The letter in the last Highway, signed by the president of the F. M. Board, stated that funds were depleted, while the circular letter sent to churches by the Board treasurer reported a $2500 balance. To clarify the matter and remove a seeming discrepancy, it seemed that an explanation was necessary. The $2500 reported by the treasurer represents "special monies", sent in for specific missionary projects such as the doctor's residence to be built in Rhodesia, medical and surgical equipment for the hospital, money for a church in Africa, etc. So while this amount of money was in the foreign mission fund, it could not be used for salaries, passages, or other needs, unless as a temporary arrangement. Therefore, the $6,000 asked for is the amount that is actually needed this month. The money sent in for the special projects referred to must be sent out early in the New Year, if not before.

Rev. Ralph Hobson, New England and Eastern Canada regional secretary of the International Christian Leprosy Mission, has been holding special services in a number of our churches, speaking of the work he represents and emphasizing missionary work in general.

Rev. Ralph Ingersoll, General Secretary of the New Brunswick Temperance Federation, was commended highly for his work by the interdenominational representation of that organization, at its annual meeting held at Lancaster, N. B., Nov. 3rd.

A new Reformed Baptist Church was organized at Houlton, Maine, Nov. 11th., with seventeen charter members. This important event will be fully reported later by the pastor, Rev. Neil Rice.

Reports of blessing and victory in the revival campaign at the Free Baptist Church of Linneus, Maine. The evangelist, Miss Sheila Graham, is serving as supply pastor at present, the former pastor, Rev. John Ruth, having resigned.

Nov. 30th is the half-way mark in our church statistical year. That means that at least 50% of our budget allocations should be paid. Let's check, and, if in arrears, send a cheque!

THE SECRET OF POWER

and discouraged, but I found one sister with a wondrous glory in her face and glad, sweet praises in her mouth. She told me how she had looked at others falling around her, had seen the carelessness of many, and noted the decline of vital piety in the church until her heart ached, and she felt disheartened, and her feet almost slipped. But she went to God, and got down low before Him, and prayed and waited until He drew near her and showed her the awful precipice on which she herself was standing, showed her that her one business was to follow Jesus, to walk before Him with a perfect heart, and to cleave to Him though the whole church backslid. Then she confessed how near she had come to joining the great army of backsliders herself through looking on others, humbled herself before Him, and renewed her covenant until an unutterable joy came to her heart and God put His fear in her soul, and filled her with the glory of His presence. She told me further that the next day she fairly trembled to think of the awful danger she had been in, and declared that the time of waiting on God in the silence of the night saved her, and now her heart was filled with the full as-insurance of hope for herself, and not only for herself, but also for the church. Oh for ten thousand such warriors!

The secret of all failures and of all true success is hidden in the attitude of the soul in its private walk with God. The man who courageously waits on God is bound to succeed. He cannot fail. To other men he may appear for the present to fail, but in the end they will see what he knew all the time, that God was with him, making him, in spite of all appearance, "a prosperous man."

Know, then, that all failure has its beginning in the closet, in neglecting to wait on God until filled with wisdom, clothed with power, and all on fire with love.
