THE RIFLE TEAM

How many Championships of National, or equally extensive competition have we held at this university? Quite a few Maritime titles no doubt, and for a few, short years we held a Cup emblematic of the Rugger Supremacy of Eastern Canada. It seems strange however, when we come to realize that we have on our campus at the present time, a truly championship team which won its way through competition with the leading universities in Canada, to finally emerge at the top—Dominion Champions, the holders of the prized D. C. R. A. Cup; and yet, few students have ever seen the cup and to the majority of students, the members of that Rifle Team are merely names.

The Rifle Association continues on its quiet way however, fostered by the much abused C. O. T. C. and supported through strictly military connections. It is an independent group within the college, free from any obligations to the Students' Union and draining nothing from the students' purse; and yet, of all the sporting activities of the university, devoid of ballyhoo and lacking the enthusiastic support of ardent undergraduates, it secured the only Dominion Championship ever to come to the University of New Brunswick.

The Rifle Association demands no dramatic acclamation from the student body; shooting is carried out smoother and with better results, without a gallery of enthusiasts upon the ranges. One thing we can do however, is to extend our best wishes to the members of the team and trust that that they will maintain their supremacy in the competition to be shot Saturday.

DRAMATICS

As we go to press the University Dramatic Society moves toward new productions. The Brunswickan urges the support of the students for these plays and for the Society itself. It is inconceivable that the student body has no taste for the dramatic art. Yet in the past few years the painstaking efforts of the Society have been poorly supported. And this year the Dramatic Society is taking even more pains in an effort to arouse the interest of the students. The production rights of two splendid one-act plays have been purchased, and the third is a murder play in a local setting, written by Mrs. B. S. Keirstead. The admission price will be extremely low. Should the students again fail to show interest, the Dramatic Society, kept alive only by the faith which its executives still hold in the student body, will become as inactive as the Arts and Debating Societies—unwilling victims of disinterestedness.

TO THE EDITOR

Fredericton, N. B.
November 6, 1933.

To the Editor-in-Chief,
Brunswickan.

On Saturday we commemorate Armistice Day. We honor the sacrifices made by thousands of Allied soldiers who fought and died "to make the world safe for democracy" in "the war to end wars."

As we look at the world we wonder if they did not fight and die in vain. Democracy is declining and in greater danger now than in 1914. They rid the world of a royal despot. In his place have arisen demagog lecturers who are a greater menace.

We used to think that the sacrifice was not in vain, that the Great War had taught us that war is futile. Some learned the lesson. War is futile. Not only that, but war is the greatest danger facing our civilization.

On Saturday Herr Hitler is seeking the approval of the German people. He will get it. There will be more war talk. The war-monger will be busier than ever. Whether there will be war will depend primarily on Hitler.

It is likely that he will demand greater armaments for Germany. It is just as likely that they will be refused. On what he does then will hang the fate of the world.

If crazy Europeans decide to fight another war, our peaceful protests will not be heard. We can keep Canada out. It might involve leaving the British Empire, but we can keep Canada out. Let it be known that we have learned the lesson of the Great War. Let it be known that fifty thousand Canadians did not die in vain.

Amor Paris.

To the Editor,
The Brunswickan.
Dear Sir:—

About the end of this month the Dramatic Society is going to produce three one-act plays. To the freshmen this may be news; but to the upper classmen it sounds like a habit. But rather it is the breaking of a habit! Things are being done differently this year. To begin with a considerable amount of money is being expended on royalties in order that a new type of play may be staged. We have come to the conclusion that the public has had ample sufficiency of Shaw, Milne and Jacobs. A change is necessary if we are to draw a crowd, and a change has been made.

The plays have been most carefully selected. They differ completely from anything we have hitherto produced. The Society offers them in the spirit of — "If you won't go to these, then you won't go to any."

Yours sincerely,
A. Harold Walker.

The Editor-in-Chief,
The Brunswickan.
Dear Sir,

For two years I have regretted one feature of your otherwise admirable paper, and that is the "scandal" column. However, Sir, I understand that you are bound to some extent, to satisfy the literary tastes of what must be a considerable number of your public. In short, Mr. Editor, if "barnyard" wit is demanded, "barnyard" wit must be supplied. For this reason I have been silent for two years. But in your last issue, that of Nov. 2., inaccuracies have spurred me to this action. It has come to my notice that in the so-called "Campus Keyhole" column, malicious libel was printed concerning a young lady of the university. So I write, Sir, to give that story the lie direct and to beg you to either remove the offending bilge completely for all time from the paper or, if that be impossible, to keep it so nearly accurate as the intelligence of its moronic authors will permit.

"VEE"

Ontario has produced in the last decade gold to the value of $350,000,000 and Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines, predicts a total output of $62,000,000 this year. It is claimed that in a few years Canada will take the lead in world gold development.
