Vancouver Island's Mt. Washington is benefiting from the expansion of the Inland Island Highway from Victoria to Campbell River, which opened this fall. The ski area's access road, Strathcona Parkway, was also improved. Mt. Washington's access is now quicker, easier and safer.

Whistler/Blackcomb, BC, has installed the new Nintendo Terrain Park Zone—more than 40 acres devoted to new school riding, including a snowcross course, a World Cup halfpipe and three distinct parks for different levels of riders.

ONTARIO

Ontario's Talisman Mountain Resort has executed a $200,000-facelift to its beginner area. Talisman has installed the largest magic carpet, called the Wonder Carpet, east of the Rockies.

Blue Mountain near Collingwood, Ontario, has re-vamped its South Base, adding a new lodge and an improved beginner area. The Grand Georgian condo-hotel will open in Blue Mountain's new base village, along with an Indian Motorcycle Café.

QUEBEC

Le Massif near Quebec City invested $24 million. It now has 10 new runs, a new high-speed quad that is Québec's longest with a mid-station, a new training centre for athletes, a new mountain-top chalet and easier access to its facilities.

Mont Sainte Anne, also near Quebec City, purchased a new groomer and has a new snowpark and a snow castle built for kids, plus a longer snowshoeing trail.

Stoneham near Quebec City has a new super 17-foot-high halfpipe and a new coffee shop.

Bromont in Quebec's Eastern Townships has 17 new runs and 53 new snow guns, plus an all-new Rossignol equipment rental shop and newly designed ski and snowboard school.

Ski Montcalm in Quebec's Lanaudière has a new trail.

Closed for the past 10 years, La Réserve ski area in St-Donat, Lanaudière, is re-opening this year with a new quad lift and 16 runs.

Massif du Sud, on Quebec City's south shore, has a new ski run.

Quebec's La Crapaudière has merged with Mont Original. You can now ski and surf freely on the two mountains (43 runs) in the same day with one ticket.

Edelweiss in the Outaouais has enhanced its nightskiing with better lighting on two runs and added snowmaking equipment.

Saint-Mathieu-Les-Cantons in Mauricie has two new intermediate runs and three new easy runs.

Saint Sauveur in the Laurentians of Quebec has a new ski detachable quad lift, plus 10 more acres of glades and 50 snowguns.

Tremblant, also in the Laurentians, has two new magic carpets lifts for kids and beginners and a new slopeside chalet called Le Sommet des Neiges.

Olympia in Quebec's Laurentians has a larger beginner run and more high pressure snowguns, plus there's been a re-vamp of the Aiguille de Piedmont quad lift.

Ski Mont Gabriel has a new run called the Zig Zag, plus some new glades, more manmade snow and new tubing runs.

Loisirs Mont-Castor in Gaspésie has two new ski runs.

ATLANTIC CANADA

Ski Wentworth completed construction of Atlantic Canada's largest half-pipe: 350 feet long with 12-foot walls. The Nova Scotia ski area has also added a new terrain park, expanded its cafeteria, and increased its rental equipment line-up.

Crabbe Mountain in New Brunswick has a new terrain park and trail, plus an expanded rental fleet, an increased snow making capacity and expanded kitchen facilities.

The third period saw the Reds score at the 2:00 mark on the powerplay to edge the score to 5-3. Kevin Werner accepted a great pass from Ryan Walsh at the side of the net to beat STU's Max Gauvin. Also getting an assist was Craig Soke.

After that, it was all STU as they scored another two goals before the period was over and forced the Reds to go to backup goalie Danny Bowie.

In the end, UNB had 44 shots on goal to STU's 24. The Dairy Queen/Pepsi player of the game went to Saint Thomas's Jason Sands who had two goals and one assist.

UNB plays again Saturday afternoon at 2:00pm when they host the UPEI Panthers at the Aiken Center.
