"IRISH LUCK"

A Trans-Atlantic Romance

"IRISH LUCK," a drama against a background of modern Erin, has a swift-moving plot, suspense thrills and heart-interest—and more—it has Tom Meighan in a dual role. Tom Geraghty adapted the story from Norman Venner's Saturday Evening Post serial, "An Imperfect Imposter." It gives a comprehensive record, in pictorial form, of the Killarney district, including Ross Castle, Muchcross Abbey, Colleen Bawn Rock, Bricksen Bridge, and the Meeting of the Waters, and also the famous Blarney Castle in Cork, Slane Castle overlooking the site of the Battle of Boyne, and many other scenes of historic interest.

Thomas Meighan in his first great Irish story. A Laugh, a Tear, a Gasps, and a Round of Applause. That's "Irish Luck."

Speaking of Irish Luck! Here's Tom playing TWO wonderful roles! The picture he went to Ireland to make.

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

How many times in a day do people rub their eyes and say "Gracious, I've had kind of a headache all afternoon." and then proceed to take a dose of something. They never think their eyes have anything to do with it. If you have headaches, pains in or around eyes, soreness top, back or side of the head, eyes run water, eyes blurred, etc. Our proper fitting glasses relieve these troubles.

Glasses sold on easy payments if preferred.

A general good time enjoyed. The Town aldermen and others were present as guests. Addresses were made by Aldermen Patterson, Vickers, Floyd, Jeffries and White.

A vote of thanks was tendered Chief Daly for his hospitality and also to Chief of Police Asbell for a donation of cigars and apples.

Care should be taken that the punishment does not exceed the guilt; and also that some men do not suffer for offences for which others are not even indicted.
