

Notes: THE BRUNSWICKAN 1990 - 1991, page 3.

|             |                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|-----------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| February 23 | p. 20 & 2225 & 26 | Exam schedule (4 p. unpagged)filmed between p. 22 & 23                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|             | p. 25                 | Page is half printed in negative                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| March 1     | p. 16 - 22            | Includes course descriptions forExtension Department. Will befilmed after the paper. Pagesrearranged to accommodate twocentre fold articles, includingthe Extension course calendar.Page sequence: 16, 21, 22, 17,18, 19, 20.Issue followed by 'Lesbian and GaySupplement.' 8 p. |
| March 22    |                       | Paper contains a 20 pagesupplement, 125th anniversaryedition to be filmed after thepaper.                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|             | p. 16 & 17            | Difficult to read because of alogo superimposed on the print.The supplement is included in thepagination of the issue althoughits pages are unnumbered. Sinceit is filmed following the paperthis leaves a gap between pagenumbers 18 and 39.                                            |
|             |                       | The page numbering is inconsistentin this paper.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| March 28    | p. 15 & 1621 & 22 | Exam schedule. To be filmed afterp. 20. Page sequence: 17 - 20,15, 16, 21, 22                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| April 5     | p. 13                 | Print is extremely difficult toread because of superimposedphotograph                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|             | p. 17                 | Some print is negative                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| April 12    | p. 1                  | Paper is numbered 27, should be26. Someone has pencilled in thecorrect number.Supplement (full size) 8 p.                                                                                                                                                                                                |

DECEMBER 29, 1992
pg