FROSH BANNED FROM CONVERSAZIONE TONITE

Social Committee Reached Decision

Heads Must be Shorn This Afternoon

Flashed from the headquarters of the Social Committee came the announcement that all freshmen and freshettes would be banned from the Conversazione, which is being staged in the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium tonight. The reasons given for this action were this: that owing to the fact that the Con is the biggest and best of the Spring formals, there might be actions suitable only for the sight and digestion of students with mature and discriminating minds.

It is thought that the young and innocent wide-eyed freshmen should not be exposed to the heights nor the depths of enjoyment reached on such an occasion. In addition, since various forms of refreshments may be in the vicinity, some fear that the freshmen might indulge too freely.

There are those among the class of '45 who may attempt to pass as Sophomores, to ensure that this will not happen the Freshman class as a whole, are asked to assemble in (Continued on Page Five)

PRINCE IKEJANI LEAVES CAMPUS

"Because of man's inhumanity to man" Prince Okechukwu Ikejani, Nigerian student at the University of New Brunswick, has departed for his native land, — so ran the communique issued by Hudson J. Wilt, private secretary, to this American-wide-known authority extraordinary.

When interviewed, Mr. Wilt enlarged on the sketchy news dispatch, as follows: "On (censored) my respected Prince, accompanied by his trusted body guard, Harry Saunders, departed for Nigeria. This act concluded a series of negotiations between (censored) and my honored master, whereby he accepted the reins of government in his homeland. Although he regretted that his services would no longer be available to the students, he left his best wishes for its future development."

Mr. Wilt continued, "On his as (Continued on Page Five)

Cars Ruled Out For College Students

Owing to the recent rationing of gas due to the war it was stated in a special communique from Ottawa, this morning, that cars were to be banned from all campuses. The new law is to take effect April 1.

It was stated that the Government is not in favor of young healthy college students driving to classes in cars, whereas old infirm men and women walk daily to their offices.

It was also stated that complete co-operation was anticipated and (Continued on Page Five)

Barney Flieger Voted Most Unique

As a result of a secret ballot among the students of the University of New Brunswick, Professor Barney Flieger was elected last Friday most unique personality on the campus.

This special distinction will be conferred on Professor Flieger at a formal banquet to be held in the Arts Building, Thursday, March 6, with the co-eds catering. Barney will be presented with a unique cup by a very unique co-ed and for unique reasons.

There was a great deal of controversy as to whom should be the lucky personality but the judges finally conferred the honor on Professor Flieger for his unusual appearance on the campus and his kind, affable disposition at all banquets and dances.

All those who know the professor must confess that he is unique in every way. His fine head of blonde, curly hair, his stalwart, manly chest and his flat feet all belie the fact that he is or ever could be a professor. However Barney fools them all and is unique in that he is a good professor a—good professor.

When approached on the subject, professor Flieger was a bit doubtful about the meaning of unique, having a very poor memory, and immediately rushed to his worn-out thumbed-over dictionary. What he (Continued on Page Five)

YEAR BOOK COM. REVEALS TRUTH

Date of Publication of Dazzling Volume Unknown

In keeping with its principle of supplying only the latest and most authentic news to its readers, The Brunswickan recently appointed one of the most able members of its staff to get the real, off-the-record facts about the 1942 Year Book, and presents herewith the startling truths. All the revelations that follow have been verified and are the TRUTH!!

The date of issue: This is being kept a secret, and for good reasons, as it prevents any attempted sabotage. The secret is so well kept that NO ONE knows!! Not even the Editor or Business Manager!! There is good reason to believe that it will be issued though, although no definite proof could be found.

The size of the issue: Here again there were conflicting reports, but a usually reliable source said that it would be 2,174 pages thick, not counting two sheets of Kleenex included for the convenience of its readers.

The kind of paper: An attempt has been made to obtain the same grade of paper as last year, but should this prove impossible a sub (Continued on Page Five)

Frankie Toole to Lead Easter Parade

A new innovation on the campus this year is the holding of an Easter Parade. Never before in the history of the college has such a parade been held.

The idea was presented by Dr. Frankie Toole who feels that his new dot-dash English tweeds are going to waste in the closet. With his ensemble Dr. Toole is wearing pale green accessories but feels it is his duty to don the old hat for old times sake even if it is not fashionable. He is to lead the parade with his son Barry, young fire-eater, who insists on wearing fireman's apparel, as he feels that another fire is in the offing, believing with young sagacity that "things always come in three."

Frankie is to be followed by his energetic, lusty glee clubbers, who are wearing shades of yellow and brown, with tall, silk hats. The clothes are by the compliments of "Men's Fashion House" and must be returned directly after the Parade.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend and lunch is to be served on the campus mid the tradition and beauty of the ever-present spring mud.

Dr. Hoar Scared by Many Cats Resigns

The other day while working in the Biology lab Dr. Hoar suddenly had an inspiration. He seemed to see the cats which the students had been using for their labs, and instead of lying down on the board with their feet in the air and their skins open, the little pussies one by one had come to life and walked out to meet him.

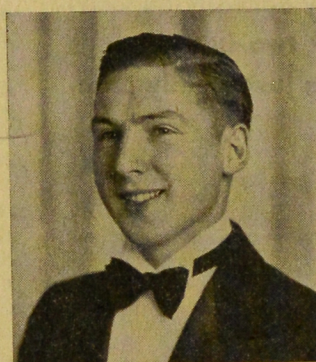

So disturbed was he by this phenomena, he immediately left the work he was doing and walked into the vertebrae lab where the cats are kept in a large box. Pulling out the first one he came to, he be (Continued on Page Five)

PARSON LINDY PEEBLES

Editorship Seized as Editor is Ousted

Culminating with a final flourish, yesterday afternoon, a term of great rivalry concluded when pompous Arnold Morrill, printer extraordinary to The Brunswickan, laid down a heavy barrage of slugs and mallets and usurped the position of editor-in-chief in a swift coup d'etat. When he had pompously ascended to his new official position, Morrill became the first ever to direct the "Brunswickan" from outside the college precincts. When interviewed by the former editor-in-chief, now a cub reporter, he said:

"What I did, I have done, and always wanted to do; ye former editor (Continued on Page Five)

JUNIORS ORGANIZE REVIVAL OF TEA

Worthiness of Present Class Shown in Plan

By Cousin Snoop
News! Who wants news? Boy, I know some. Haven't you noticed the locked doors of the Ladies' Rooms, the furtive consultations, the bulky parcels being smuggled upstairs and the general hush-hush atmosphere? What's it all about?

Well, it's the Junior Tea. Are those go-ahead Juniors going to let us down? You bet, they're not. And best of all, there'll be a "No Admittance" sign for those worthy, tradition-breaking, senior gals. Ha! Ha! I can just see them breaking their necks and flattening their noses for one weeney glimpse of the gala event.

Gala? I should say. It just goes to show how occasionally some lectures do permeate someone's mind. The heights and depths of Milton will be revealed to the ignorant lower classmen. "Paradise Lost" in all its glory and gloom is the setting for the revival of the Glorious Event. Remember Satan and Beelzebub? They'll be there in person. The senior boys, unwilling colleagues of the colossal crime, will be permitted to serve in order that the (Continued on Page Five)

Accused of Talks on "Love Ethics"

Parson Peebles Seen As Ring Leader

In a daring raid by the local police, two of the more prominent members of the U.N.B. Campus were arrested, and are at present loudly proclaiming their innocence in the Fredericton gaol.

News of the arrests came as a surprise to many of the acquaintances of those concerned, but as the full details were released, the gravity and horror of the case became apparent.

For a long time the activities of the club to which this pair belonged were under the surveillance of the constabulary, and things were brought to a head, when, in a recent edition of The Brunswickan it was reported that they had been discussing Love Ethics, and similar (Continued from Page Five)

BOBBIE HAILED AWARD WINNER

Last Tuesday Prof. Bob Wright was found lying in a prostrate form on the floor of his home. In one huge fist lay clenched a tiny bit of yellow (not a canary)—a telegram. It was from Louis B. acclaiming him award winner for the best one act play of 1942.

Streams of eager students gathered to find out how it happened. In a long line extending to St. Dunstan's School questions flew about. Queries were put forth, some in high voices, some in low, some in bad grammar, some in poor grammar, some with the emphasis here, others with it there. All amounted in the end to "Why did he get it?"

Apparently last fall the dramatic society searching for local talent, offered $5.00 for the best artistic effort shown in a one act play. Knowing full well that the competition was keen and that he could hardly stand a chance against play (Continued on Page Five)

Attendant Co-eds at C.O.T.C. Camp

Following the suggestion put forward a few weeks on the feature page that the co-eds should attend the C.O.T.C. camp, Scrapper has gone to a great amount of trouble to make suitable arrangements. He announced Thursday that the girls will wear uniforms, khaki shorts and skirts, with olive oil provided for sun-bathing, and khaki skirts provided for evening wear. The girl's duties will include getting the meals, making the lemon meringue pies, sewing on elusive buttons, and going out with the boys in the (Continued on Page Five)
