VARSITY WHITEWASHES MOUNT ALLISON 81-13

Gym. Display To-night

Fourteen Big Acts

To-night at 8 P.M. in the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium the second gym display will take place. After the spectacular success of last year everyone can be assured of another grand exhibition of the physical fitness of the youths at U.N.B.

The Co-eds and the Gym Team have been practicing long hours for the past month getting their drills and exercises down to perfection.

There will be an added attraction this year in the person of Lew Waller, Physical Director of the Saint John Y.M.C.A. He will perform on the high bar and the side horse and as he has had considerable experience in this field, he should be worth watching.

The girls are going to be spotlight gymnasts with such items as Pyramid Groupings, caesthetics en masse, and tap dancing routines.

The Gym Team will have some high class acts with Jim Fettes on the high bar. Bob Cole on the rings and Howie Ryan on both the high

INTERSCHOLASTIC TOURNAMENT

The flashy team from Newcastle, Harkins High School, came through with top honors on Saturday to win the New Brunswick Interscholastic title. Harkins defeated the Woodstock High team in the final game by a score of 13 to 8. Woodstock lost one of their star players, A. Tommy on foul shots early in the game and from then on the Harkins team really started rolling. The combination of Whalen and Richards for Newcastle proved unbeatable and although the Woodstock team fought until the end, it was Harkins' game from the start.

In the consolation championship Saint John High breezed through to an easy victory over Centerville High 41 to 10. For Saint John, little Bob Kelly went wild to ram home 35 of his team's points to clinch the title.

bar and the mats.

The highlight of the evening and the event which received such favorable comment last year will be the Statuaries of Youth. It is without a doubt a truly crowning glory of the whole display. It certainly will be looked forward to by everyone who saw last year's show.

WINS ROUND 126-39

On Friday night in the Lady Beaverbrook Gym. the U.N.B. men's Varsity basketball team outclassed and outplayed the Mt. Allison team by a score of 81 to 14. The game was the second of a two game series. The first played on the Mt. A. home court resulted in a score of 45 to 16. At no time during the game was the outcome in doubt. From the start the superior passing and shooting of Varsity gained a lead which gradually increased. At the end of the first half the score was 29 to 2.

In the second half the red and black squad really started to click and the two forward lines of Lockhart-Rogers-McClintock and Stothart-Garland-MacDiarmid alternated to roll in baskets in endless succession.

At times during the game the marshland squad showed potential strength in attack but were noticeably weak in their guarding and in their shooting. U.N.B.'s zone defence was very effective in holding the Mt. A. shots to outside of the foul circle. Numerous time outs on the part of the Mt. A. team indicated that they were not in condition to combat the large floor.

The big guns for U.N.B. were Captain Doug Rodgers who himself scored 26 points and his linemates Gerry Lockhart with 13 points and "Red" McClintock with twelve points. Lockhart gave a terrific exhibition of smooth backchecking and harassed the Mt. A. forwards in all corners of the court. Mitton and Owens worked well together on guard and broke up many of the Mt. A. rushes, such as they were.

For Mt. A., Hipson figured high in the scoring column with 11 of Mt. A.'s 14 points. Captain Ed Tucker showed himself to be a smooth aggressive ball handler but lack of support on all sides spelled defeat from the start.

The lineups and scores for the game were as follows.

Boxing Meet Wednesday

In Appreciation

This article is written with the idea of giving to the managers of the various teams a little of the praise which they never receive.

In the spring of each year the call comes out for applications for the positions of manager of all the various teams. Many hopefuls file their application with the idea that, in the year to come they will be a manager. Little do they realize just what they are getting themselves into, for the life of a manager is little better than the life of a dog.

Each fall and spring the poor chosen unfortunates must plan for their activities in the coming season. Must, in some cases months before their playing season, tell the students through the S.R.C. just who they are going to play and what their expenses will be throughout the coming season. Until one has been a manager one does not realize just what this means. It means pricing equipment, writing to an endless number of teams to try to arrange games, finding transportation costs, cost of food, cost of lodging in the various towns to be visited. Then at the budget meetings the managers stand up before the S.R.C. and explain their reasons for putting this article and that on their budget. They are attacked by the S.R.C. members and by the student body for supposedly padding their budget, accused of graft and almost anything short of bigamy that can be thought up at the meeting. After much heckling and squabbling the budget is either passed as it stands or is cut to suit the S.R.C. More than often it is the most desirable of equipment or games that is cut from the budget.

After getting his budget passed the troubles of the manager have just begun. Now comes the real job of guiding the team through the playing season. He must write endless letters, make endless calculations and do all sorts of little jobs that the team requires. On top of this he must approach the S.R.C. many times during the year to have adjustments made to his budget. Again at these meetings he is criticized and sometimes even insulted by students who generally know nothing of the business of managing a team and who are usually just talking to make themselves heard. It is noticeable that it is usually the same students week in and week out that cause the most trouble. On a trip he has the constant worry of looking after the team: to see that they are transported, fed and bedded down.

Now all these things are to be expected and the manager knew that he would have to do them when he undertook the job. But the thing that makes a manager's life the life of a dog is the fact that he has to fight with the S.R.C., with the coach of the team and with the team itself. Of these the team itself has the least cause for complaint. All the team has to do is to play the game and everything else is done for it but on every team there are a few "chronic kickers" who at every opportunity do their best to make their manager's life miserable.

And so we take our hats off to the managers. They mean a lot to their sport and deserve some of the credit for their team's victory. So in the future all you S.R.C. members, all you coaches, and above all you team members, give your man-

The latest word from "Joey Jacobs" Mackay is to the effect that the boxing meet will be held according to plan next Wednesday evening, March 17th, in the gymnasium.

There will be two feature bouts. The first will be between our New Brunswick light-weight champ, Bob McLaughlin, and Oliver Geldart, who was runner up for the Maritime light-weight crown. The second will be between our own Pat Clair and our Sailor friend Joe Thibodeau. Both of these fights will be of five rounds.

Beside the two feature bouts there will be eleven other bouts featuring the U.N.B. team of Frank Dohaney, Ray Finnegan, Chas. Bunker, Willis Brown and Hazlett. A team is being sent here from Charlottetown representing the Army, Air Force and Navy. Elimination bouts are being held there this week, so that their representatives will be the cream of crop.

The Training Centre here in Fredericton is going to be represented by a few stalwarts.

With trainer Bill Laskey and Manager "Joey Jacobs" in the driving seat, you can be perfectly certain of getting your moneys worth.

FLASH !!!

At press time today it was announced that the Houlton Fliers would play the U. N. B. Varsity at 8:00 Saturday, March 13th in the Beaverbrook gym. The Houlton Fliers put on the best game of basketball ever played in our gym two weeks ago so be sure not to miss this game.

The fellow who had trouble with rats in his basement eating the apples and nuts he had stored there, finally set a trap by each box. Next day he was down in the cellar looking at the traps when his wife called down:

"Did you get any dear?"

"Yep. I got one."

"Did you get it by the apples?"

"Nope."

ager a break, co-operate with him and things will work out a lot better in the end.

SPORTS SHORTS

Greetings all you sport fans. The title of this little column does not refer to any personal articles of clothing but merely to the sporting shorts of the week.

The first little item was the overwhelming victory of our basketball team over our traditional rivals. Congrats to Doug Rodgers and his team for the great show that they put on. Congrats also to Ed Tucker and his Mt. A. boys for the fighting spirit they showed even though they knew that they were beaten from the start. It seems that Mt. A. lost a good coach in the person of Bob Brodie.

The basketball playdowns started last night against the Training Center and once again the team came through. A large crowd was out to see the game. This is the support that is needed if the team is going to go through to the title, so how about it fans, see every game, it will be well worth your while.

There are strong rumors that the Houlton Fliers are coming back in the near future. Many students missed the first game and it was one of the finest ever played in our gym. The Houlton boys displayed a style of basketball which was well worth watching.

Well it was a hectic old weekend with the Interscholastic Tournament in full swing. The gym fairly shook with the cheering of the high school fans. Too bad that some of the fans from here couldn't show a little more of that same spirit when U.N.B. plays. Harkins High sure upset the dope when they came through to win the title over the highly rated Woodstock team. U.N.B. could definitely use some of these Interscholastic stars in their lineup next year.

The big boxing meet of the year will be next Wednesday. Mackay is tearing his hair these days with the final arrangements and if we know Mick, the night's bouts will provide plenty of high class entertainment for U.N.B. sports fans. The college welcomes the return of Sailor Joe Thibodeau who used to be the trainer of all U.N.B. teams. Joe is going to box Pat Clair in one of the feature bouts on the evening's card.

And so away to bed. See you at the gym display.
