STUDENT GOSSIP

COME TO THE POINT
Steeves, '34: "My girl is like a poem?"
Thomas, '32: "How's that?"
Steeves: "Wait'll you meter."

CAUTIOUS
1st Co-ed (at Junior Tea): "Is anybody looking?"
2nd Co-ed: "No."
1st Co-ed: "Then we don't have to smoke."

HAVE A HEART
Morris, '33: "Did you see that girl smile at me?"
McBride, '34: "Yes, the first time I looked at you I had to smile too."

SURE SIGNS
Stephens, '34: "Certainly I'm going to be an aviator. Why, I've been air-minded for years."
Black, '34: "Well, I guess I better report to a garage. I've been tow-headed ever since I was born."

ALAS, TOO TRUE
Strange, '34: "Didn't you see me at the dance? Why, I saw you twice." Scovill, '33: "I never notice people in that condition."

DO YOU KNOW
That flag-pole sitters are unheard of in Java.
Of the Juniors and their tea.
Sing the glorious days renowned.
When to eat and dance come forth.
All the strength of Davy's Crown.
And "Old Yellow Boots" was there
With his fiddle.

With apologies to Messrs. So and So,

Model Assembly

the use of gasses, chemicals and bacteria in war, that the expenditures of nations on armaments should be limited, and the report also advocated the annexation by the Governments of firms manufacturing war munitions and supplies.

These proposals met with opposition from Albania, represented by Mr.
Angus Cameron. He contended that the changes were too drastic and too sweeping to be effective at the present time. He also protested that the figures given had been chosen arbitrarily and therefore would not be fair to many of the countries. Particularly he cited the case of the British Navy and French Army reductions when he pointed out that both would be reduced far below the absolute need.

The Assembly was then thrown open for general discussion of the subject in order to give the nations an opportunity to express their opinions.

U.N.B. HAS NAMED DEBATING TEAM TO MEET KING'S

Bob Bayley, C. Creighton and L.
Machum Will Argue for Restriction of Mongolians

At the trial debate held in the Mathematics room of the Arts building on Monday evening, Lloyd Machum and Robert Bayley, of Fredericton, and C. Creighton, of Saint John, were selected to represent U. N. B. on the Inter-collegiate Team which will debate King's College late in March. U.
N. B. will support the affirmative of the resolution, "Resolved, that the Caucasian race, to preserve its own dominance, should limit the Mongolian peoples to the territory which they now hold."

Bert Sutherland, John Hudson and Mr. Ozanne also participated in the debate, and they made splendid impressions with their speeches.
Dr. Jones, Prof. MacPherson and Prof. Burton Kierstead acted as judges.

Oil Industry

The geological aspects of the problem were then discussed and the formation and storage of oil in the earth, and the methods by which oil geologists select positions for exploratory wells were shown. Certain geological structures have been found that are particularly favorable to the production and preservation of oil, and the work of the geologist consists in identifying these localities and surveying the best positions for experimental drilling.

Are you satisfied with the present levy? If not see Model Budget, page two.

Mock Parliament

Only one other item came under consideration at this meeting, and that was in regard to whether U. N. B. should enter the McTier Cup play-downs next year. The bill, which would confine our Football ambitions to the obtaining of the Maritime Intercollegiate Title, was presented by Henri Clavette. Those present was almost unanimous in support of the bill.
The C. O. T. C. and its attendant evils will feature the discussion of the next parliament. It promises to be a lively session.
