U. N. B. COOPERATES IN BLOOD DONOR DRIVE

Gym Scene of Can. Red Cross Ball Tonight

Elgin Regiment Band to Furnish Music

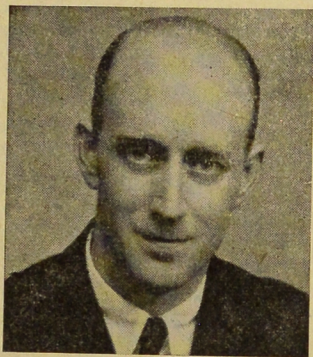

Tonight will see one of the most spectacular of U. N. B. social events ever held. In the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium everything stands in readiness for the long-planned and much anticipated Red Cross Ball.

As announced in last week's issue of The Brunswickan this dance is one of those to be held in various colleges and universities all across Canada, with the net profits being turned over to the Canadian Red Cross. This novel idea originated last year at the University of British Columbia, and it is at the suggestion of that university that tonight's Trans-Canada Red Cross Balls are being undertaken.

Music for this outstanding occasion is to be supplied by the Elgin Regiment Orchestra who will keep the many dancing couples entertained between 9 p.m. and 2 a.m. New to the campus of our university, the Elgin Regiment, hailing from Sussex, is a well known and very popular dance aggregation on the South Shore. The band comprises twelve players and a vocalist.

Students Volunteer in Large Numbers

In a lengthy interview with the Editor-in-Chief of The Brunswickan, last Wednesday, Professor C. W. Argue, head of the Biology Department and Director of the Provincial Blood Processing Laboratory revealed the history, details and progress of the Canadian wide scheme to secure blood for transportation overseas. He stated that a satisfying number of U.N.B. students had volunteered and that the group consisted of approximately two hundred. Working in close co-operation with Professor Argue are Dr. W. S. Hoar, Co-Director and Miss Crocker, head technician.

Initiated at the University of Toronto at the outbreak of war this scheme has spread across Canada from coast to coast. At first it was wholly a Toronto effort but after a year the Department of National Defence undertook the enterprise and subsidized the Red Cross who agreed to get the donors. The need for blood is great and a tremendous amount is required. The objective per week set for Canada is 2000 donations of which N. B.'s quota is 100.

Parliament on Parade

by ALAN HARVEY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: — Following is the first of a series of weekly articles written for the Canadian University Press from the Canadian Capital by Alan Harvey, Ottawa newspaperman who in 1939-40 was sports editor of "The Varsity" undergraduate newspaper of the University of Toronto).

Ottawa, (C.U.P.)—Around a massive circular table in the east block offices of the Parliament Buildings important new decisions apparently are in the making on the issue of conscription for overseas service—and indications are the status of university students will not be affected.

The measures that have been or will be formulated naturally are closely-guarded secrets known only to the men directing government policy, and they are pledged to secrecy. What provisions will be made for university students under new manpower Legislation therefore is a hazardous guess, but the feeling in well-informed quarters seems to be that present arrangements between universities and the Department of National Defence are working satisfactorily. "The present arrangement is in the interest of the nation and it does not seem likely the administration proposes to change it," one informant said.

From the known facts relating to the manpower problem as a whole, one likely surmise can be drawn—that some far-reaching announcement may be expected shortly.

If no declaration is forthcoming, political strategists predict the Green Chamber of the House of Commons will become a battleground for heated discussion on extension of compulsory service laws.

Spring Levy Finally Set at $3387

The final budget meeting on Wednesday night turned from a sober legality into a rollicking, uproarious "cut-the-budget" spree, as the S. R. C. sliced one budget after another.

The proposed basketball and hockey appropriations took the severest punishment with the Acadia basketball and hockey games being deleted entirely. However, the S.R.C. gave permission to the hockey manager to introduce a budget for a game within the province as a substitution for the Wolfville trip. These reductions together with the deleting of some other minor items cut the budget some $777. and left a balance of over $1200.

The S.R.C. took an important step in deciding how to utilize the surplus by agreeing to let the students voluntarily subscribe the total balance, less a reasonable amount to be carried over into next year, to the Victory Loan whose campaign is scheduled to start soon. This means that each student who agrees to the plan will be subscribing approximately three dollars of his levy to the Loan. When the bonds come due the scheme calls for the setting up of a Capital or Depreciation Fund which may be added to each year and which will be used for the improvement. (Continued on Page Five)

Robert Mackie Addresses Campus Organizations

S.R.C. Reps. Elected by Freshman Class

An enthusiastic Freshman Class continued its policy inaugurated last fall, of spreading its votes over a wide selection of nominees when it met last Friday to elect its representatives to the S. R. C. With eleven candidates to choose from the Frosh had to elect three representatives one of which had to be a co-ed. In the absence of the President, Joe Richards, the vice-president, Betty Page, presided.

The three students elected were: Betty Page, Ray Finnegan and Harry MacEachern; on Wednesday last at the Final Budget meeting these elections were ratified by the Council. During the business session of the meeting the Frosh discussed the proposed spring budget; they recommended that intra-mural competition be encouraged; that away from home games be limited to two, and that part of the expected S.R.C. surplus be used to buy Victory Bonds or War Savings Stamps.

I.R.C., C.O.T.C. Hear Inspiring Message

The campus was signally honored last week-end when visited by Robert Mackie, General Secretary of the World Student Christian Federation and an important figure in the European Student Relief Fund. Familiar to student bodies in many countries, he addressed several organizations at this University, including the International Affairs Club, part of the C.O.T.C. and the Student Christian Movement.

Before B and C companies of the C.O.T.C., on Monday afternoon in the Memorial Hall, Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie introduced Mr. Mackie who based his talk on the "Concern of Students with their contemporaries and students in other parts of the world." He stated at the close of his inspiring speech, "we are going through a period in our history when we shall have to set aside our largely planned careers and turn our minds to the finishing of the present task."

Previously, in the morning, Mr. Mackie had addressed the International Relations Club taking as his subject, "South America." To those present he gave a very interesting talk on South American mentality, customs, students and politics.

C.O.T.C. Sergeants Meet to Outline Mess Plans

Subjects of Sessions to be Military Topics

Last Sunday evening the sergeants of the U. N. B. C.O.T.C. met in the Trophy room of the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium for the purpose of organizing their Mess. The meeting was presided over by Harold Richards, R.S.M. of the unit. Among the various matters discussed were the election of officers, time of meetings, and topics to be considered in the future.

Nominations were received and the following slate of officers of the Mess were elected: President ex officio, Harold Richards, Treasurer, Jack Morrison, Secretary, Bernard Downman, additional member, Martin Simak. Those present decided that the Sergeants' Mess would meet every first and third Sunday evenings of the month in either the Trophy Room or in the Library of the Forestry and Geology Building.

It was agreed that at each session certain topics concerning military matters would be discussed with a view to gaining more information which would be of great assistance at summer camp. After much controversy the sergeants decided that at convenient times the corporals of the contingent would be invited to attend a meeting of

Executive States Year Book Progress

In their first statement of the new term, the 1942 Year Book executive announced the progress of this year's edition of "Up the Hill." When interviewed, they stated that from all present indications the progress of the book was satisfactory and that it should be on the campus earlier than in previous years.

The Photo Editor issued an urgent appeal to all students to send in any pictures they had which would be suitable for the "hodge-podge" pages. Regarding the taking of individual photographs the committee expressed itself as gratified with the co-operation of the students.

Beginning this week, group pictures of organizations will be taken and it is planned to have the photography completed by the middle of next month. Already great strides have been made in the soliciting of advertising by an energetic committee. Steps have been taken to secure the write-ups of the various campus societies and satisfactory progress is reported, in this direction.
