

MIAU E Stifles Univ

At a meeting of the Maritime Intercollegiate Athletic Union in Sackville last spring, a new eligibility rule for varsity competition was adopted.

The new rule states that male athletes are permitted four years of varsity competition as was previously the case. However, the new rule adds that these four years must be used up during the five years following the date of the individual's first registration at any college or university. Thus any athlete who attended any institution granting a bachelor's degree, an junior college, or a teacher college prior to 1961 is now ineligible for varsity sport regardless of the number of years he has played at the varsity level.

UNB's Athletic Director, M. Pete Kelly, states that UNB opposed the adoption of the new rule. They were joined in opposition by one other university. However, the other nine members of the MIAU voted for the adoption of the new eligibility rule, heavily neurosis, from psychosomatic illness to fear of death. The complexity of the illness becomes more apparent as the analysis continues, with the result that the personality is stripped of all repressed emotions and hidden conflict. Slowly, through the resolution of these conflicts she finds

Books

(from page 8)

A New Room at

THE ROYAL S

so I

"FOR YOUNG MAN
MAN WHO

FEATU

Corduroy JACKETS

Manras SHIRTS

SWEATERS, SWEATERS
& More SWEATERS

Campus SLACKS

Suede COATS

Sport HATS

Natural Shoulder SUITS with Vest

MacGregor SPORTSWEAR

SUB Committee Expects Large Attendance at Sod Turning Ceremony

The Student Union Building Committee announced last night that the plans for the new student-supported SUB will be on display at the site. These are not the final plans, they said, because there will be revisions after the committee holds student hearings later in the term.

The $1.2 million building will be paid for out of student funds, ten dollars per student per year. The University has agreed to match the student contribution approximately dollar for dollar, footing half the expenses of construction.

Larsen and Larsen, the architects for the structure, have given the committee a 50% reduction in fees because "the students are supporting the building financially."

Discussions are now under way between representatives from UNB, Teachers College, and St. Thomas University, on the possibility of sharing the cost of the building on a per-student basis. Results of the talks will not be known officially for a few days.

In addition to the $1.2 million for construction, $300,000 will be required for furnishing the building. Half the cost of this will also be the responsibility of students.

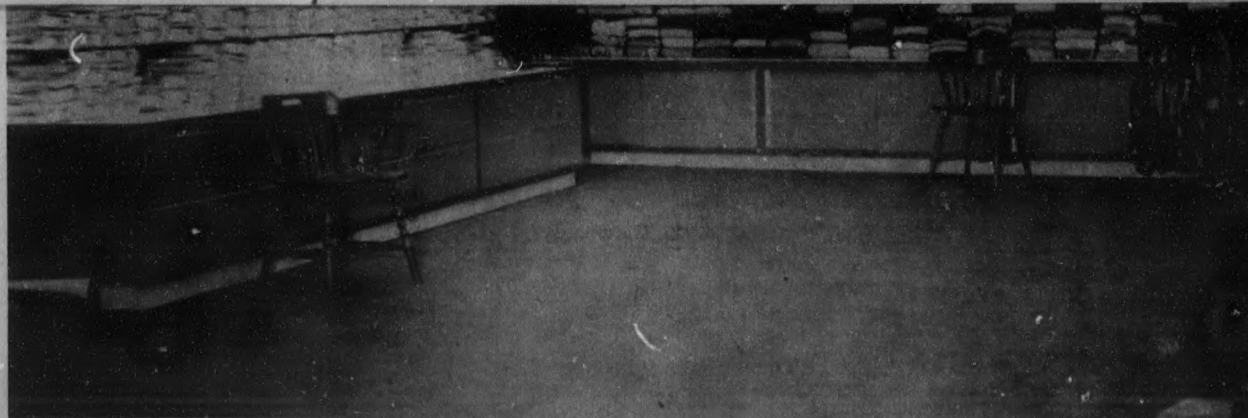

Dick Oland, a member of the SUB committee, said last night, "We certainly hope there will be a large turnout for the sod turning. This is the biggest event for UNB students in a long time, and it is a matter of great importance to all three student bodies in Fredericton."

If Teachers College and St. Thomas University agree to contribute to the fund for construction, the building will be open for use by all three colleges.

In addition to office space for all three student councils, and space for meetings for all organizations, the committee has included a barber shop, hairdresser's, and a 'confectionery store' for the convenience of students.

The building is centrally located between the three institutions, a change in plans from last year's suggestion that it be an addition to the existing Memorial Students Centre. "It will be more convenient for all the students," one student commented. The University, Teachers College, and St. Thomas will be growing closer and closer together, and this will be the focal point of the expansion.

It will probably be the first great personal tie between the students of the three institutions if all the students agree to join in the financing of the structure.

A Special Invitation to all students to drop in any time.

THE RED HANGER — a room designed with you in mind.