ROUSING THE RABBLES

by
Nick Ouellette

Every month, Tilley 303 turns into a Senate chamber. It is certainly not as august as any meeting place of the Canadian Senate and the members of the group that meets there are not especially prominent public figures, but its discussions and the decisions it makes likely have a more direct impact on your life today than its equivalent in Parliament.

UNB Senators have the final say on academic policy at our university, and their authority is wide ranging. The importance of this fact cannot be overstated given that this is a learning institution and we are students. Services for students, technology used at UNB, dealing with cheating and plagiarism, scholarships, teaching awards, residences, and course descriptions are just a few of the items that come before the Senate over the course of a year. Even more matters arrive regularly on the desks of its committees.

And students matter on Senate. In fact, full time undergraduate students elect six representatives on the Fredericton Senate, and graduate students and part time students vote on one Senator each.

Student Senators do not only sit on the Senate. We also make sure that students have a say in every committee established by the Senate, which is where we are able to help students most effectively. Importantly, by working with each committee, we learn about and meet the people who are in charge of administering the university.

So when you have a problem with a class, or when a professor treats you or your class unfairly, or when the library just isn't serving you properly, turn to your Senators. Whether at the Senate level, at one of its committees, or in discussions with a UNB vice president, dean, or department director, we will work with you to resolve your issue.

The full time undergraduate Senators currently studying at UNB Fredericton are:

- Bethany Vail, UNBSU Vice President Academic - academic@unb.ca
- Brad Mullins, UNBSU President - suprez@unb.ca
- Nick Ouellette - nick.o@unb.ca
- Lyle Skinner - lyle.skinner@unb.ca
- Adam Garland - adam.garland@unb.ca
- Stephanie Lord - stephanie.lord@unb.ca

We are here to serve you. All it takes is asking, so send us an email. We would be happy to hear from you.

Nick Ouellette, a UNB law student, has served on the UNB Student Union Council and the UNB Board of Governors, and now serves on the UNB Fredericton Senate and as an Assistant Don in UNB's Residence Community.
