People Will and Are Buying Phonographs Where Real Value Is Offered!!

Nineteen-Twenty-Six promises to be the most interesting year in the phonograph industry since its inception.

Already, major developments in the reproduction of sound from phonograph records have made their appearance following the introduction to the market of the new electrical recordings, which was a feature of the latter part of Nineteen-Twenty-Five.

Greater things are anticipated this year, and we believe may be confidently expected.

Keener interest is being displayed by the trade and the public everywhere, which is but the beginning of what will be a tremendous revival of interest in phonographs and records, exceeding all past performances in the history of the phonograph business.

PORTAGE VALE

March 9—One day last week Mr. Frank L. Smith, manager of J. A. Marven's "White Lily Farm," shipped from that farm eighteen dressed pigs and another one was kept home. The lot weighed around twenty-five hundred pounds. It was the largest shipment, at one time, of dressed pork that has been made from "White Lily Farm." Last fall several truck loads of live hogs were shipped to the packing plant at Moncton. Around fifty pigs are still being fed at the farm. The genial Mr. Smith is certainly making things go at "White Lily Farm." The splendid herd of pure bred, Government tested Holstein cows are this winter producing thousands of pounds of butter. Mr. Marven's "White Lily Farm" will be a bigger and better attraction the coming year than ever before, where Mr. and Mrs. Smith give visitors a splendid welcome.

Mr. Alvin Marks arrived home Friday night. He will remain here until the roads get in better shape.

River ice in places along the river is holding good. A number of the farmers were harvesting their ice last week.

Willie Bustin, a young son of Wm. Bustin, of Mechanic, recently captured a large wild cat near his home. It brought him nine dollars. Willie also has to his credit twelve or more weasels.

Mr. Ed. McNair, also of Mechanic, has caught around two dozen weasels. It looks as if the birds and rabbits in that locality will be on safer ground.

Your correspondent hopes that a stronger and bigger effort will be made by all those who can trap and destroy those animals that are so destructive to our birds, that already are far too scarce.

Mr. Chesley Dunfield, Anagance, is still confined to the house on account of rheumatism.
