STUDENT GOSSIP

Burdo: "I hear that the sale of the Brunswickan has increased since my picture was in it." Goodine: "Yes, I saw a man going out York street and seeing a copy in Griffiths' window he went in and said, I want a copy of that 'College Humour' in the window."

Prof. MacPherson: "Did you knock your mid-terms cold?" Ogilvie, '35: "Yes, in fact I got zero on most of them."

Strange, '34: "Tell me the truth, honey. Has any other fellow ever kissed you like this before?" Wanda, '33: "Yes, my kid brother."

Palmer, '34: "I can't light this match, my foot is too small." Peck: "Scratch it on your, er—better let me light it for you."

Lee, '34: "Give me a remedy for blisters on the lip." Richardson, '34: "Use onions; they will keep the chaps away."

Our Chemical Genii Jim Peter's Chemical Analysis of the Element "Woman".

Occurrence: Found wherever man exists; seldom in the free state; with few exceptions, the combined state is preferred.

Physical Properties: All colours and sizes, usually in disguised condition. Face covered with a film of composite material. May freeze at any moment, but melts when properly treated—proper treatment unknown—Very active, possesses great affinity for gold, silver, platinum and precious stones. Is able to absorb food at any time. Turns green when placed beside a better looking specimen. Fresh variety has great magnetic attraction, but is inclined to age very rapidly.

Ross Moore says:
The action of Potassium Iodide and Sulphur is expressed thusly:
KI + 2S = KISS

The action usually takes place in the absence of light and is accompanied by heat and a small crackling sound.

Smith, '34: "I thought you were going to kiss me when you puckered your lips just now."

Campbell, '34: "No, er — it was only a piece of grit in my mouth."

Smith (sighing): "Then, for goodness sake, swallow it. You need some in your system."

Annie, '32 (suspiciously): "You kiss me as though you were an old hand at it."

Webb, '34: "How do you know?"

THE C. O. T. C. A CLASSIC HERITAGE

(Dalhousie Gazette)

In view of the present controversy surrounding the COTC the Editor has seen fit to appoint a special investigator into and about that institution.
The report of the investigator has been tabled. It is far too exhaustive for publication so the Editor ventures to present only a few parts.

Contrary to prevailing opinion the OTC is an institution of long standing in human society. It is now established beyond dispute that the Heidelberg Man was an active member of one of the first OTC's in existence. Moreover all the great nations of the world have had OTC's with the exception of Persia and Siam. In the former country a clause banning the OTC was inserted in the roll of the laws by a pacifist scribe and the decree was signed by King Darius when he was in his cups. The law of the Medes and Persians being immutable this unfortunate provision cannot be removed.

In Siam the King is reputed to have ruined the budding organization by the annual endowment of a herd of white elephants. Members of the COTC to this day wear a white band in loving memory. It is also reported that the art of goat-stealing was developed in the days of history under the auspices of the Arabian OTC. The interesting fact has come to light that the dove of olive-branch fame was dispatched from the Ark at the instigation of the Noah Company OTC, the only one in existence at that time. An eminent historian of the time quotes Moses as saying, that with an efficient OTC he could have made the Promised Land in six weeks. The first tablet of the original manuscript of Homer's immortal epic, the Odyssey, recently discovered in the publisher's waste-stone chasm, bears the original title of the poem, the OTC. The error is indubitably due to subtle pacifist propaganda. Later the Greek OTC distinguished itself against the Persians who as we have seen were not permitted this ingenious system. Hannibal, one of the finest specimens the OTC ever turned out, was ever mindful of the early training he received through it. One of the war elephants which he led across the Alps was named OTC. The elephant unfortunately died in the mountain snows, but Hannibal, not to be deterred, decreed that the nearby peak should be named OTC and such it has remained all these years in the Swiss corruption Matterhorn. The Romans would never have gained a footing in Britain had not the Celt OTC been engaged in sham battle with the Pict OTC at Stonehenge. One of the most potent oaths ever used by Richard Coeur de Leon was "By my OTC." An outstanding Barbary corsair is authority for the statement that nobody could pull a galley like the OTC. The fore-father of all American OTC's was organized in Oklahoma by the Kiowash Indians and proved an outstanding success. An unidentified person, the first American prohibitionist in Central Africa, was eaten by a native OTC at the annual smoker.

The Editor regrets that space does not permit the inclusion of more of these interesting facts. He believes, however, that enough has been quoted to convey the idea of the glorious past of this gallant organization. In case there should still be doubters he appends the following quotations which appear in the report.

ADMIRAL LORD NELSON—England expects every man to join the COTC.

CARRIE NATION—Down with the saloons! We shall use the COTC if necessary.

DUKE OF WELLINGTON—(Telescope to blind eye) I cannot see anything inconsistent in the COTC in Dalhousie.

PATRICK HENRY—Give me COTC or give me death.

TUBAL CAIN—I owe my start in business to the OTC.

CAROL I. OF RUMANIA—I don't want to go home. I prefer to remain in the COTC.

R. B. BENNET—Markets! I shall blast them open with the COTC.

J. H. THOMAS—The COTC is 'um-bug.

CHIC SALE—Efficiency is everything. Drill in the COTC.

PRESIDENT HOOVER—I shall appoint a commission of enquiry.

MACKENZIE KING—I am plunged in the valley of humiliation. Not a five cent piece for COTC.

WOODROW WILSON—It will make the world safe for hypocrisy.

TARZEN OF THE APES—I have found COTC methods very effective for organizing my apes.

MAJOR McCLEAVE—I am proud of the institution in which I hold an honorary commission.

Errata—Further information obtainable at HQ of COTC.

Battle of Giants

lost a wonderfully contested struggle to the Caledonia Miners, the season's only defeat to date, and now they are prepared to face the vanquishers of the McCarthy clan. Saturday's showing has not dampened her backers' feelings for it was a generally tired and unconditioned team that wore the Red and Black against the old City rivals, a team full of colds, and weary —which after the week-end's rest and with the support it deserves from the lines, should carry the day and bring the old mug back to College atmosphere.

The scrum will have a day's work to perform against the weighty Haligon-ians and U. N. B.'s fate rests on the speed of the backfield.

A contest in which big and husky yets will vie with spirited youths—and youth must be served!

The Halifax Men's Club will probably field last Saturday's line-up, consisting of fullback Edwards; three-quarters, McDougall, Hunter, Young, McCoy; halves, Buckley, (Capt.), Thompson, Piers; scrum, Hamilton, Boyd, Herman, Grant, Dompliere, Duffus and Oxner.

Coach Burden will make his choice from some twenty players, among whom are Lee, Pond, Hyslop, Oldham, Douglass, Goodine, Dooley, Chalmers, McNichol, Gibson, Adams, Burke, Mc-Lenahan, Daughney, Fradsham, Watson, McAulay, Thomas, Patterson, Pickard.
