One of the biggest Canadian external problems of the century will no doubt be the declaration of the 20th century as the century of the fish to the point of depletion representing a problem for mankind. It is impossible to see the ocean is blind comfort. People living in Canada turn of the eighteenth century that it was impossible to see the Great Lakes.

As early as 1829 a salmon caused a declaration of the 1900 they were coming out.

Other stocks of fish destroyed by man's with and destruction and spawning grounds.

The essential problem of the 20th century is the implied statement will carry out survival.

The Navy and Coast Guard have to be called upon to police the presence within the 600,000 square water.

The various groups of fishermen claim that limit is a rip-off. Very permits for foreign fishing in Canadian waters granted to date, more.
