ENCAENIAL PROCEEDINGS

New Buildings Dedicated

On Tuesday afternoon of Encaenia week the Library and the Forestry and Geology buildings were formally dedicated, Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., LL. D., making the official dedicatory address in his last appearance as New Brunswick Premier. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Scovil Neales, M. A., D. D., Dean of Fredericton. Other speakers were Hon. H. H. McLean, Lieut. Governor of New Brunswick, Hon. C. D. Richards, Minister of Lands and Mines, to whose interest the erection of the new buildings is largely owed, Charles Camsell, LL. D., Deputy Minister of Mines,, Ottawa, Dr. Howe, Dean of Forestry, University of Toronto, and G. H. Prince, Deputy Minister of Lands and Mines.

The absence of Sir George E. Foster, who had been expected to speak to the graduating class as well as at the dedicatory ceremony, was deeply regretted by the student body and friends of the University.

The Final Ceremony

Amid the flurry of dances, farewell dinners, and other social activities marking the close of another college year in traditional manner, the 131st class to go from the portals of U. N. B. went smiling bravely to meet the cold, cruel world. Sixty degrees were conferred in all, fifty-four bachelors' degrees to the Class of '31, another bachelor's degree given ad eundum to a graduate of Bishop's College, and five masters' degrees to former graduates.

His Honor the Lieut. Governor presided at the exercises. Candidates for degrees in Applied Science were presented by Dr. John Stephens and those for degrees in Arts by Prof. R. E. D. Cattley. Addresses were made by Dr. C. C. Jones, Dr. Upton Hill, of the Acadia faculty, and J. McK. Limerick, the
