CUTTING THE BIBLE IN PIECES!

In this enlightened age, this age of Enquiry and of Criticism, not even the HOLY SCRIP-TURES are allowed to remain unattacked!— A few years ago, great fault was found with the first chapter of St Matthew; and the learned Dr. Geddes employed, as was said, a large portion of his time in endeavouring to modernize the very peculiar and very superior style in which the books of the Old Testament are written; and a very severe attack has lately been made on the Epistles of that able and erudite Apostle, PAUL, of Cilicia. The Examiner, a London paper, "got up," we believe, by a Dr. Hazlett, contains some extracts from a work, which has just made its appearance in the world, written by GAMA-LIEL SMITH Esq; and bearing the truly deceptive title of—

"NOT PAUL, BUT JESUS!"

It is said to commence with an elegant eulogium on Dr. Middleton, for setting aside an immense heap of rubbish, which had received a sort of tacit currency, under the authority of The Fathers; and, according to the opinion of the author, a similar assailment of the doctrines of "Saul of Tarsus," would have been equally beneficial to the character of Religion,—as being the fruitful source of eternal dissent and animosity. Mr. S. considers Paul as "a Corrupter of the simplicity of the Gospel; a bold, ambitious, and assuming Innovator—from whose writings, conduct and pretensions, originated all the mysticism and heresies, which so rapidly followed him, and have continued to the present day." From these writings he argues—1st, That Paul had no commission, as he professed to have: 2d, That his enterprise was a scheme of personal ambition, and nothing more: 3d, That his system of Doctrines is fraught with mischief in a variety of shapes; and in so far as it departs from, or adds to, those of Jesus, with good in none.
That he had no warrant in any thing that, so far it appears from the Four Gospels, was ever said or done by Jesus himself! The writer then attempts to point out several contradictions in the three accounts given of Saul's conversion; and considers the alleged Miracles of Paul, as "vague, dreamy and doubtful, in the extreme."

The Editor of The Examiner so far assents to the opinions of his friend, Mr. Gamaliel, as to "lament that the four Gospels form not the 'only' Scripture of the Christian world."—"To conclude," he says, "the labours of Mr. Smith, as critical and investigative, will prove extremely valuable, both to those who conclude with him, and who do not."
..... "Individually, we can compare him with no one; but, if a collective simile will avail, his "march" seems to resemble that of certain emigrating animals, who are said to proceed on a right line, in spite of opposition; by which they may be occasionally frustrated, but never turned aside!"

From this slight sketch of the opinions of Gamaliel Smith, Esq; we gladly turn to those of the truly pious and learned Doctor William Smith, the celebrated translator of LONGINUS on the Sublime; well convinced, that every reader of genuine taste, cannot fail of giving a most decided preference, in every point of view, to the latter;—

"If LONGINUS ever saw any of the writings of St.
Paul, he could not but entertain a high opinion of him. Such a Judge must needs applaud so masterly an Orator: For, where is the writer that can vie with him in sublime and pathetic eloquence? Demosthenes could rouse up the Athenians against Philip, and Cicero strike shame and confusion into the hearts of Anthony and Cataline; and, did not the eloquence of St. Paul, though bound in degrading fetters, make the oppressive the abandoned Felix tremble; and almost persuade Agrippa, in spite of all his prejudices, to become a Christian? Homer, after his death, was looked upon as more than human, and temples were erected to his honor; and was not Paul admired as a God, even while he was on earth, when the inhabitants of Lystra would have sacrificed to him? Let his writings be examined and judged by the severest test of the severest Critic, and they cannot be found deficient; nay, they will appear more abundantly stocked with sublime and pathetic thoughts, with strong and beautiful figures, with nervous and elegant expressions, than any other composition in the world."

Such was the language and such were the sentiments of the scholar and the Christian; compared with which, the petty cavils and frivolous objections of Mr. Gamaliel, and all his advocates, sink to nothing; but, we like not these attempts;—this "picking at the wall," has too much the appearance of a disposition to destroy, ultimately, the whole sublime fabric on which our present and future happiness depends; we may view them at first, perhaps, as puerile and trifling; but we should recollect that an "insignificant animal can sever the strongest cable."—W. CHRON.

* This simile, the filthy Land Crab of the W. Indies, cannot be very flattering, we should think, to Mr. G. S.

BIBLE SOCIETY.

LONDON, SEPT. 30.

On the 5th of August, 1823, a Bible Society was established at Ferney, (once the residence of Voltaire), by the Baron de Stael, and other friends, zealous for the propagation of true Religion. It is certainly one of the most memorable events in the history of Bible Societies, that the antidote should thus issue from the very spot from which the poison was so long disseminated; and that the Advocates of Christianity should confidently trust to the circulation of the sacred volume itself, as a sufficient shield against all the misrepresentations and sophistry with which it was assailed from that very place.

It is intended to erect a Protestant Church at Ferney, which will thus be at the same time a monument of the triumph of Christian principles, and of the progress of religious liberty.

The French Government have granted 100 Napoleons for that purpose; the Protestant Inhabitants of the district have contributed to the utmost extent of their very scanty means; but about £250 are still wanting to complete the Church, and their hopes of raising that sum, depend altogether on the liberality and charity of this generous and Protestant country.

ROYAL FAMILY OF SPAIN.

Much has recently been said of the Spanish Royal Family, which have been held in "durance vile" in Madrid, Seville, and Cadiz, by the Revolutionists, but who are now at liberty.
The following is a list of them, with their ages:—

1. FERDINAND 7th, aged 39. Of the Bourbon dynasty. 2. HIS QUEEN, aged 20, is niece of the King of Saxony.
  3. CHARLES ISIDORE, Infant of Spain, brother of the King, aged 36. 4. His Consort, aged 23, is a daughter of the King of Portugal. They have no issue.
  5. FRANCIS DE PAUL, Infant of Spain, another brother of the King, aged 27. 6. His Consort, a daughter of the King of Naples, aged 23.—They have a young son and daughter. The whole eight have lately been imprisoned.
- A sister of FERDINAND is the present Queen of Portugal, whose spirit in preferring banishment and imprisonment, to perishing herself to support a Constitution which she was determined to overthrow if possible, is worthy the highest praise. Another sister of FERDINAND is the Duchess of Lucca.

DUKE D'ANGOULEME.

This Commander, whom some of the London Opposition paragraphists have attempted to ridicule by styling him Lord Bilt, has acquired much celebrity for cool courage and activity displayed in the operations before Cadiz. A letter writer says, "Our old Grenadiers, who were present in BUONA-PARTE's wars, say they never found in any General the intrepidity they have observed in the Duke. He was always among them in the hottest fire, encouraging them by his presence. A voltiguer was killed by his side in one of the affairs of the Trocadero." When BUONAPARTE returned from Elba, and when the Duke commanded in the south of France, he fought several actions with the Imperial division commanded by Gen. GILLY; and the latter, in his report to the Emperor, gave credit to the personal courage and generalship of the Duke. The Duke afterwards capitulated with GILLY, in April, 1815.
After the second restoration GILLY was included in the list of traitors, and on the execution of NEY fled from France. He was afterwards tried par contumace, and sentenced to death, and one of the charges against him was his attack of the Duke. He returned to France in 1820 to stand his trial, and appealed to the Duke D'ANGOULEME, as his adversary in arms.
The Duke immediately applied to the King, who ordered the proceedings to be stayed, and granted him a full and free pardon; which the Duke carried in person to Madame GILLY, that she might be the messenger of the happy tidings to her husband! GILLY is now a Lieut.-General in the King's service.

Sir Everard Home has recently made some inquiries by way of comparison between the auricular organs of men and quadrupeds. The result of his researches seems to prove that shrill tones, or the upper notes of an instrument, have comparatively little effect in exciting the attention of animals, whilst the full lower tones stimulate them almost to fury. Sir Everard observes, "that the effect of the high notes of the piano forte upon the great lion in Exeter Change, only called his attention, which was considerable, though he remained silent and motionless. But no sooner were the flat, or lower notes sounded, than he sprang up, lashed his tail, and yelled violently, and endeavoured to break loose; and became altogether so furious, as to alarm the spectators present. This violent excitement ceased with the discontinuance of the music. The deep tones of the French horn also produced a similar effect with the lower tones of the piano forte, on the elephant, and other animals on which the experiment was made."

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE PLATOON EXERCISE.

A most material improvement in the Platoon Exercise has been recently made, and is now practised by the Coldstream Guards.

According to the old regulations for the performance of the Platoon Exercise, after the priming and loading is effected, the firelock is shouldered, and upon the word of command, "ready," being given, the soldier brings his firelock to the recover, and cocks, and remains in that position till he receives the word "present," when he levels his piece at the supposed object to be fired at.

Instead of adhering to this system, the improved method prescribes that the firelock, after being loaded, should not, preparatory to its being fired, be brought to the "shoulder," nor subsequently to the "recover," but should, by a brisk motion, be brought close to, and across the body, to the charging position, and when the soldier receives the command "ready," he is to cock his piece in the same position, and after receiving the word "present," he is to elevate his firelock and take aim, before, by the command "fire," he discharges his piece.

The advantages possessed by the new over the old system, must be obvious to every military man. By the improved method, justness of level, quickness of fire, and consequence of execution (no mean objects) are demonstratively secured.

The Motion of the platoon exercise, by the omission of the "shoulder" and "recover," are shortened; the exactness of aim by the abandonment of the constrained position of "presenting" from the "recover," and the adoption of the natural attitude of the experienced fowler, of raising his gun to cover his object, is incontrovertibly established, and the practical effect of both combined, against an opposing enemy, powerfully illustrated.

PUBLIC ECONOMY.

By Returns laid before Parliament in the course of the last Session, it appears, that the situation of Clerk of the Pells in Ireland, held by the son of Lord Sidmouth, cost the Public £3000. a year. The Clerk, it also appears, had nothing to do, still he had four persons to assist him, whose salaries amounted together to £780. a year more. The young Lord is recently deceased, and it is to be hoped that the expense of this useless appointment will, in future, be saved to the Public.

The Patriots in Catalonia still cause the French considerable trouble, but will probably obey the orders of Ferdinand.

In some of the recent contests in Catalonia, it is stated that "the carnage was horrible"—particularly where the foreign legion was concerned. At the captulation of a party, provision was made for the safety of the French revolutionists; but some, ignorant of this, committed suicide.

The King of Holland has directed all school masters and school mistresses in his dominions not to receive any scholars, unless they bring a certificate of having been Vaccinated, or had the Small Pox.

PREVENTIVE SERVICE.—The total value of seizures made by his Majesty's Cruisers, employed on the Coast of Ireland to prevent smuggling, from the 5th of January 1822 to the 5th of January 1823, amounted to £57, 553. 14s. 8d. The Captures made by the Land and Water Guard, during the same period, were valued at £7,366. 6s.

FROM THE HAMPSHIRE TELEGRAPH.

PORTSMOUTH, SATURDAY, SEPT. 27.

On Thursday his Majesty's sloop Jasper, Captain A. D. Y. Arbuthnot, returned from Cronstadt, whence she sailed on the 1st inst. and landed at Dover on Tuesday; Lord Douglas, (eldest son of the Earl of Home), attached to the Embassy of the Right Hon. Charles Bag-got, our Minister at St. Petersburg, and Mr.
Bettles, King's Messenger, both charged with dispatches for Government. The Messenger's dispatches, we understand, are a confirmation that peace has been concluded between the Turks and Persians. This event, we are assured, is of more importance than appears at first sight to us, who are unacquainted with the incipient motions and designs of Foreign Courts.
The Persian Ambassador Mirza Mahomed Sauleh, who went from this country to St. Peters-burgh in the Jasper, with the intention of returning to the capital of Persia, had set out, having succeeded in harmonizing the differences between the Courts of St. Petersburg and Tehriz.

It is satisfactory to know, that the mission of the Jasper to St. Petersburg, was attended with the desired effect, and that a perfectly amicable understanding exists between the English and Russian Governments. The reception of Capt. Arbuthnot, by the Emperor of Russia, and all the Authorities of his Government, was as distinguished and flattering as could possibly be wished. Capt. A. had the honour of dining with the Imperial family several times during his month's stay, as well as with the Empress Mother, and visited her 11 charitable endowments, at St. Petersburg; and the Monument erected to the memory of her late husband, the Emperor Paul, The Grand Duke and Duchess Nicolai, the Grand Duke Michael, the Duke de Wirtemberg, the Prince de Wirtemberg, with 16 Princes and Princesses of the Court, were among the most distinguished persons who honoured Capt. A.'s invitations to partake of a dejeuner a la fourchette, on board the Jasper. At the St. Petersburg Races, which Capt. A. attended, all the horses, except the Cossack race, were raced by English Jockies. Two live sabres have been landed from her: these animals were never seen alive in England before.

His Danish Majesty's Vice Consuls for the port of Portsmouth (Messrs. Wienholt, Bros, Hughes, and
