Quirk takes the gold

Swimming, from Page 8

Veteran swimmer Carla Geurts-Cole won the gold in the 400 SC Metre IM, beating the National time of 4:59.47 by almost two seconds. Teammates Danielle Smith and Heidi Morrison also placed high in this race. Smith secured a bronze medal with a time of 5:11.34, just beating the CIS record of 5:11.49. Morrison placed sixth with a 5:28.89 time.

Smith, a rookie swimmer and this week's athlete of the week also placed well on Sunday, taking the silver behind teammate Quirk in the 800 Free and qualifying for the CIS in all three of the events she was in and also for the Olympic trials in the 800 Free.

Geurts-Cole won gold in the 50 SC Metre Freestyle with a time of 27.34 and silver in the 200 Back with a time of 2:20.18. Geurts-Cole also took top honours in the 200 IM. Georgina Cox just missed a medal in the 50 Freestyle, placing fourth with a time of 28.00.

Cox had the second best time in the 50 SC Metre Backstroke with a final time of 31.49. Cox also placed second in the 100 SC Metre Backstroke with a CIS record beating time of 1:06.82.

Stephanie Cross and Kari Densmore took the third and fourth top spots in the 100 SC Metre Breaststroke finals with respective times of 1:17.61 and 1:18.05. Elaine Munroe and Chrissy Bajcar, both from Dalhousie, took the gold and silver medals in the race. Cross also took silver in the 200 SC Metre Breastroke, beating the CIS record with a time of 2:43.44 and Densmore took bronze in the 50 Breast on Sunday.

In the 400 SC Metre Freestyle relay, the UNB women's team, comprised of Jane Gregg, Carla Geurts-Cole, Danielle Smith, and Sienna Quirk placed second behind Dalhousie. The same team took gold in the 800 SC Metre Freestyle relay with a time of 8:27.71.

The men also had some impressive swims. Adam Moore finished the AUS weekend for the men's side with a lot of medal around his neck. Moore took home the gold in the 400 SC Metre Freestyle with a time of 4:10.83. He also had a bronze medal finish in the 100 SC Metre Butterfly with a time of 58.47, falling behind multiple gold medal winner, Colbert from MUN, who finished first with a 57.20 time, and Andy White from Dalhousie. Moore was consistent in his finishes, posting a 58.88 time in the trials. Both White and Colbert qualified for the finals with times over 59 seconds. Moore also took bronze in the 50 SC Metre Butterfly with a time of 26.86 and in the 200 SC Metre Butterfly with a time of 2:11.58.

Daniel Monid had a gold medal finish in the 50 SC Metre Freestyle with a time of 23.76, beating the CIS record by a quarter of a second. Monid won the 100 Free with a time of 51.20, which ranks him second in the country. Justin Tisdall, from UBC, currently holds the #1 ranked position for the 100 Free with a time of 51.03. Monid also had a silver finish in the 200 SC Metre Freestyle with a time of 1:55.63.

UNB's Colin Baird could not better his record setting time of 26.35 in the 50 SC Metre Backstroke at the 2003 AUS finals, but he was able to secure a bronze medal for the men's side with a 27.67 finish, placing behind gold medal winner George Colbert from Memorial, and Matthew Terauds from Dalhousie. Baird also won bronze in the 100 SC Metre Backstroke with a time of 58.46.

Chris Grimes took home gold in the 100 SC Metre Breaststroke with a 1:07.15 finish, gold in the 50 Breast with a time of 30.24, and a fourth place spot in the 200 SC Metre Breaststroke with a time of 2:27.59. Quinton Sabourin won bronze in the 400 SC Metre Freestyle with a time of 4:13.52.

Athlete of the week, Braedon Sharp had a fourth place finish in the 400 SC Metre IM and the 100 SC Metre Backstroke with final times of 4:44.80 and 59.27 respectively. Sharp also took gold honours in the 200 Back, sharing the podium with Quinton Sabourin, who secured the bronze medal. Sharp also took the silver medal in the 1500 Free.

In the men's 400 SC Metre Freestyle relay, the UNB men took second place, behind Dalhousie with a time of 3:31.49. The team was comprised of Baird, Grimes, Moore, and Monid. The men's relay team also took silver in the 800 SC Metre Freestyle with a 8:02.27 finish. The Dalhousie team took the gold again in this race.

Currently, UNB has 12 swimmers who have qualified to go to the CIS National tournament at U of T in March. Those who haven't qualified will get another chance when the team travels to Halifax to compete in a non-league meet in two weeks.

team. UNB played better in the second set, having some momentum in the early going. In the end, however, the Tigers rallied to take a 2-0 game lead.

Geoff Daniels took over for Dalhousie in the third set, finishing with six kills in the game. The offence for the Tigers was lead by Kanitha Boranprasit, who had 14 kills and six defensive digs. Boranprasit was given Irving Oil player of the game honours.

UNB was led by Sean Hill, Jeffrey Sweet, and Calvin Rice each with five kills in the losing cause. With the loss, the Reds remain in the basement of the AUS standings with one win, 17 losses, 10 points behind Memorial.

They play their final two games at home next weekend, Friday night and Saturday afternoon, both against Memorial University of Newfoundland.

After next weekend, the playoffs begin with the women battling it out February 20th - 22nd, at the AUS championships hosted by the University of Prince Edward Island. The men's tournament will be played at the first placed team's home gym, which this year will be at Dalhousie, as they have already clinched top spot in the conference.

The CIS Championships for men will be held at Laval, March 5th -7th, and for the women March 4th-6th at the University of Saskatchewan.

Reds defeat Acadia

"We've been trying to turn it around all year. This is the toughest year I've had in 20 years," said Nutbrown. "We thought we were turning it around before we went on the road trip this weekend. Obviously, we're dreaming in technicolour or something, we haven't certainly turned anything around... Some of it has to do with the technical part, but some of it has to do with the attitude. We've got to have a little bit more aggressive attitude than what we've had... We've got a short period of time and a small window to do it."

UNB, who are now ranked 10th in the nation, hosts division rivals UCCB Capers at the Lady Beaverbrook Gym on Saturday at 8 pm, and Sunday at 3:00 pm.

Gillespie said the added attention of being in the rankings is a slight bonus, but there is little benefit in being ranked if the team doesn't show up and play to their potential. "[Being in the top 10 is] nice for profile and recognition," said Gillespie. "It's mentioned [in practice], but we realize it doesn't make any difference. When you walk out onto that court, it's really your performance that counts and not your ranking, so that's what we focus on."

UNB's Heather Gallagher, Melissa Goodhue, and Kate Betts-Wilmot took third in their respective classes and Jenn Chaisson took silver in the 80 kg weight class.

Wrestling competition is back in full action on Saturday, February 21st when the Reds host the AUS championships starting at 9:00 am.

Varsity Reds destroy Panthers 6-1

Stacy Smallman, and Mike Dombkiewicz scored the goals for the Reds, which eventually chased Eason out of nets, to be replaced by Jason Flick at 19:02 after the sixth goal.

After two periods it was UNB leading 6-0 and outshooting the Panthers 28-11.

The third period saw a different UNB team take to the ice, a team that almost appeared to be protecting the lead. UPEI edged the Reds in shots 11-8 and scored a goal at 5:09. The goal, which spoiled the shutout for Reds' goalie Reg Bourcier deflected off Reds' defensemen Craig Mahon's skate and was the only one of the period for either team.

Ryan Lindsay ended the game with a goal and two assists and was selected player of the game. His teammate, Mike Dombkiewicz, who is Chiarello's best friend on the team, remarked on the emotional night.

"We love the guy to death, and we just wanted to put on the best show we could for him."

Coach Gardiner MacDougall also spoke of Chiarello's return.

"He's a real confident young man...his attitude and his character are his best attributes right now and it's helping him get cured from his illness," said MacDougall

With the win, UNB leads the Atlantic University Sport (AUS) standings with 37 points and clinched a playoff spot and first round bye. They are tied with the Saint FX X-Men but are positioned ahead of them as they have two fewer losses.

In other action around the league, Saint Thomas and Moncton skated to a 4-4 draw, StFX easily beat Saint Mary's 7-3, and Acadia edged Dalhousie 3-2 in overtime.

UNB plays their final home game of the regular season this Friday night at the Aitken Centre when they host the Moncton Blue Eagles in a 7:00pm contest. They travel to UPEI on Saturday to finish up the season.
