He believes the CBC offers an attractive field for university graduates, says it has been the CBC's settled policy from the outset to create a profession "which, though limited in scope, did attract university graduates to creative jobs." "We have been trying to recruit university graduates to the CBC for all kinds of jobs in our organization," he said. "But it's NOT always so easy in wartime."

As the general manager of Canada's national radio organization Maj. Murray gets some "fan mail" which he says is "calculated to encourage modesty and self-effacement, if NOT downright humiliation." Here are some samples:

From British Columbia: Our loyal family is shocked at the disgusting

ROUGE ET NOIR

Scoop by "Snoop"

After the ball was over . . . oh, boy, was there ever good snooping . . . cars "stuck", girls stranded, more people spilling the beans, tomato juice, bromos . . . even the cloak room staff was missing—but where? . . . wonderful stag line from the Air Force . . . a new "cloak room" for the committee . . . Who's up in that gallery, anyway?

Time: 8 a.m. Saturday
Place: Maryland Hill.
Action: Perhaps if you'd put some brush under the wheels you could move it. Oh, Doug, tsk, tsk!

And then there was the case of that other car that got stuck down the road—at Earl Morrison's Mills.

The Air Force, the Army, the Navy—Whee!! Joyce takes the Navy.

"If I stop, they all stop." Now, Rapid, you weren't that good, or were you?

Four dollars gone to France. And she wouldn't even taste it. Aw that's a shame, Chubby.

And Jeanie looked so coot and cunning.

Bob and Terry think that personal contact brings better results from a certain North Shore Freshette. Besides, that darn phone is always busy.

Boy, you have to admit she's a good skater, Arnie. And then, too . . .

There's nothing like good old Scotch songs early in the morning, eh, Marg?

levity of the CBC. In these terrible times you should give a strong lead in prayer and worship but NO catholic or Anglican services. Also all people with foreign names should be deported.

From New Brunswick: The CBC is the most dangerous and sinister instrument of Upper Canada intrigue.

What was the trouble Friday night, Marky? Was it the bumpy ride or . . .

Chemical reactions can sometimes be dangerous things. Ask Jack Veness—he knows because he was at Chem. the morning after the night before.

It's a tough proposition when the Reading Room is right beside the telephone, isn't it, Butch? But you're a big strong man.

You'd better hang on to that collar-button, Vernon. It's certainly a good excuse. And besides, the Con is coming soon!

And we're all going to the Con together.

Bye for now, but in the meantime watch those swinging doors. Love and kisses,
