MEDICAL SCHOOL INSPECTION TONSIL AND ADENOID CLINIC AT HAMPTON

The medical school inspection tonsil and adenoid clinic held under the direction of Department of Health Public Nursing Service, was carried on in the Consolidated school, Hampton, on Tuesday, August 3rd. Dr. DeLeV. Chipman, of Saint John, was the surgeon, and was ably assisted by Dr. A. T. Leatherbarrow and Dr. F. H. Wetmore of Hampton.

Inspector for Kings county schools, was present, and also Mr. Sydney Chipman, a medical student of Edinburgh University, who is spending his vacation here.

When Miss Huelota Dykeman, Director of Public Health Nursing Service, explained to the Women's Institute that to have the clinic they must at least raise one half of the money to finance it and that through their arrangements would be made, they decided to go ahead, and first visited all the children who had been recommended by Dr. King as being eligible for this operation, then a committee with Miss Margaret Turnbull, President, as convenor, looked into the social status of each case, so that there would be no exploiting of the service.

Mrs. P. J. Ellis of Saint John, was in charge of the clinic and was assisted by Miss Marion MacGowan of Saint John.

Miss Huelota Dykeman, Director of Public Health Nursing Service, was present and Mrs. Harley Jones, of Apohaqui, representing the Advisory Board of the Women's Institute, was also present.

The school for the time being was turned into an emergency hospital. The Domestic Science room was used as an operating room while the lunch room and corridor up stairs were used for recovery rooms. Those assisting with the clinic besides those mentioned were Miss Margaret Turnbull, Mrs. M. H. Parlee, Mrs. W. S. Morrison, Mrs. A. E. Coates, Mrs. C. J. Forrester, Mrs. Harry Robb, Mrs. C. J. Forrester, Mrs. Guy Keirstead, Mrs. Wallace Gilliland, Mrs. F. Vanwart, Mrs. F. M. Sproul, Mrs. George Barnes, Mrs. F. V. Wedderburn, Mrs. George Hallett, Miss Rose Ritchie, Miss Dean, Miss Wiggins, Mrs. Arthur Hayes, Mrs. Guy Humphrey, Mrs. Myles Fowler, Mrs. Porter, Mr. F. E. Keirstead, Mr. Aubrey Flewelling and Jean Stehelin.

There were 27 children operated on and all but three were school children. The operations were all successful and due to the excellent planning of Mrs. Ellis, nurse in charge, and the systematic way everything was carried out by those helping. Dr. Chipman was able to complete his work before 12 o'clock on Tuesday, almost two hours sooner than he had expected. Through the efforts of the doctors, nurses, and Women's Institute members, all the children were able to remain over night at the clinic and were well looked after by four trained nurses and by cars provided by J. Wm. Smith, Desmond MacPherson, Percy Freeze, and H. T. Stevens, to whom the Institute are very grateful.

A committee from the Institute consisting of Miss Turnbull, Mrs. Wedderburn, Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. Sproul, took charge of the school and before noon on Thursday the school building was in the same condition as it was before the clinic began. All cots, bedding, etc., being returned to the owners. Very much credit is due the ladies who had charge of this and the promptness with which everything was carried out.

On Tuesday afternoon a treat of ice cream was sent in to the clinic by Mrs. Leonard Fairweather and on Wednesday noon Mrs. Harold Fairweather supplied ice cream. Milk was given by several, and all was very much enjoyed by the children and appreciated by the Women's Institute.

Besides those mentioned giving cars were Mr. G. B. Hallett, and Mr. Fred Scribner, who rendered valuable service. Special mention should be made of the excellent work Jean Stehelin did. His duty was to help carry children to and from the operating room and he did faithful work. There are many others who assisted whose names may not appear here but all the members of the community took an interest and helped in every way possible and those in charge of the clinic take this opportunity of thanking all for their co-operation and the making of the clinic such a wonderful success.
