Swimmers and divers start off with a splash

The UNB Bevers and Mermaids started off their respective swimming season on the right foot last weekend with strong performances in the Atlantic Universities Athletic Association Invitational meet. The finished third overall in the meet.

The strongest performance for the women came from Danielle Balla who won three individual events and anchored the winning 4 x 200 meter freestyle relay. Balla won the 200 individual medley, the 100 meter freestyle and the 100 meter butterfly. For her efforts, Balla was named female athlete of the week by the UNB coaching staff.

Rob Davis led the way for the men as he won the 100 meter breaststroke and finished second on the 50 breast. He also placed fifth in the 400 IM.

Bruce Williams, one of the strongest swimmers on the team, took the 50 backstroke, finished third in the 100 back and snuck in for a fourth in the 200 IM.

Other second place finishes came in the 50 freestyle by Bob Quigley, the 100 breast by Bill Curtis and the 50 fly by Randi Stangroom.

Ian Sinclair, a sprint specialist experienced problems in several of his races but said that he was confident that with hard work he would be able to qualify for the Nationals. Another sprinter, John MacGillivary, one fo the oldest swimmers in the conference indicated that "the oldtimers aren't out of it yet."

Mike Sinstadt and Warren Seville, a rookie on this year's team put in strong performances in the heats but did not qualify for finals.

Laura Kirkpatrick, a backstroker from Montreal showed strong in her races despite returning to swimming after a period of rest. She took the 50 meter backstroke, finished second in the 100 back and swam on several relay teams.

Kathey Gaul, a fourth year sprinter, finished well in all of her races. She swam on the winning 4x50 and 4x200 meter freestyle relays as well as in individual events.

Debbie Whittemore, hampered by back problems, demonstrated that she was still a threat to the opposition in the backstroke events and swam on the 4x200 free relay. On doctors advise, Whittemore will sit out the rest of the season. Lise Leduc, in her second year with the team also put in strong performances.

Sand Ansotska and Linda MacDonald, swimming for the first time as Mermaids demonstrated the depth of the team. Although they are rookies, with time, they should develop more of a feeling for the style of competition that they are now up against.

Dave Pretlove, a strong breaststroke and sprint freestylist has been experiencing shoulder difficulties and for that reason chose to sit out the meet.

The meet was unlike regular seasons contests in that it featured many races that are usually absent. Most times, events shorter than 100 meters are reserved for freestyle sprints but last weekend, all strokes had 50 meter races. Also, the distance events such as the 800 and 1500 meter freestyle were absent.

In some respect, the meet was reminiscent of a junior development meet as it feature uncommon relay races. These included the 8x50 butterfly freestyle and the 84x100 Im relay. Because there were so many events and UNB took only eight men and an equal number of women, the team was unable to enter swimmers in many events. As a result, they finished in third place behind Dalhousie and Acadia.

It was the first meet of the year for most of the swimmers and he indicated that the results would be used by the coaching staff to plan the training for the team until the next meet. For the women, that occurs tonight as they meet the University of Maine at Oromocto at the Sir Max Aitken Pool. The meet begins at 5:45 tonight.

Roberts said that the UNB team was expected to be very strong since they have a repuatation as one of the strongest clubs in the Northeast College conference.

The men swim again next weekend as they venture into the heart of Nova Scotia for a pair of meets with Acadia on Friday night and Dalhousie and Memorial on Saturday.

Due to budgetary restriants, Roberts was unable to take a full complement of swimmers on last weekend outing. Also swimming for the women are Louise Christie and Diane Young, both of whom have a vast experience of age group experience in their backgrounds.

For the men, John Bennett a distance freestyler, is back for another season but wished not to swim last weekend's meet since he felt that he was not yet back in sufficient shape to put in a performance up to his standards.

Dave Pretlove, back after a year off, recently began training for the long distance freestyle events, Prelove should also be a strong threat later in the season.

Dave Banks, back at UNB after a year's absence, was ineligible to swim in the meet since he has to sit out the rest of the year due to a strange transfer rule. Banks, who trained under national coach Don Talbot will be competing again after Christmas and should provide a strong threat to the forerunners in the conference.

Team Assitant coach Don Wilson, "the Truro Terror" is back at the helm and is taking care of all the little details that in the past have driven Roberts nearly insane. Wilson's poolside advise has proven invaluable to Roberts.

After last weekend's meet, the coaching staff is in agreement that the conference titles in both the men's and women's sections are up for grabs. Last year's National Women's Champions Acadia no longer has the depth that enabled it to reach that pinnacle. The conference is the most well rounded in women's swimming that it has ever been and Roberts said that there could be some big upsets come championship time.

For the men, the Beavers are the defending conference champ- ons and they will have to fend off a strong threat from the Dalhousie team which picked up several strong swimmers from the Halifax area.

Both theams will pick up much needed support from the living squads Gary Kelly should prove a strong threat to win the conference title for the men while either Betty Middleton or Celeste Smart could do the deed for the women. Also back for the men will be Paul Sutcliffe and Bob Jacobson, both in their second year. Newcomers to the squad include Scott MacKenzie, Joanne Ditomasso and Andrea Bakkes. Lorna Calder is back with the team after a year's absence. Jeff Deane is back as diving coach.

In a meet last weekend, several divers travelled to Moncton where Middleton was the top New Brunswick competitor in both one and three meter competion.
