"Finerty, I have a terrible toothache. It's so bad that my head feels like a steam-pump."
"Why don't you do what I did when I have toothache?"
"What's that?"
"I go home to my wife. She puts her arms around my neck, kisses me, smoothes my forehead and I forget all about it. Why don't you try it?"
"I will, Finerty. Is your wife at home now?"

Teacher: Use "cauterize" in a sentence.
Billy: I knew she was mine the moment I caught her eyes.

WEDDING BELLS

Lamb-Flewelling

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Flewelling, Clifton, N.B., at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, when their only daughter, Mildred Gordon, was united in marriage to Charles Oliver Lamb, of Reeds Point. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Reginald Britton, of Kingston, in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a dress of navy blue duchess satin, with grey trimmings and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses. After the ceremony the guests partook of a bountiful wedding supper. Their popularity was shown by the large number of beautiful wedding presents received.

Cannon-Parlee

A very pretty wedding took place at the Grace Methodist church, Cambridge, Mass., at 8.30 p.m. on April 28, 1926, when Rev. Mr. Chaffee united in marriage Miss Myrtle Winifred Parlee, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Parlee, of Millstream, N.B., and Ralph Chambers Cannon, formerly of Saint John. The double ring service was used and the bride and groom were unattended. The bride was dressed in a navy blue suit with grey shoes and stockings and hat to match. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion. After the ceremony they went to the home of the bride's sister, where a dainty luncheon was served. They left on the midnight train for New York. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Cannon will reside in Cambridge, Mass. The groom's gift to the bride was a white gold wrist watch.

COURT UPHOLDS WIFE, HUSBAND LOSES REALTY

New York—Supreme Court Justice Druhan in Brooklyn decided that when a woman has worked most of her married life and expended her earnings to support her family, her husband cannot compel her to turn over to him property in her name, bought out of accumulation of his income, made possible only by his wife's contributions to the family maintenance.

This decision was made in dismissing a suit brought by Samuel A. Burt against Mrs. Isabella A. Burt, whom he married forty years ago, to compel her to convey to him an apartment house at No. 5019 Eleventh Avenue, Brooklyn, where she now resides, valued at $75,000. The couple separated in January last year.

Mrs. Burt said she worked and used her earnings for maintenance of herself, her husband and their two sons, Albert and Horatio. The husband's contribution to the family exchequer never averaged more than $15 a week, Mrs. Burt added.

Dressmaking, running a rooming house, conducting a passapartout business and acting as a maid in a hotel, Mrs. Burt said, were some of the things she did to earn money for the family.

Justice Druhan upheld Mrs. Burt's contention, dismissed her husband's suit and granted her a separation, but no alimony.

Bumpus—I see you are taking your meals at the restaurant now.

McSmith—Yes, my wife has been elected president of some sort of a home improvement society.

AS CANADA IS

An Englishman resident in Canada writes to a Montreal newspaper some observations as to the reason of Canada's comparative tardiness in growth and development. He gives the following as his cure for present conditions:

"More overalls and fewer gaiters and cigarettes; more wheelbarrows and fewer automobiles; more scrubbing brushes and fewer cosmetics; more clean entertainment and good educational lectures and fewer degrading picture shows; more spades and fewer golf sticks."

We sometimes say that the 20th Century belongs of Canada. Well, if it does, a quarter of it has already slipped away and we have not yet set the St. Lawrence on fire. The News-Record has always maintained that Canada has a harder task ahead in making a great nation of herself than the United States had, in that we have beside us that country, with its teeming cities, which lure our young men and maidens with their luxury and glamor. There is the luxurious mode of living, which we cannot but try to ape. Then there is in Canada the higher state of civilization, so-called, with its education and culture, things, in themselves good and desirable.

which were no nearer than the other side of the Atlantic when the United States were young. And along with those things seems to come the mistaken idea that hard work is degrading and that people who still believe in it must be stupid and behind the time.

When the United States was in its growing state, everybody worked, had to. Luxuries were few and soft living was not for the ordinary person. Unless Canadian youth resolutely makes up its mind to take off its coat and go to it with a will, Canada will never attain the place she should attain in the great sisterhood of nations. Canada is a great country, all she needs today is a large enough army of sturdy sons and daughters with determination to give of their best energies for her development. 'Tis a worthy cause, too, enough to kindle the enthusiasm of the most sluggish blood, and Canadian blood is surely not to be described as sluggish.
