GIVE TO SAVE L

SHARING WATER — Two Ethiopian children drink from a sardine tin containing murky water at the Tukulababa refugee camp in Sudan. Until a week ago, Tukulababa didn't even exist except as a nameless patch of thornbrush located about 15 miles northeast of the Sudanese town of Kassala. An international aid effort is now underway to assist millions of victims in drought-stricken African countries. (Copyright 1984 Boston Globe photo by Stan Grossfeld via Associated Press)
