It is a time for lamentation — not for reproof. Due to the inconveniences of time-tables and the general tendency to regard Union Meetings as unimportant (the two very important as far as Sports is concerned) Student meetings of last week fizzled out. But again we say that, at least for those interested in Farm and inter-class hockey, there remains merely regret.

Had a quorum been present the hockey situation for the coming season would undoubtedly have been modified to a great extent — and undoubtedly for the better.

In the past, intra-mural sports have greatly helped to bring out such latent ability in the varsity candidate-to-be. At present, intra-mural sports can, and is, doing the same thing, the only provision being that there be intramural sports, that it be encouraged and that it be made attractive.

It seems that some F'ton citizen had a most advantageous — for the college — proposition to place before us, concerning the building of a rink at college field.

But naturally he could not wait until the required third of three hundred and ten students could acquire the interest to go to a Union meeting — He had insight, for somehow he suspected just how long that wait would be.

The honors of fall inter-class competition seems to have been quite unevenly divided, with the edge shown by the Junior class.

The Senior class carried off the football title, the Sophomores took the track meet, the Juniors captured the Softball championship, and it remained for the third year students to annex the other two intramural sports, namely, swimming, and basketball.

In both the last named events the Juniors showed particularly well, winning the basketball league without the loss of a game and sweeping through the swimming meet with a lead of almost as much again as its nearest rival.

Let's see you go next term, Frosh. You can redeem your lagging with a win in hockey.

Ted Tweedie has repeated his win of last year by successfully defending his Men's singles Badminton championship. He defeated Dow Kitchen, not however until three hard fought sets had been played.

Kitchen proved the cause of two upsets in the course of the men's event. He unexpectedly came through against Rawland in a comparatively easy manner and in the semi-final match won from Ken Bailey who was looked upon as a threat by those "in the know".

Country Gardens.....

Yes Johnny, but please observe that any of this "quoting" has behind it the idea of correcting you in some of your ideas concerning "good old U. N. B." However as you say, we're having lots of Fun.

By the way, when you wish to quote from our sheet, do so with the fair notion of imparting to your readers the same idea which we obviously wish to impart. We shall do the same.....O. K.?

Norman Laidlaw, the latest Rhodes scholar, is remembered by many of the upperclassmen as a real sprinter. The last time the intercollegiate track meet was held at College Field, Laidlaw ran some nice dashes, taking the 100 and 220.

The gymnasium is sadly in need of repair. This season there will probably be the usual handicap of having spectators along the sides and in the corners of the floor space, but certain minor improvements could be very easily arranged. The lighting is very bad. The lights are altogether gone from one corner, and are weak in other sections. The floor itself is in no condition to allow fast basketball. It is so slippery that quick starting and stopping, essentials in a fast game, are almost impossible. It is a common thing to see a player paw the floor a few times before actually getting under way. With the coming of the holiday, an attempt should be made to recondition the floor and repair the lights, in order to have everything ready for the real season after Christmas.

CO-EDS PLAN BIG SEASON

Due to the fact that exams are only a week away the coeds have decided to stop all basketball activities until the Christmas season is over. Inter-class basketball will be continued next term and it is hoped that a series of basketball games can be arranged with Normal School and possibly Marysville. The girls are also looking forward to at least one basketball trip which is, after all, a small reward considering the amount of work they do all year.

The turn-outs up to the present date have been most gratifying and the team seems to have encountered no difficulty in getting into its stride. The co-eds have expressed perfect satisfaction with their coach "Doug" Gomeroy and with everything working so smoothly there is no reason why the team should not be quite as successful as it was last year.

TRY-CORNERED LEAGUE MEETS MT. A. APPROVAL

According to work received by Manager K. Smith from Secretary Lister of the N. B. Intercollegiate Hockey League, Mount Allison University is in favor of the proposed entry of St. Joseph's University into the league, so making possible a three-cornered series which will undoubtedly add greater interest to college hockey within the province.

BADMINTON CROWN AGAIN TO TWEEDIE

Defeats Dow Kitchen In a Three Set Final 8-15, 15-1, 15-2; In Semi-finals Kitchen Upset Bailey In Straight Sets and Tweedie Overcame Kirkpatrick.

On Saturday at the Brunswick Street Baptist Badminton Courts the Men's Singles Badminton tournament came to a whirlwind finish; a finish which saw Dow Kitchen defeat Ken Bailey in straight sets, only to succumb to the all around playing of "Ted" Tweedie who defended his college title successfully.

The end of the Tournament produced one upset and many hard fought games. At one end of the bracket, Bailey had a hard time defeating Giberson in three sets, but only to last long enough to go down before Kitchen in straight sets. Bailey was slightly off in his playing but Kitchen deserves great credit, for he had produced another upset when he defeated Rawlands two weeks ago. In the other end of the bracket Paul Kitchen and Kirkpatrick fought an extremely hard game in which Kirkpatrick finally emerged winner. He however then bumped up against Tweedie who had no easy time defeating him in straight sets 15-8, 15-12.

The final match was hard fought throughout and Tweedie had to use all his skill to outwit his opponent. As it was the match went to three sets of which Kitchen won the first one 15-8 and Tweedie the next two 15-1, 15-2. In the first set Kitchen had it all over "Ted" and easily piled up a commanding lead. They played a back court game with very little net play. Dow kept "Ted" on the run by placing his shots from corner to corner and decisively outplayed his opponent.

In the next two sets, however, Tweedie began to get onto his opponent's style of play and began to play the net at which he was decidedly superior. Also his shots became more accurate which, combined with his back hand drop shot, gave him full command of the game and he ran out the concluding sets quite easily. Throughout the entire game Kitchen showed an improved style of game, though he could not get "Teds" drop shots. As for Tweedie, he showed

JUNIORS COP LEAGUE TITLE

Defeat Frosh In Fast, Loose Final; Barnes and Lilly Top Scorer

The Juniors defeated the Freshmen in a long and rather ragged inter-class basketball game in the gym Saturday afternoon. The final score was 50-41.

The first half opened fast. The Freshmen scored first, Corbett making the basket. The Juniors followed close behind and then took the lead, which they held for the greater part of the game. The Freshmen showed a tendency towards wildness in shooting and passing, of which faults the Juniors took advantage time and again. The third year men were smoother and less erratic in their floor work. The half ended 29-24 in favor of the Juniors.

The second half was rougher than the first. The Juniors, with their superior weight, increased their lead slightly. Both sides, the Freshmen particularly, attempted to score on long shots. The Juniors were the more aggressive, the whole five men playing up the floor. The play became loose and some-that his game is such that even when handicapped with the loss of the first set, he was able to rally his forces and defeat his opponent in a very interesting match.
