

Saint John Trumps Defeat Varsity Squad 32 to 20 In Play-Off

Lanky Centre Was Decided Asset For Victors

A tall, lanky centre who continually took his position beneath the Varsity basket and thrust shot after shot over the rim, proved the theory that a lengthy player of average ability is more effective than his faster and shorter brethren, in the U. N. B.—Y. M. C. A. Trumps of Saint John, basketball game held in the college gymnasium, Friday night. The elongated Lawlor contributed 21 points of his team's 32, and to his height alone can the Trumps attribute their success in defeating the Varsity squad by a meagre two points in the first of the home-and-home series to decide the intermediate championship of New Brunswick. The final game of the series will be played in Saint John on Wednesday night.

The Saint John squad proved to be a fast-working and accurately-shooting aggregation which relied on practically flawless team-work in working the ball down the floor and then used Lawlor's height to advantage. Not only by his scoring capability alone did the lengthy lad prove effective, but also in his ability to take advantage of the numerous fouls called on members of the other team, who transgressed in an effort to bottle him up.

The Varsity squad played basketball which was for the most part, on a par with that of their opponents. They were not so consistent however, and although at times, almost brilliant in their passing and team-work, were not as a whole up to the standard evidenced in former games. They broke through for shots time and again, only to throw them wild when scoring seemed inevitable. The number of foul shots thrown away was sufficient to have given them a comfortable margin on the series. Donaldson was high-scorer for the collegians and Lilley, Thomas and McKinnon obtained the bulk of the remaining points.

CO-EDS DEFEAT NORMAL SCHOOL BY BIG MARGIN

Varsity Not At Full Strength
—Nugent and Lowe High Scorers

The University Co-ed Basketball Team defeated Normal School 35-13 in a preliminary game, Friday night, as a sequel to a game played Wednesday last, at which time the Normal School girls entertained the Co-eds in the P. N. S. gymnasium. The Varsity girls did not play at full strength as Molly Burt, outstanding forward, was suffering from a sprained ankle and Helen Neill was unable to play. Pauline Merrithew was back in her old position at guard however, and proved effective although newly back on the floor following recovery from a strained side, received in the first Mount Allison encounter. The Varsity squad displayed superior combination and were easy winners over the student teachers. Miss Lowe was high-scorer for P. N. S. with eight points, and Florence Nugent with ten, led the college scoring and displayed some of her old skill at snap shooting.

The teams:

Normal Girls
	Goals	Fouls	Pts.
Lockhart, g.	0	0	0
Chestnut, g.	0	0	0
Spinney, c.	2	1	5
