Bison football player suspended

Bazilewich thrown off team after drug test

OTTAWA (CIS) - Canadian Interuniversity Sport (CIS) announced today that football player Charles Bazilewich of the University of Manitoba has been suspended as a result of a doping infraction.

Mr. Bazilewich participated in an unannounced doping control on September 6, 2002 which was conducted by the Canadian Centre for Ethics in Sport (CCES).

CIS has been advised by the CCES that Mr. Bazilewich's sample was found to be positive for Boldenone and Stanozolol metabolites, and Nandrolone or precursors (norandrosterone estimated to be greater than 10ng/mL). This constitutes a doping infraction in accordance with the International Olympic Committee Policy. The sanctions associated with this infraction are four years of sport ineligibility effective September 6, 2002.

In accordance with the Canadian Doping Control Regulations, Mr. Bazilewich has until October 9, 2002 to request that the "B" sample be examined and analyzed, and / or to protest the CCES's findings. If his protest is dismissed he may initiate an appeal within 10 days thereafter.

Protests and appeals are limited to evidence or information concerning Doping Control procedures which may compromise the identity, security or the integrity of the test sample sufficiently so as to compromise the validity and reliability of the test result.

In accordance with CIS regulations, the University of Manitoba football team will not be sanctioned. Mr. Bazilewich was currently completing his first year of CIS eligibility with the University of Manitoba.

Marg McGregor, Chief Executive Officer of CIS commented: "We were disappointed when we were informed of this positive test result. Canadian Interuniversity Sport is opposed to the use of banned substances and will continue to work with the CCES on a testing and education program."

The University of Manitoba Bison Athletic Program does not condone the use of any banned substances by any of its athletes and makes every effort to ensure student-athletes are very aware of the consequences of any infraction through mandatory, annual drug seminars.

Bison Head Football Coach Brian Dobie is disappointed in Mr. Bazilewich's decision to use banned substances, noting that a grievous error of this magnitude will affect his football career and his life for some years to come. A new student-athlete to the University, Mr. Bazilewich had only been with the Bison football program for 3 weeks when he was tested.

Mr. Bazilewich takes full responsibility for his actions, has apologized to his coaches and teammates and has stated a willingness to be a leader in drug awareness and education programs in the local community.

Manitoba Athletic Director Coleen Dufresne points out that "The University of Manitoba is prepared to support Mr. Bazilewich through the provision of counseling and will work with him educating the youth of our community."

Women's University Softball league in the works

by Bruns Staff

Women at UNB and STU may have the opportunity to play softball for their respective schools next season.

Softball New Brunswick has commissioned a small group of people to assess the viability of establishing a Women's University Softball League.

It is too late to have a league up and running for this season, but it is hoped to establish the foundation for a league for next September.

A search is currently on for a major sponsor for the league.

The league will feature teams from Mount Allison, St. Thomas, Université de Moncton, and the University of New Brunswick - Fredericton and Saint John campuses.

Depending on the interest and the economics of the day, the schedule in 2003 would either be weekend home and home double headers or weekend single round robin tournaments in each center.

With Women's Softball being an Olympic sport, it is important to the development of the players and the sport itself that every opportunity to play at the elite level is explored and implemented.

If enough interest is shown and a sponsor can be found, coordinators will then begin a search for coaches for the 2002-03 season. Pitching and skills clinics will be scheduled as well.

Please watch for future details on the pitching and skill clinics to be held in Fredericton. For more information, please contact Bob Stanton at 454-9719, John Slauenwhite 454-5474 or email Robert.Stanton@gnb.ca.
