AN EDITOR'S VALEDICTORY

With this issue of our King's Highway, I complete twenty years of editorial service to our denominational organ and our Church. For seven years I served as editor of the Young People's page, and for thirteen years (two terms) I have been editor-in-chief.

I did not realize that my service to and through the Highway had extended over so long a time until I checked the records. "Tempus fugit".

In taking an editorial bow, I wish to express my deep appreciation of the privilege and honour of this service. I have been richly repaid for the labour of the years. The financial remuneration has been modest, for the income of the Highway office will not allow for more than a token payment to the editors, but in other more important ways I have been well rewarded.

Writing is a profitable pursuit. It makes demands on the mind that enliven the mental processes, and in turn allows for expression of thoughts that have been stored away waiting for recording by voice or pen. And new thoughts are born out of the travail of laborious effort to communicate what is in the heart or brain.

Across the years I have been privileged to travel widely and minister to thousands through the Highway! To Canada and the United States, and from coast to coast in these countries, to England, Africa, India, the West Indies, and to other lands, I have journeyed in editorial communication. And I have met and ministered to people of many different denominations, for the King's Highway, though limited in volume circulation, is read in many lands and by people of many Church Groups. I wish now that I had kept records and letters that have passed through my hands.

I wish to express sincere appreciation to those who have spoken or written words of encouragement regarding editorials and articles from my pen. Such communications have helped to alleviate a painful sense of insufficiency. I shall long cherish the memory of these kind and thoughtful acts.

My thanks to the men who, serving on the Highway committee, have nominated me as Highway editor so many times; and thanks also to the members of the Alliance who so graciously approved the committee's nominations. I owe a debt of gratitude to Rev. E. W. Tokley, Associate Editor and Business Manager of the Highway during this last six-year term of my editorial service. Brother Tokley's patience, understanding, and brotherly kindness, as we have worked together under rather difficult circumstances, have been a strength and an inspiration to me.

It would be altogether impossible for me to list all the names of people who have helped me in this service. They are legion. To one and all I am deeply grateful. My most fervent thanks is reserved for the One Who has been my unfailing help and stay—the Lord Himself. I must acknowledge His grace and guidance that has been unfailing. To whatever extent my service has been acceptable and beneficial, I owe praise to the God of all grace. In times when the burden of my inability rested heavily upon me, I was conscious of His sympathy and concern.

May the vital ministry of the King's Highway continue until Jesus comes. May its message of "Holiness unto the Lord" continue to girdle the globe, so long as time endures. May multitudes be enlightened and edified through its messages yet unpublished. This is, and shall be, my earnest prayer!

THE NEW EDITOR

The September 15th. issue of the Highway will be prepared by Rev. L. K. Mullen, the new editor appointed by the Alliance.

Brother Mullen is highly qualified for this responsibility. In background, training, and experience, he is suited to the task. The son of one of our ministers, he has been closely associated with our work from infancy. Converted early in life, he later entered into a definite experience of heart holiness. He has been a faithful follower of the Lord for many years. Brother Mullen received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Eastern Nazarene College, and his Master's degree from Boston University. He has served on the faculty of Bethany Bible College and is in his fifth year as pastor of our church at Woodstock, N. B. He is presently Alliance Secretary, a member of the Alliance Executive, and also of the Bethany School Board.

We believe that the new editor will enjoy the sympathetic and prayerful support of our Highway family that previous editors have enjoyed. It is our hope that he will have a very happy and fruitful service in this place of the Lord's work.

"My mind was so full of service

I had drifted from Him apart,

And He longed for the old confiding,

The union of heart with heart.

I sought and received forgiveness,

While my eyes with tears were dim,

And now though the work is still precious,

The first place is kept for Him!"
