Through the Transit

: Scoop by "Snoop" :

Snoop looked through his transit and oh boy! take a look at this will you:

Is Purnell a sheik in wolf's clothing? He made them roar at the Science mess. But to go from church straight into a chop suey joint on York St. Tsk, tsk.

Mick's face was red after the Res.
Hop, but that's O.K. He wiped it off in Lannan's. Some Duke!

Poem: A gentleman by day is Forester Doyle
But thru' the night—"according to Hoyle?"

Some people sing for their supper.
Here's a new one. Shovel the path before you can take her out. "It did him good," says Sheila.

Miller claims he won the contest.
Arnie was sick about it. Who dropped the quarter at the banquet, Ron?

"Johnny, not here!" Behave Baxter, even if it is the Old Gaiety.

Dort Logan went tobogganning with the Ghost of Lannan's. Graham and Lois went along to watch.

That was some party the boys had. It was buzzed around that it was champagne. Mark my words it doesn't give you hiccoughs.

Doherty is Wright in there with the Navy. Guess they ring the Bell, eh Kay?

Johnny would like to go marching home. She sure was nice. Ed Walter thinks so.

Frank(ly) C. D. has some competition but everything's down Pat.

If the Army can't date her, it's sm(art) enough to call anyway.

Best of the year to you all. You guessed it—the Wassail!

Love and Kisses,
SNOOP.

Active Year For Engineering Society

The Boilermakers have had a busier year than any other similar group on the campus. At the first meeting a former graduate, Stan Cassidy of C.F.N.B., explained commercial broadcasting and the many difficulties of holding the attention of the radio audience to entice them not to twist the dials, or as Dag-wood—to throw lamps at them.

Later on in the term the 'gineers saw pictures of what appeared to be a drunken Tacoma bridge, as it swayed to and fro in the breeze.
Instead of the usual tea and cookies the boys had to content themselves with milk and cookies; meantime waiting for the more potent Was-sail!

Canadian General Electric provided films for the first meeting of this term. These featured the manufacture of electric bulbs and instruments.

Not to be outdone by the Pre-Meds, the engineers established a precedent when they sponsored the "Boilermakers' Ball" in the Memorial Building. This was a rather lively dance, strictly informal.
Those who were present declared it to be the most popular, informal dance up the hill and from all appearances this novelty will be featured again next year.

To-morrow night another attraction, the Wassail will be held.
Interest in this popular event is beginning to die out, but a revival is expected by to-morrow night.

Professor: "When a girl tells you that she'll be your wife in name only, it's just a case of mating you half way."

Summer Employment

The annual epidemic of "Job Hunting Fever" swept over the campus a few weeks ago with the arrival of the Wartime Bureau of Technical Personnel job list. The first list of about 3,000 approved war-industry jobs, is soon to be followed by another of some 2,000 additional positions. The list was placed in the library and soon Junior, Sophomore, and Freshmen were writing letters by the dozen, applying for jobs as miners, mechanics, electricians, surveyors, chemists, draughtsmen and just about anything else you can think of. Enclosed in each letter was the prescribed form from the National Selective Service officer.

Then the blow fell. The prescribed form wasn't the correct one.
"Oh," moaned the engineer, "all those letters and especially all those stamps". Dr. Turner soon explained that the required form (which will probably be the correct one this time) should arrive in time for the boys to avoid postage increase.

Of course there are reasons for all this "red tape", the main one being that the government intends to see to it that no technical student will be employed in a non-technical position. So don't worry because the big question isn't "Am I going to work this summer?" but, "Where am I going to be working this summer?"

Webster says that taut means tight. I guess that I got taut a lot in college after all.

For years the two sexes have been racing for supremacy, now they have settled down to neck and neck.

Boilermakers' News

by Laurence Munde, '43

Jack Richardson '41 has left Canadian General Electric, Toronto, and has received his commission as a Pilot Officer in the R.C.A.F. Jack is now stationed at No. 3 Wireless School, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Bob Mair '41 has returned from Brown's University, where he has been working on his Doctor's degree in Chemistry. While in Fredericton he attended the Residence Dance.
Bob now has a position with the Imperial Oil Company in Sarnia, Ontario.

Lieut. Hal Marshall '41, R.C.N.
V.R., has been stationed at Newfoundland for two months.

Ralph Lockhart '42 was in Fred-erickton last week-end visiting friends here.

Arthur L. Inch '33 has received his M.A. degree from Columbia University, New York City.

Phyllis Menzies '42 spent last week-end in Fredericton. While here she attended the N.B. interscholastic basketball meet.

Tom Patterson ex '42, second year medical student at Dalhousie University, was elected president of the student's council.

We are glad to see Art McDermott '43 back with us again after being confined to the Victoria Public Hospital for three weeks.

S. R. C. Elections

The annual elections for the executive members of next year's Council will be held next week, it has been announced. Nominations close at noon to-day and at pres-time the satisfactory return of nominations promise closely contested elections.

At the same time nominations are being received for the officers of the A. A. A. and the Ladies Society.

Gerry: "Do you think that kisses spread colds?"

Pass: "I don't know about some kisses, darling, but you've got more chance of getting fever blisters from mine."

Hollywood has decided to remake Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" starring Errol Flynn.
It's called "On Whom the Belles Told."

Times certainly change. We can remember when girls used to get insulted when you offered them a drink, now they just swallow the insult.
