

directed the Conference programme efficiently, giving fine leadership throughout. The people of our Yarmouth, Sandford, and Port Maitland churches, provided entertainment for the visitors with characteristic hospitality. Local pastors worked hard to arrange numerous details related to the Conference and everything went smoothly. The evening meetings of the Conference were held in Wesley United Church, of Yarmouth, a building made available to us through the kindness of the minister and his people. The spirit of all the services was wonderful indeed and most helpful discussions followed presentation of papers by various men. In all it was a truly blessed Conference.

The Youth Rally . .

Memorial Hall, in the centre of the lovely campus of University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, N. B., was thronged with young people from our churches over the week-end of May 19-21. What a soul-thrilling sight! Hundreds of happy young people joined in Christian fellowship for an unforgettable week-end. The facilities of the meeting place were inadequate to accommodate the large attendance. The building was practically filled for the first service on Friday evening, and attendance increased steadily until many were unable to find seating on Sunday tho' every nook and corner of the building was used. Some from the local area did not attend the meetings on Sunday because they felt that there would be insufficient room to accommodate all who came.

Rev. Martin Cox, College pastor at Houghton College, Houghton, New York, got to the hearts of the young people in his ministry. Many of the youth expressed appreciation of his ministry and a good number sought help at the place of prayer. Song Evangelist Paul Mullen inspired all present with his splendid music, vocal and instrumental. Paul's sons, Dwight and David, sang and played with their dad, making a fine contribution to the musical programme of the Rally. Other talent gave valued assistance.

Merle Smith, Y. P. A. president, directed the Rally programme very capably, receiving strong assistance from other Y. P. A. officers. It seems that each of these rallies is better than the former. This year's was certainly a most fruitful meeting. What a wonderful group of young people we have! How thankful and thrilled we should be that God has given us such a large and devoted company!

Times of refreshing indeed! Fellowship so rich and inspiring! An expression heard at both the Ministers' Conference and the Young People's Rally: "It seems almost like Beulah!" Not quite, to be sure, but almost. And we hope that those who may have missed these meetings will be on hand for Beulah Camp Meeting!

DESCRIPTION OF EARLY CAMP MEETINGS

(Continued from Page 3)

five hundred lying thus. Some laid but a few minutes, others for hours. When they arose the first words they uttered were, 'Lord, have mercy upon me.' They gradually added more, and, at length, began to exhort.

I saw about three hundred of them exhorting at one time — some of them children, who were held up in arms or on the shoulders of men. One little girl, about nine years of age, was put on a man's shoulder, and delivered, I think, a body of divinity. At length, when exhausted, she sank back upon her upholder, upon which a man who stood near affectingly said, 'Poor thing, set her down.' She replied, 'Don't call me poor; I have Christ for my brother, God for my father, and am an heir to a kingdom.'

The King's Highway

"A TRIBUTE TO JACK"

by Ruth Black

Almost a year has passed since last Beulah Camp Meeting, but in fancy we are still hearing the sweet voices of more than a hundred children singing the praises of God in the Children's Tabernacle. The sound of those happy voices has echoed and re-echoed in our hearts during the year.

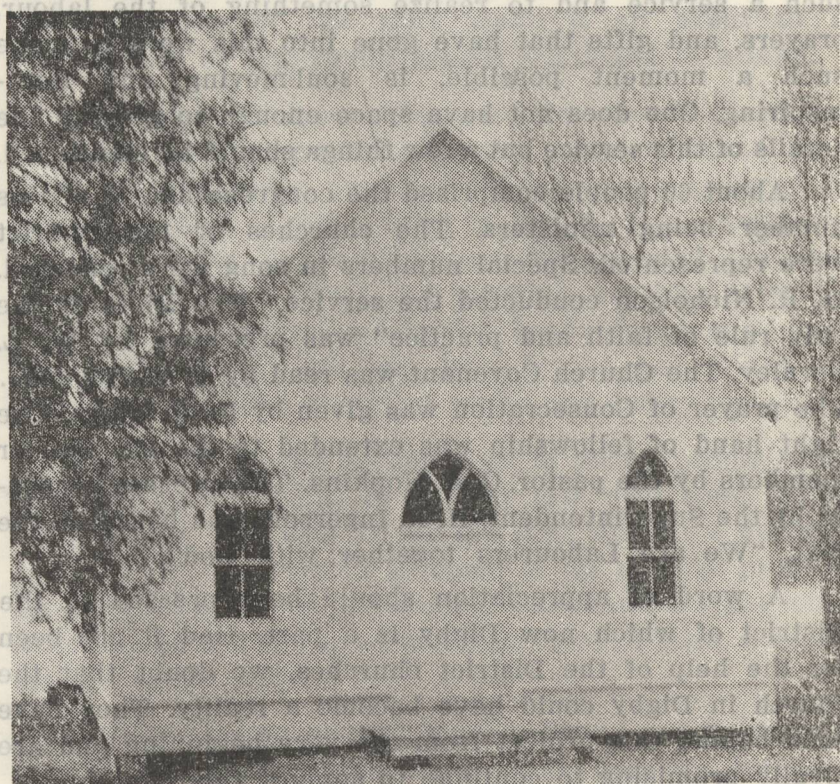

The marvel of God's leading a young man who "had a mind to work" and a heart concern for the "lambs" of our Church, was realized at the dedication ceremonies last summer. At that time we were made conscious of what a tremendous task had been accomplished and the wonderful way in which God had met every need as the work progressed.

At the close of last year's Vacation Bible School, the children were asked if they would like to show their appreciation for their new Tabernacle to the architect and building foreman, Rev. Jack Stevens, and they answered with a thunderous ovation, leaving no doubt as to their feeling of gratitude.

As parents and instructors of the children of our Church, we wish to add this tribute of thanks to Jack and his faithful corps of workers who laboured even into the night to accomplish the task they had undertaken. It is with pride that we, as members of the Vacation Bible School Family, can point to "our" Tabernacle, which is a monument of faith in our great Heavenly Father.

There is still work to be done to complete this project. There are furnishings needed. If you or your church can help please send contributions to Rev. J. A. Stevens, Bethany Bible College, Yarmouth, N. S.

The V. B. S. committee has been asked to select a name for the new Tabernacle. Have you a suggestion? If so, please send it or them along to Mrs. Leslie Black, 131 Phillips Street, Wollaston 70, Mass.

THE CHILDREN'S TABERNACLE
BEULAH CAMP GROUNDS

There is no delight like the delight of cleanness. There is no strength like the strength of purity. There is no beauty like the beauty of whiteness. And this cleanness, purity, and beauty come from no spring of earth. Wash thou me, and I shall be whiter than snow.—War Cry