—There is evidence of either gross carelessness or willfulness on the part of some youths of the town. Recently, a sign at Dr. Wheaton's residence on Church Avenue, was broken by the throwing of stones or in some such careless way. This sign, which was erected at considerable expense, was so situated that the act could not very well have been accidental and the individual who is responsible should be punished. Another favorite pastime of the small boys is throwing stones at passing automobiles. A passenger in a car moving at all rapidly might receive very serious injury by being struck with one of these missiles, and parents should warn their children of the dangers of such a practice.
