SPECIAL CHRISTMAS MUSIC AT UNITED CHURCH, APOHAQUI, ON SUNDAY EVENING NEXT.

Rev. Harry Harrison, pastor of the Apohaqui United Church, will conduct the Christmas service on Sunday evening, 20th inst., at 7.30. The order of service will be as follows:

Prelude.
Anthem, "Glory to God in the Highest."

Opening Prayer.
Hymn, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing."

Prayer.
Solo, "Hosanna." (R. A. VanAlsyke).

Mrs. George Short.
Scripture reading.

Hymn, "O Come, All Ye Faithful."
Sermon.

Offertory Voluntary.
Anthem, "Keeping Watch." (Caleb Simper).

Hymn, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear."

Benediction.
Vesper Hymn.

Voluntary.
Marjorie Jones, organist.

The church has been beautifully decorated with a profusion of evergreen, which with the stained glass windows recently placed adds much to the appearance of the interior.

The school boys are away to a good start in their bowling league, and are more than enjoying themselves every Saturday morning. They are taking great interest in the game, but would like to be encouraged by the presence of a few more spectators. Why not encourage the boy, when he wants to indulge in good clean, wholesome sport?

After Christmas they will bowl every Thursday afternoon after school, and every Saturday morning. A trophy has been offered for the league, also one offered for the boy having the highest single string, and for the other highest strings.

On Thursday night last a town league bowled 1520, having a single string of 551. There should be no trouble in getting a team to compete for the honors in St. John next spring.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by the grand-daughter of one of the participants, 10 white-haired men, slightly stooped and with faltering step, marched with 10 women, also gray and old, down the aisle of the Duvalle, Ill., Court House in an unusual golden wedding celebration. The men were Civil War Veterans, members of the Kenosaw Post of the G.A.R., all of whom had been married 50 or more years.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF MALCOLM MURRAY MCINTYRE, A GRADUATE OF MT. ALLISON 1925.—RECEIVED EARLY EDUCATION IN SUSSEX.

In the December 5th issue of the Mount Allison "Argosy" is published the biographies of graduates of 1925; among which is that of Malcolm Murray McIntyre, and it will no doubt prove interesting reading to Malcolm's school friends in Sussex.

The subject of the biographical sketch is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McIntyre, former residents of Sussex. The article in the "Argosy" is as follows:

"MALCOLM MURRAY MACINTYRE

It is often the custom of biographers, particularly in writing of college graduates, to eulogise the subject with forced and stilted lines of commendation. Thus many a man of mediocre ability may be elevated to dizzy heights of reputation, while a more worthy class mate drops below this level. Great reputations are measured by many balances, but flaws will be found when they are subjected to the close scrutiny of daily companionship.

Thus while the biography of Malcolm Murray Macintyre is being written, it will be sufficient praise merely to mention his many activities, and to add that "Big Mac" was always staunch, generous and sincere.

Mac's birthplace was Sussex, where his early education was received. Among the "Dairy Kings." When his family moved to Sackville, Mac went also, and graduated from Sackville High School.

Although a resident of the town, Mac has lived at various periods in the residence, and during these periods has held various offices, among which was the secretaryship of the Athletic Association.

Although Malcolm is not a lightweight, he nevertheless developed into a very swift forward on the varsity squad, where he played the position of scrum lock for three years. Not content with these laurels, he needs must seek fresh honors on the ice, where he played goal for his class team. His scholastic record was nothing short of brilliant, particularly in Philosophy and Geology, although he spent many anxious moments with reference to "Pro Marcello." But the silver tongued orator of Rome could hardly equal this later imitator in earnestness and tenacity. Very few will forget Mac's rebuttals in the interclass debates. His opponents will without doubt remember them.

The social side of Mac's life was hardly repressed for even in his freshman year, he deserted the stag-line, and sought the company of the freshettes. But later he emulated the Greeks, and wrought great works for a Helen. These were but lesser emotions, for in the concluding year he saw three visions at once, thrice fortunate man.

This year Mac is spending at Harvard Law School, in preparation for his chosen profession. I need not add that the good wishes of all will follow him.

LARGE NUMBER OF MEMBERS AND VISITORS PRESENT AT MEETING OF LOWER MILL-SRTEAM BRANCH OF WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Lower Millstream Women's Institute held their December meeting at the home of Mrs. George Smith, 1st vice-president, Mrs. W. W. McAuley presiding. Meeting opened by singing "O Canada." Minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. The secretary read acknowledgements for donations sent to the N. B. Protestant Orphanage, the Interprovincial Home for Women, the Maritime Home for Girls, and Halifax School for the Blind also an acknowledgement from Miss Nutter, superintendent of Women's Institutes, for pay for 26 copies of Home and Country, and $5.00 towards Federal allotment.

Mrs. F. T. Fenwick was re-appointed director on the board of district organization.

Arrangements were made for packing Christmas boxes to be sent to the aged and shut-ins of the community.

The committee will meet at the home of Mrs. John Ellison, Tuesday, Dec. 23.

Seventeen members answered roll call, with quotation from Tennyson. One new name was added to roll call, that of Mrs. Fred Fowler; two visitors were also present. Mrs. W. W. McAuley had charge of question box Mrs. W. R. Crothers and Mrs. George Ellison assisted.

On Friday evening, Dec. 4th, Miss Nutter and Miss LeBlanc gave a very interesting demonstration on the making of a paper dress form, at the home of Mrs. George Smith. A large number of members and visitors were present. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served and a hearty vote of thanks tendered the demonstrators.
