ASA BLAKSLEE,

Informing the Public

nue, Debts, Expenditures, Laws, Civil, Military, or Ecclesiastical. On these various and important subjects the Work already contains such Information as the Editor is led to hope has been of some service to the Country. Nor are Transactions, of a nature not so immediately Political, excluded from notice: as in the Instances of the Letters to Sir Joseph Banks and Mr. Otto. In short, every thing which materially affects, directly or indirectly, the Interest or Honor of the British Nation, is in this Work, a subject of remark, if not of ample investigation. IV. Brief Notices of all New Books and Pamphlets that relate to History, Politics, Political Economy, or that bear upon subjects connected therewith. In some instances the Principles and Statements of Works so noticed are examined and controverted; but the general Intention of this Department is to point out to the Reader, and to put on Record, the existence of the several Works that relate more particularly to the Events of the present time. Twenty-four Books and Pamphlets of this Description have already been noticed.—The preceding important heads are followed by a Selection of such Foreign Intelligence and Domestic Occurrences as are of some public Importance; to which are added a weekly Account of Promotions, Births, Marriages, Deaths, Prices of Stocks, of Corn, Meat, Bread, &c. also of the Course of Exchange and of the Changes of the Weather. Each Number closes with a Summary View of the most important Political Occurrences, whether Foreign or Domestic.

Such are the weekly contents of the work. Its form is a Royal Octavo, with a double column, and folio'd pages, for the convenience of reference. This form renders the work manageable. The numbers are so many sheets of a volume, which will be completed at the end of the half year, and will contain 416 pages, besides the General Title, Table of Contents, Supplement and Index, of which it is necessary to say a few words. That part of the work, which appears weekly, will form a Chronicle; not only of public events and transactions, but of the opinions entertained relative thereto. This, however, is not quite enough to render the work so complete as the Editor could wish it. There are many articles, such as Parliamentary Reports and oth'r papers, for instance, which would overload the weekly Numbers, but which it is, nevertheless, necessary to preserve. Such papers, therefore, together with all the other various subjects, usually included in the Annual Registers, and with some that those Registers have never yet touched upon, will form the Supplement to the half yearly volume, in which will be included an Account of all new Publications Foreign and Domestic, a Complete History of the Theatre, &c. &c. and which will close with an Historical Summary and a complete and copious Index. A General Title and Table of Contents will be printed at the same time; and due notice will be given of the time and manner of obtaining the whole.

Subscriptions and Orders for this Register will be received by the Printer of this Gazette.—The price of the Weekly Number is One Shilling each.—They can be for-can have no interest in stopping the Revenue. If we do, and stick by one another, I am sure we shall succeed. I think the Mechanics ought to have a Meeting without loss of time, Mr. Mott.

A Mechanic of Saint John.

MR. MOTT,

AFTER the very liberal and handsome manner in which the gentlemen, who were chosen to settle the dispute between Mr. Munday and myself, came forward in my absence to vindicate my character from the gross and malignant aspersions contained in the publications of Mr. Munday in your Paper of the 11th inst. I should have thought it unnecessary to trouble the Public any further upon a subject which ought never to have come before them, if the circulation of your Paper had been confined to this Province, in which I trust I am too well known, to make it necessary for me to add any thing more to take off any impressions to my disadvantage, that could be made by a publication that carries upon the face of it such marks of inconsistency, malice and falsehood, as must prevent any credit being given to it, by an unprejudiced mind. The friendly conversation I had with Mr. Munday in Mr. Robinson's Store, after the Award of the arbitrators, in which he expressed himself perfectly satisfied with the result, and only regretted that his Agent had given his assent in the manner he did, to my putting the Bond into the hands of an Attorney, for recovery, left me little reason to suppose, that the instant I should quit the City, he either would of his own accord, or could have been overpowered by any persuasions to make the Statement, and take the Oath he did, immediately embark for the States, and leave the Papers for publication after his departure. Had he meant to sustain the character I have always till now supposed he merited, he would have sacrificed his life before he would have quitted this place, till I could have had an opportunity of seeing him, after he had resorted to such measures to stab my reputation. Mr. Munday charges me with cruelty, and taking unwarrantable advantages of him. I negotiated with his Agent in the manner I have already stated to the Public, until I had the free permission of that Agent to pursue my remedy at Law, for the recovery of my debt. I resisted any abatement upon the Bond, as I well knew Mr. Munday was not intitled to any, and the result has proved that I was correct, for the arbitrators had no evidence laid before them of any such abatement having been ever acceded to by me, for Mr. Munday himself states, in the same manner that I have done, that Mr. Flewelling's Award merely respected an additional quantity of Land.

A loose receipt was produced before the arbitrators, signed by me, corresponding with a receipt of the same date, for interest, endorsed on the Bond, with an addition, stating that the principal of the Bond was £86 : 5 : 0—Mr. Munday, upon his own principles, claimed only ten per cent. and declared before the arbitrators that he had not for an further reduction of the principal, the
