nac," yet supposing it to be but an old Almanac, its contents, the principles on which it is constructed may not grow quite so old as some modern patriots would wish it. Let our readers, but peruse the extract which precedes this article, it emanated twenty-one years ago from the pen of the Protestant Champion—the Rev. Sir Harcourt Lees Bart., he who has ever and always proved himself to be

The upright man, and of undaunted soul,
Firm to his purpose, and above controul,
From his resolves the Monarch's frown can't awe
Nor rabble fierce, who violate the law;
What man who reads these lines but in them sees,
A faithful portrait of Sir Harcourt Lees.

We ever did, and ever will entertain the opinion, that in a Protestant State, Roman Catholics are unfit to be entrusted with political power, nor are they, holding as they do, a divided allegiance; and acknowledging the Roman Pontiff as their supreme, and only head, (whatever privileges the Act 10 Geo. 4. may confer) qualified to hold office under a government which should be essentially and exclusively Protestant.

It is not now our intention to enter into a detail of the various concessions that have from time to time been granted to the Roman Catholics, during the last three quarters of a century. We shall only remark that the Romanists at first in 1757 solicited, and humbly begged as a boon the mere toleration of their faith and that their clergy should be permitted to exist by sufferance.

Protestants—yes, to their shame be it spoken Protestants of Britain first opened the gates of the Constitution to those who now seek to subvert what remains of it. We need not inform our readers that every concesssion granted to the Romanists, especially, from 1792 to 1829, only increased their demands—day after day, and year after year, did they annoy, and torment the Government to grant them that which under the specious plea of emancipation was to be a panacea for all their ills, but which we think will yet plunge Ireland into "perdition beyond redemption."

That revered Monarch George the 3d., had the courage to respect the oath which he subscribed at his coronation. He was a pious, and a good, not a profligate monarch. His son the late lamented Duke of York whatever his frailties may have been, followed in this respect, in the footsteps of his venerable parent. It must be fresh in the minds of many of our readers, how the Duke supported Protestantism, and opposed Romanism, and the noble stand he made for the church. They must remember his speech in a debate on the Roman Catholic Question, it is now more than 16 years since that speech was delivered, yet it is still fresh in the minds of all.

RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT.—We expressed our opinions on this political hobby last week, with a promise that we would notice the subject more at large. We suppose that all who are anxious to behold their country well governed, will agree with us that we should strive to obtain "the greatest good for the greatest number." We consider the British Government, as at present constituted, most admirably calculated to prodce this effect. The office of Chief Magistrate is hereditary, and therefore he has no occasion to become a tool of a party, and carry on a system of intrigue, to ensure his re-election; and he must be a very bad man indeed, if he would maltreat those who are looking up to him with reverence, and affection! The House of Peers represent the wealth of the nation, and the House of Commons the interests of commerce, and of the working classes, while, each of the three estates, is an effectual check on the other two. There, the principles of "responsible government" are recognised; and it is generally understood—although there is no law to that effect, that the great officers of the Crown should possess the confidence of the House of Commons. But how absurd to think the same principles can be carried into effect in the Colonies! or rather that it would be attended with beneficial results. Here we have no monarch with an aristocracy of wealth and intellect rallying around him, but a Governor, perhaps, but recently arrived, ignorant in a great measure of the state of the colony; and, who will of course look for advice to the members of the Executive Council.—Now if those Councillors must be such men as the House of Assembly approve of, it must necessarily follow that the House of Assembly will possess an undue influence over the Governor and his Councils. Again:—here we have no middle estate, no House of Lords, to maintain the balance of power, but a Legislative Council, appointed by the Governor; and if the Executive Councillors, whose business it is to advise the Governor, are tools of the Assembly, it follows of course that the Legislative Council would soon become the same:—in fact, that the whole power would be given unto the House of Assembly! for if the Governor should be independant enough to resist their impudent demand, they would 'kick up a shindy" in the manner our representatives (?) did with Sir Archibald Campbell; and by their machinations effect his removal! Now, we would ask those who are clamouring for "Responsible Government," if our House of Assembly does not possess power enough? nay more, if it does not possess too much? We are certain that no one will attempt to deny but they do:—they have, since the management of the casual and territorial revenue was placed in their hands, the power of squandering and misappropriating money abstracted from the pockets of the people. This is a power which should never have been granted them, for they have applied a large proportion of it for electioneering purposes; and instead of our present House of Assembly being the true and legitimate representatives of the people, they have in many instances, obtained their seats by indirect bribery! and must we give those men absolute power? God forbid! but let us never rest till we deprive them of that which they have gained by deception and misrepresentation, and wickedly abused:—let us never rest till we have placed a check upon their misdeeds. How preposterous to speak of responsible government, in a colony where it is probable, nineteen-twentieths of the population are totally ignorant of what is or is not, good for the country.—No! let us not be the dupes of designing plunderers, and if we have not an aristocracy of wealth, let us at least have an aristocracy of intellect; and let the different branches of Government be a check upon each other.

We perceive that the two able correspondents of the New Brunswicker—Lanty Brine and Morgan Rattler—continue to show up the high-handed acts of wholesale plunder perpetrated by our self-styled Representatives during the last six years. It has been urged by the enemies of reform, that the parties who are making those "awful disclosures," have been no better themselves, and that they are actuated by the basest of motives, viz:—a desire to obtain for themselves the situations of the parties whom they accuse of a direliction of duty. What care we if this should be so? We know not who are the authors of the letters in question, neither do we care!—and we are alike ignorant and careless of their motives! it does not concern us nor the public! it is none of our business! But this do we know, that the writers in question have laid bare, schemes and deeds of corruption which every honest man should shrink from; and that making the people of this Province acquainted with the manner in which their hard-earnings have been expended, cannot fail of being productive of good; in as much, as the disease must be known before the remedy can be applied.

Human Hair.

Cleanliness of the Head and Hair.

Strange it is that persons who attend strictly to personal cleanliness, baths, &c. should neglect the Head—the hair—the most essential—the most exposed—and the most beautiful when properly cared for, of all the gifts of the Creator. Perfectly free may it be kept of dandruff or scurf with the certainty that the hair cannot fall out, by the use of the Balm of Columbia. Ladies, will you make your toilet without this article. I answer fearlessly, no, if you have once tried and experienced its purifying effects—its sweet perfume.

A hundred articles have been put forth on the credit of this—the only first—the only real valuable article. A mass of testimony from all classes to these facts.

Look out.—Counterfeits are abroad look always for the name of Comstock & Co on the splendid wrappers and never buy it without the same.

From the Boston Chronicle, January 16.

☞ We see by an advertisement in another column that Messrs. Comstock & Co., the agents for Oldridge's Balm of Columbia, have deputies to sell that article in Boston and elsewhere.—We know a lady of this city whose hair was so nearly gone as to expose entirely her phrenological developements, which, considering that they betokened a most amiable disposition, was not in reality very unfortunate. Nevertheless she mourned the loss of locks that she had worn, and after a year's fruitless resort to miscalled restoratives, purchased, some months ago, a bottle of Oldridge's Balm, and she has now ringlet in rich profusion, glossy, and of raven blackness. We are not puffing—none of the commodity has been sent to us, and, indeed, we do not want any, for though we were obliged to wear a wig a year ago, we have now, through its virtue, hair enough, and of a passible quality, of our own.

The Mechanic & Farmer.

The Advocate of Industry and Improvement in Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts.

Neutral in Politics and Religion.

THE Proprietors of the Pictou Mechanic & Farmer have much pleasure in representing to their readers the Prospectus of the Fifth Volume, to be commenced on the 18th of May, 1842.

The Mechanic & Farmer will be greatly enlarged: it will contain an additional column on each page, and will be extended proportionably in length: it will appear in an improved dress, and be otherwise rendered more deserving of the extensive patronage it has already received.

As a decided improvement in the general features of the paper, each number will contain a full description of at least one new invention or improvement in the Agricultural or Mechanical Department, which will be illustrated weekly by an engraving. No invention or improvement in Agriculture or Mechanics worthy of being published will be allowed to pass unnoticed; and the publishers are determined to render the Mechanic and Farmer the best Agricultural and Scientific Journal in the British North American Colonies.

Postmasters and others favourable to the object of our enterprise, are respectfully requested to act as Agents. Names for the new volume will require to be forwarded early in May. All letters to be post paid.

☞ Though the paper will be greatly enlarged, there will be no addition to the price, and it will thus be rendered the cheapest periodical in the Province.

TERMS:—If paid within three months $2 1-2; after that period $3; Mail papers $3 1-2 if not paid at or before the close of the volume 3 copies sent to one address for $6 per annum, remitted in advance: 5 copies for $9, and eight for $12.

NOTICE TO ## EMIGRANTS,
ARRIVING AT THE PORT OF SAINT. JOHN (N. B.) AND OUT BAYS.

WHEN the visiting Medical Officer has inspected the Emigrants and discharged the vessel with a clean Bill of Health, they will be visited by Mr. Wedderburn, the Government Emigrant Agent for the Province, who will afford them instructions and assistance in procuring Employment—public lands and private farms—as their cases may require.

Immigrants are earnestly cautioned not to remain idle in town, where the expences of living will greatly impair whatever means they possess. These should be carefully husbanded, to enable them to settle in the country without delay.

Facilities of conveyance are found by Steamboats and other vessels, to many of the most eligible points for settlement and employment in the Country. Steamers leave this place or Indian Town (close by) every morning and evening for Fredericton (the capital) passing through Gagetown—the shire town of Queen's County—and Oromocto of Sunbury, After leaving Fredericton conveyances are found by water &c., to any part of Prince William and adjacent Parishes, onward to Woodstock, Brighton, & county of Carleton. Between St. John and Fredericton are the extensive Farming districts of Sheffield and Maugerville, with the Lakes of Grand Lake, and Washademoiac, Inslet Bsllisle, River Kennebecasis, and surrounding settlements accessible at all times in summer by Covered Wood boats. Besides the Kennebecasis River there is a main post road to Kingston, Hampton, Norton, and Sussex Vale; in King's County, which leads to Petitdiac, Sackville and Dorchester, in Westmoreland, whither also there is a water communication on the Bay of Fundy, with opportunity of landing at Quacco (St. John county) Shepody or Hopewell, Memramcook, and the bend of Petitcodiac, from which there is a land carriage to Shediac, of abou 14 miles on the way to Richibucto and Miramichi. To the westward Steamers and sailing vessels also ply regularly viz, to Campo Bello, St. Andrews, and St. Stephens in the County Charlotte, where Emigration societies are established, and b- whom every attention will be shown to forward the Emigrant's views.

The Crown Lands are sold by the Government here on very moderate terms, and the Emigrant Agent earnestly recommends to them to form themselves into Associations for immediate settlement before leaving the vessels; they will then without delay be enabled to proceed either to the vicinity of friends who may reside in the country, or form locations on the several surveys recently made for that purpose, by order of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council—viz: the Victoria, Tryon and Albert Settlements.

The industrious of all classes of Immigrants, need apprehend no want of success in this Province, if they steadily persevere in their avocations. The Emigrant Agent will also afford any aid in arranging for passages from Great Britain and Ireland, for any parties who may be desirous to join their connexions or others in this Province.

It is very desirable that those arriving should bring with them testimonials of Character from persons of known respectability at Home.

A. WEDDERBURN.
G. E. A. for N. B.

N. B.—The Emigration Society—of which His Worship the Mayor is President, will furnish Passes for employment to the respective District Agents in the Country.

A. WEDDERBURN,
