Over the summer, UNB built a new map and campus directory next to the Wu Conference Centre at the Montgomery Street gates. The only fully-up-to-date map was funded in part by the Class of 1954.

Think nothing happens at UNB

UNB Frosh Week

What's on tap for 2000

Frosh Week may not start until Monday, September 4th, but Steve Cole, Chair of UNB Orientation 2000 is pumped.

This year, Cole hopes to break last year's record sales of 960 Frosh Kits, resulting in a sell out.

Twelve hundred frosh Kits have been ordered. This total is 100 more than last year.

Some kits are not sold and kept for Orientation Week volunteers as well as Orientation Week sponsors.

This year's Frosh Kit is available at a cost of $60 and includes a pass into all events as well as various UNB merchandise such as a t-shirt, coffee mug, keychain, etc.

The first major Orientation event will be the Blast-Off.

The Blast-Off is an obstacle course of sorts for all Frosh held in the Aitken Centre. This event serves to create initial feelings of unity and provide a sense of community with the other first year students.

The City of Fredericton Welcome Back Event is new to Frosh Week. Students will be picked up on campus between 5:30 and 6:00 pm and taken down to City Hall where they will be addressed by various city officials and provided with food and entertainment.

Friday night will feature a comedian in the SUB Cafeteria which will be followed by a UNB re-creation of the game show "Let's make a Deal" where Frosh will have the opportunity to win an assortment of prizes.

Afterwards a dance party is scheduled to be held in the SUB Ballroom.

Don't get too tired at the dance party because the next morning is Shinerama, a fundraising event for Cystic Fibrosis. Just because it's important, doesn't mean it won't be fun.

That night will be the final event of Frosh Week, "The Underground." This is the Orientation Committee replacement for the usual Frosh Week concert held in the Aitken Centre featuring a big name band.

The concert fell through this year after a failed attempt to book the band Sloan.

The Orientation Committee operates on a budget of $83,000. Some of that is recovered from Frosh Kit sales but in order to prevent the cost of the Frosh Kits from rising the Orientation Committee depends upon sponsorship.

Cole admitted that he would like to see more funding from the University. "The Red Shirts do a lot of service to the university outside of the bounds of what normally would be considered orientation work."

Still, Cole asserts that the Red Shirts are very happy to do what they do.
