

Valley Graphics/ UNB Athletes of the week

The University of New Brunswick is proud to announce their Valley Graphics Athletes of the Week for the week ending February 11, 2001.

Victoria Lally of the Varsity Reds women's swimming team is this week's female athlete of the week. The first year BSc student placed first in the 50m Back, first in the 4x4 Freestyle relay and first in the Medley relay this past weekend at the AUS finals in Halifax.

She was named AUS Rookie of the Meet based on her ranking on the World Performance Charts with times of 31.14 in the 50m Back and 1:06.2 the 100m Back (as lead-off on the Medley Relay team). Consistency was her game plan for the championships as she finished in the top three in all her events, helping the Varsity Reds to the AUS women's title. Coach Andrew Cole was delighted with his rookie swimmer and is anticipating a strong showing in her CIAU debut later this month. "Victoria is an incredibly talented swimmer," said coach Cole.

At the same meet, fifth year BBA swimmer Andrew Hulse had an equally impressive weekend. He placed first in the 50m Back (27.63, lifetime best), first in the 100m Back (58.70) and first in the 200m Back (2:09.11). This is the second time this month that Andrew was named UNB Athlete of the Week.

The Varsity Reds swim team captain led by example as he turned in a terrific performance at the AUS Championships. Along with three backstroke victories, Andrew swam on two relay teams and was a 400m Free finalist. "Andrew was the class of the field in backstroke events, winning all of them," said coach Andrew Cole. Hulse will be representing UNB at the CIAUs later this month.

kept the Reds in the game and sent them into the second period down by only two goals.

Both teams came out strong and had their chances, narrowly missing the net. UNB broke the ice at the 7:24 mark as Adam Redmond beat an out of position Biouin; getting assists were Eric Demers and Calvin Watson.

The Reds continued to pressure the opposition and came close but it was Moncton who came through with a goal by Maxime Savard to regain their two goal lead. Both teams started to get rough and each took a number of penalties.

The Reds scored to close out the period trailing by only one, 4-3, on a goal by Graham Schlender. The power play goal was a screened slap-shot from the point that beat Biouin along the ice.

The best check in the period came when Reds goalie, Lloyd Lafrance, left the net to play the puck in the corner and made a great body check. The hit awarded him a five minute penalty for high-sticking and a game misconduct. This forced the Reds to bring in backup-backup goalie, Kirk Gormley, for the remainder of the game.

Being down by one heading into the final period, the Reds knew that they had to come out strong – and they did. Only 45 seconds into the third, Eric Demers scored on the power play to tie the game 4-4; getting the assist was Joe Gerbe. Moncton was quick to respond though at 4:55 to regain their one goal. A low shot through the legs of Gormley by Marc Lamontagne made it seem like Moncton was in the lead for good – but not so. The Reds came back two minutes later with a goal by Ryan Walsh on the power play in a scramble in front of the net.

With their adrenaline rushing, they continued to pressure right off the next face off and scored again to take a 6-5 lead only seven seconds after the previous goal. Todd Alexander scored with help from Darly Rivers and Calvin Watson. Moncton wasn't to be outdone though, as they scored to tie the game up 28 seconds later at 7:29.

UNB finally put the game away at 14:56 with a goal by Darren Shakotko to make the score 7-6. Setting him up were Calvin Watson and Joe Gerbe. Graham Schlender had a silent role in the goal as he set up a screen in front of the net.

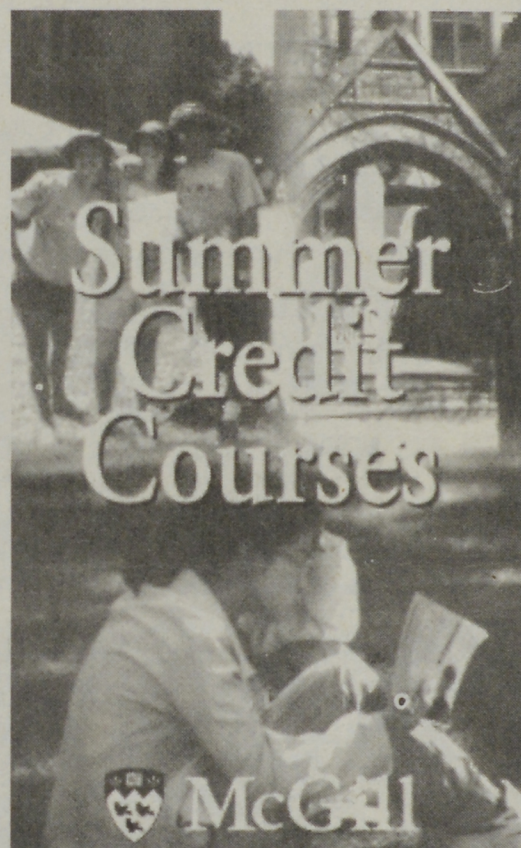

Moncton continued to pressure but Gormley played brilliantly to keep the Reds in the game throughout the final minutes.

The final shots were 45-36 in favor of UNB. The Mosaic Technologies Player of the Game went to Eric Demers who played hard throughout the game and helped set up two goals.

You can watch the Reds in action on the 25th and 26th at the AUC but until then, you can listen to their first playoff game on CHSR-FM 97.9 or on the Internet at <http://www.unb.ca/chsr>. If you're looking for up to date statistics, visit <http://www.vredshockey.com>.
