S. R. C. Refers Campus Book Store to Senate

To Name Committee Re Encaenia Gowns

The Students' Representative Council met last Friday noon, with Manzer Bunker acting as chairman. The resignation of Alastair Cameron as president of the Council was accepted and it was suggested that a letter of thanks be sent to him for his splendid services.

Harry Saunders, chairman of the Campus Book Store Committee, presented a report. He stated that to establish a book store on this campus would require $6000, and although the professors were willing to co-operate, he thought that it would be impossible for the S. R. C. to undertake the proposition alone; he then suggested that the matter be brought before the University Senate. Accordingly the original committee of Harry Saunders, Eric Skelton, Jack Morrison, and Earl Morrison was appointed to approach the Senate on this question.

The vice-president, Jo Rowan, conducted the meeting at the request of the president, Bernard Power who is convalescing from a recent operation.

Father Dysart opened the meeting with a short devotional period following which the business of the meeting was discussed. Bernard Power thanked the members for the flowers and wishes sent him during his illness.

The highlight of the evening was an informative and interesting quiz on "Doctrine and Practice," conducted informally by Father Dysart. Those present showed keen interest in the "question-answer" period, and the Chaplain cleared up any doubtful points in his explanations. At the close of this, the members enjoyed refreshments and informal singing.

CHEM. SOCIETY REVIEWS KEKULE

Student Lecturers Expound on Interesting Topic

A lecture team captained by Stephen Weyman addressed the Chemical Society on Monday evening in the second meeting of the new year. The subject under discussion was the life and work of the outstanding German chemist, August Kekulé. Four members participated in an extremely interesting, capable, and well-organized presentation.

Clinton Wiesel, as first speaker, gave a biographical study of a career which featured diligence and imagination.

David Whittingham's speech on the state of organic chemistry of Kekulé's times afforded a conception of the background of the chemist's achievements, showing the influence on his thoughts of contemporary scientists.

The development of the modern structure theory of organic compounds by Kekulé was discussed by Stephen Weyman, team captain and third speaker.

Colin Ramsey completed the lecture in a speech which dealt with Kekulé's celebrated Benzene Theory, mentioning also several conflicting theories advanced at that time which have since been discarded.

The members were served tea at the conclusion of the meeting by Messrs. Wall, Crotty and Neilson.

Parliament on Parade

by ALAN HARVEY

Ottawa, Feb. (C.U.P.) — Cuff-notes from the Canadian capital:— This was "wheat week" on Parliament Hill. Into Ottawa's Union Station at the week-end rolled two special trains bringing more than 400 representatives of western farmers armed with a "petition of rights" for western agriculture. Their main plank was a request for an increase in the price of wheat from 70 cents to $1 a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William, Ont., and Vancouver.

Schooling Big Worry

One of the major concerns is education. Farm income on the prairies, they contend, is NOT high enough to enable the western provinces to provide adequate schooling, especially in the lower grades.

Besides the problem of financing the schools, the prairie farmer has difficulty raising enough money to send his sons and daughters to university.

"How do you suppose", one delegate asked "We can afford to send our children to college when farm conditions are at their present level?"

J. G. Diefenbaker, Conservative member of the House of Commons for Lake Centre, told the commons the delegates were coming to protest against conditions of "economic slavery."

Co-ed Week Slated For February 22 to 28

Dramatists Select Founders' Day Play

Regarding the play for Founders' Day, Doug Gunter, Dramatic Society president stated: "Considering the dearth of proper facilities in the Memorial Hall, it would be impossible to stage any play received, written by a student."

"Consequently, we plan to produce a comedy, 'Old Moore's Almanac,' by John Cearman. It is a humorous skit depicting a play staged without a single rehearsal."

Glee Club to Sing at Victory Loan Drive

The University Glee Club will participate in the inauguration program of the new Victory Loan Campaign in Fredericton, it has been announced. On Monday evening a "monster" Campaign program will take place in the Provincial Normal School Auditorium under the auspices of the Second Victory Loan Committee. Among the special speakers will be the President, Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie as well as numerous other important personages.

The Glee Club was requested by the Committee to help furnish music for the occasion in conjunction with "The Cecilian Singers" — a well-known, local group of female singers. Merging with this ladies' choir, the Glee Club will sing a "Fantasia of National Airs" including many familiar selections. The combined chorus will be under the baton of R. C. Jean Ramsay to Edit Co-ed Edition

The Ladies' Society met in a very important session, last Tuesday noon, in the Ladies' Reading Room, with president, Jo Rowan presiding. The most important business concerned the annual Co-ed Week.

It was decided that this gala week would be held from February 22 to 28. A very elaborate program is being planned by the co-eds. Beginning the week with Church on Sunday and ending with the dance at the "Old Gaiety", Saturday night is just a hint to the well-filled date book.
