BANEFUL BLASPHEMY

publishers would leave it out of the printed page. It is neither beautiful, brave, nor eloquent. It cheapens the entire publication, and above all dishonors God.

Again, we may ask the question, why do people take God's name in vain?

We have already mentioned two reasons; one because they think it makes them big and important, the other that they think it lends emphasis to what they say. There is still a far deeper reason. Swearing is a heart condition. People blaspheme the name of God because the "swear" is in their hearts. A person whose heart is pure does not swear. Swearing is inspired in the heart by Satan himself. It is his chief weapon against God. He loves to see man made in the image of God, curse God to His face.

John Milton in his famous poem, "Paradise Lost", pictures this in most dramatic language. He depicts Satan and his hosts, after being cast out of Heaven, in a great convention, called to see how they could get revenge against God. After many suggestions had been made, some devil proposed that someone be sent to the newly created earth to tempt and to degrade the man and woman whom God had placed in the garden. This proposal was adopted as the very best. Satan himself was delegated to go to the earth to carry out the plan. This he did, with what great success we all know. From that time onward what delight Satan has taken to see the creature God created for Himself, turn against his Maker and curse him to His face. Thus the man whom God made to love Him, and upon whom God desired to lavish love and goodness, turns and curses God's holy name. So Satan laughs with devilish glee every time he hears a man or woman, boy or girl, take the name of God in vain. The devil inspires and helps the swearer. Hence, every time a person profanes the name of God he brings guilt and condemnation to his own soul, and also grieves and offends God, and at the same time, greatly pleases the Devil.

Who would want to be guilty of taking the name of the Lord in vain? May the Lord have mercy upon them who do. He will if they confess their sin and look to Jesus for pardon. May the Lord bless you. Amen.
